

INSURGENCY IS HIT HARD

Shrewd Move of Regular Republicans Smashes Coalition Hopelessly.

BOURBONS IN ENTIRE CONTROL

House Cotton Bill, with Steel Amendment Attached, is Passed—Treasury of the Democrats Secured.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A shrewd move by the regular republicans, as unexpected as it was effective, yesterday suddenly threw the democrats into complete control of the senate in their own right and forced them absolutely to abandon their coalition with the progressive republicans.

Democratic votes were cast in favor of the bill. The regulars deliberately absented themselves from the chamber, and thus left their progressive colleagues in a hopeless situation. The insurgents, taken by surprise, were thrown into a panic. Alternately they denounced what they termed the treachery of the democrats with whom they had been in alliance and inveighed against the regular republicans for the part they had played in the new combination.

In vain the insurgents invoked forgotten rules of the senate to compel the regulars to attend and to cast their votes. Senatorial courtesy was tossed to the winds. The insurgents charged that the democrats had broken faith, since in caucus last night the latter had determined to carry through an insurgent-democratic program on the cotton bill, which would have included the adoption of a La Follette substitute for the measure. They insisted that the democrats had entered into an agreement or understanding with the regulars to leave the progressive in control of the senate.

Neither the regular republicans nor the democrats would admit that such an understanding exists, but Senator Bristow of Kansas boldly declared he overheard a conversation between Senator Johnson of Alabama, a democrat, and Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, the regular republican leader, that left no doubt in his mind.

Democrats Protect New Allies. Despite the drastic rules invoked, many of the regular republicans still insisted on their right to decline to vote, and when serious consequences threatened, they resorted to motions to be excused, which in several cases were carried by safe majorities. The democrats sought to relieve their new found allies with a blanket motion of excuse from voting, but this plan failed.

Whatever the understanding, the results accomplished were decisive. The democrats found themselves in a position where for the sake of party consistency they had to disregard their previous arrangement with the insurgents. This arrangement was based on the belief that the democratic house will first be defeated and that the democrats and insurgents would combine to pass a La Follette compromise measure, just as was done with the wool schedule. When the voting began, however, there came a sudden realization that the democratic bill would pass without the aid of the insurgents, enough regular republicans having walked out of the chamber to give the democrats a clear majority.

Coalition Effectively Broken. The break in the senate coalition, which had made tariff legislation possible, was taken to mean the early approach of adjournment. The defeat of the bill was already had set about to placate the insurgents, but this was regarded as impossible after the events of the day. Without an effective working agreement between these two elements of the senate all further attempts at legislation would be useless. Senator Penrose predicted tonight that the session would terminate with the week-end.

None of the insurgent leaders would discuss the situation tonight. They felt that they had achieved a material advantage in the adoption of the iron and steel amendment. This amendment, originally drawn by Senator Cummins, was withdrawn by the Iowa senator today. It was taken up in its entirety by Senator Bacon, a democrat, and rushed into the cotton bill.

The regular republicans made no attempt to conceal their delight at having put the insurgents in a position where they were compelled to vote against cotton revision at this time.

Work Against Own Children. Senator Cummins rallied his insurgent colleagues to his aid, his own amendment for an iron and steel tariff revision, when that amendment was offered by Senator Bacon. Senator Bristow helped to defeat his own amendment for a revision of the sugar schedule, when it was offered in his absence by Senator Jones of Washington.

Progressive Republican Leader La Follette declared it was impossible for the insurgents to vote for the democratic bill, while the democrats had agreed that if their bill was defeated they would be willing to support the La Follette measure. As the progress of votes showed that the democrats had a clear majority owing to the absence of the regular republicans, the insurgents set out in an effort to get a vote on the La Follette compromise bill, which, it had been expected, would be adopted in place of the house bill. Senator La Follette finally offered his bill as a substitute for the house bill and the amendments that had been added to it. He appealed to the democrats to vote for his substitute, declaring that the insurgents were yielding a great deal, but could not support the original house bill.

