COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Barber Shop Ordinance Attacked by Friends and Enemies.

ANNA WILSON OFFER ACCEPTED

Warranty Deed Turned Over to City-Mayor's Veto is Overridden.

That the barber shop ordinance is not ead but sleepeth was shown at the council meeting Tuesday night when one bill was introduced to amend it and make it more strict and another to abolish and repeal it altogether. Councilman A. C. Kugel offered an amendment which would make it unlawful for a barber even to open his shop on Sunday precluding any further evasion of the law by giving man a haircut and then charging him or some other service not mentioned specifically in the law. The repealing ordinance was introduced y Councilman L. B. Johnson, who voted against the original bill when it was passed. He was prompted by the master parbers, who are contending through their attorney, Stanley Rosewater, that they are willing to give helldays, but want them in rotation and different days of the week. n that way the men would get off, but tomers would not be inconvenienced The proposed new laws will be considered by the council in committee of the whole ext Monday afternoon. Miss Anna Wilson submitted a warranty ced for her property on lower Douglass ency hospital, and a resolution was passed by the council accepting the gift and praising the generosity of the donor. Miss Wilson made her offer even more attractive to the city in an accompanying comepairs amounting to $1,000, instead of $500 as was at first promised, and to wait until January 1 before her rental of $1% a month is to begin. No limitation is placed on the city as to selling the property and devoting the proceeds to erecting a hospital in another place, but she asks that all of the money be kept devoted to that

Omaha Bidders Lowest. Andrew Murphy & Son, an Omaha firm, were the lowest of seven bidders on a motor driven hose truck advertised for by the Board of Fire and Police Commission ers. Their price was $4,750, and if awarded the contract they will be the first Omaha firm to get a contract for a piece of this

The veto of Mayor Dahlman did not prevent the council from opening an alley from Farnam to Dodge street lying between Thirtieth and Park avenue. The mayor stated in vetoing the proposition that four property owners, Mary E. Heys, Herbert A. Belt, Anna