The La Follette substitute received no votes but those of insurgents. The democrats voted against it, as did a handful of regular republicans, all other republicans either absenting themselves or refusing to vote. Then came the final vote on the house cotton bill. Instead of the strong republican vote, which had defeated the house wool bill and the house free list bill and had forced the adoption of compromise legislation in both cases, the vote showed that a strong majority was in favor of the measure. Only the democrats voted for it. Republicans were sitting in the chamber and not voting or stepping back into the cloak rooms.

of the chair to enforce it. The clerk will read the names of those who did not answer. There was a sudden exit of republicans from the chamber. The chair knew of no rule to compel them to return. Vice President Sherman said: Senator Curtis of Kansas, who announced that he was paired with an absent senator and could not vote, was forced to submit his case to the senate on a roll call before he was permitted to observe the pair. When on one roll call the clerk reached the name of Senator Guggenheim, there was no response. Senator Bristow declared the senator from Colorado had just left the chamber. The vice president held that the senator was "not visible to the chair."

It was not until the name of Senator Oliver of Pennsylvania was reached that an explanation of the attitude of a regular republican was given. "I refrained from voting," said Senator Oliver, "because I was lead to believe that if this bill was defeated the same course would be pursued as was followed on another important measure. I understood the plan was for a movement to reconsider the vote, and I don't propose to be a party to any further proceedings of that character in the senate."

Senator Oliver was excused from voting by a vote of 36 to 18. Senator Penrose followed. "I withheld my vote," said Mr. Penrose, "because I have no interest in the pending legislation except to hasten action on it so congress may adjourn at an early moment and relieve the country from the condition of uncertainty and uncertainty."

"I thought it was logical and consistent to leave the perfection of the details of this bill to those who had been in control of legislation here. As I have had no opportunity to cast an intelligent vote on what they measure, I thought it right for me to refrain from voting at all."

La Follette Out of Order. Senator La Follette, who had brought about the vote on the motion to excuse Mr. Oliver, demanded a yeas and nays vote on a similar motion to excuse Senator Penrose. In making the demand, Senator La Follette neglected to rise. Senator Oliver quickly invoked the rule which requires members to rise when addressing the presiding officer. Senator La Follette for failing to observe this formality was declared out of order.

Folliott's Motion Carried. The twenty-four republicans who voted against the measure on its final passage were: INSURGENTS: Crawford (S. D.), Bourke (Neb.), Bristow (Kan.), Brown (Neb.), Clapp (Minn.), REGULARS: Nelson (Minn.), Burton (Iowa), Dillingham (Vt.), Gale (S. D.), Hepburn (Iowa), Jones (Wash.), Leppert (Ia.), Penrose (Pa.), Page (Vt.), Perkins (Cal.), Root (N. Y.), Townsend (Mich.), Warren (Wyo.), Wetmore (R. I.).

The republicans excused from voting were Senators Curtis of Kansas, Nixon of Nevada and McLean of Connecticut, who announced they were paired with absent senators and Senators Oliver and Penrose of Pennsylvania. Republicans recorded as absent included Senators Gronna of North Dakota, Guggenheim of Colorado, Kenyon of Iowa, Lorimer of Illinois, McCumber of North Dakota, McPherson of Washington, Smoot and Sutherland of Utah, Stephenson of Wisconsin and Works of California. Many of these were out of the city, having been excused by the senate for illness or for business reasons.

The amendments as adopted were: By Mr. Bacon, to revise the iron and steel schedule, adopted 28 to 18; Clapp of Minnesota and Works of California, republican insurgents, and Jones of Washington, who has at times voted with the insurgents, all voting with the democrats. By Mr. Simmons of North Carolina, reducing the tariff on cotton machinery to 30 per cent, adopted 34 to 22; progressive republicans voting solidly with the democrats. By Mr. Overman of North Carolina, revising chemical schedule, adopted 22 to 22; progressive republicans all voting against it.

By Mr. Watson of West Virginia, for the reciprocal admission of bituminous coal across Canadian line, adopted without division. STATEHOOD SHOWN OF RECALL. Taft's Wishes in Connection with the Judiciary Complicated With. WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The senate and house conferees on the state question today reached a complete agreement to eliminate the judiciary recall feature of the Arizona constitution and to provide for making the same constitution a matter of amendment. This agreement is said to conform to President Taft's wishes and undoubtedly means statehood for the two territories this session.

MARKET HOUSE NOW ASSURED. City Council Takes Necessary Steps to Provide Funds for the Building. (From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 18.—(Special Telegram.)—Councilman Schramm, superintendent of accounts and finances, paved the way for the construction of a permanent market house in Des Moines next spring, when he secured the adoption of a resolution by the city council, requiring each councilman to sign what is known as "The Market House Pledge."

The resolution was adopted by an unanimous vote, each councilman pledging himself that when making up the appropriation ordinance next April, the council will reserve from the general fund sufficient money to build a market house. This is the outcome of the recent successful experiment of an open market place. Information was received here late today that nothing was included in at a mining camp near Ogden in Boone county, it being alleged that a colored miner had assaulted a white woman. The sheriff of Boone county called out a posse of fifty men and went out to preserve order.

The finding of a skeleton was reported to the police as having been discovered in the sand along the banks of the Des Moines river. Officials believe the skeleton is that of the Cottrell boy, who was drowned near Camp Douglas more than a year ago. Efforts for the recovery of the body following the drowning were fruitless. Attorney Robert Haines, who went to Chicago to represent the creditors of the Des Moines base ball club, returned today and reported to them that the sale of the club was entirely satisfactory and that Higgins had completely retired. He states that a syndicate of Chicago men own the club and that negotiations are pending for securing a new manager, well known in the base ball public. All persons locally interested are assured that the affairs of the club are placed in better condition than ever before. DELEGATE KOOP LOSES FIGHT Insurgent Types Voted Down on Floor of Convention. TWO FACTIONS COME TO BLOWS. Administration Forces, Headed by President Lynch, Win by 113 to 102—Lynch Stands with Radicals on Pension Funds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Giving an account of a physical encounter between factions of the International Typographical Union, in which he said about thirty members and delegates participated early yesterday morning, Delegate George Koop of Chicago testified a trial of strength between the administration forces and the insurgents on the floor of the convention late today. The administration forces, headed by President James M. Lynch, who is accused by his opponents of dominating the union, won, by a vote of 113 to 102.

The vote was on a law committee substitute for a proposal by Koop to amend the constitution, making the holding of secret sessions to influence legislation punishable by removal from office. The committee substitute leaves the matter to the local unions. The vote was taken after three hours of debate, termed by old members the bitterest ever held in a convention of the union.

Koop gave an account of the meeting said to have been held by the members of the administration faction, in which he mentioned Edward H. Besette, foreman of the Cleveland Leader composing room, as having first emerged from the meeting. "You can't sue me, you can't sue me," he said, "you can run like a rat," shouted Besette.

When order had been restored Koop continued in a long address, in which he denounced what he termed the domination of the union by a secret ring, and offered his proposed amendment. Koop was supported by J. M. Dahm of New York, Lon H. Rose of New York and Fred Parker of Spokane.

"I defy you and I dare you to press this matter," said President Lynch in reply. "You can't sue me, you can't sue me, and you can't outtalk me. I can prove that the men who bring these charges have been holding secret meetings themselves."

Next Convention at Cleveland. Cleveland was chosen on the second ballot as the place for the next convention, receiving 114 votes to Houston's 106. Of the first ballot Cleveland received 112, Houston, 81, Vancouver, 29, and Ottawa, 12. The proceedings of today indicated that the piece work vote on May 11 will be reconsidered. President Lynch in speaking on a proposal to require the petition of fifty, said he was in favor of the referendum, but not its use in cases like that of the recent vote.

A law committee's constitutional amendment to raise the salary of the president per year was passed by a unanimous vote. A constitutional amendment by which the vote of 100 unions is required for the initiation of proposed legislation instead of fifty, was carried 75 to 75. On one issue President Lynch took his stand with the radicals and carried the point. The proposal was to keep the old age pension funds on hand for fighting resources, instead of investing them in bonds as in the past. President Lynch favored the use of the money as an emergency fund and was sustained by an almost unanimous vote. C. A. WISE HIT BY AUTO. AUBURN, Neb., Aug. 18.—(Special Telegram.)—Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Boling, first cousins, announced today that they were married at Atchison, Kan., last May, and as a result Boling is in jail, charged with threatening to kill his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Haerz, and with perjury, in that he gave his bride's age as 18 when she is not yet 14.

S.S.S. CURES RHEUMATISM. The usual cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood which weakens and acidifies this vital fluid, and prevents the proper amount of nourishment being afforded the muscles, nerves and tendons. The pains and aches of Rheumatism may be temporarily relieved by the use of liniments, hot applications, and other external treatments, but the disease cannot be permanently benefited by such measures and is bound to become chronic and dangerous if such things are depended upon alone. S.S.S. cures Rheumatism in the only way it is possible to cure the disease. It goes down into the blood, and removes the uric acid from the circulation. When S.S.S. has cleansed and purified the blood the pains and aches cease, all inflammation disappears, and every symptom of Rheumatism passes away. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice free.
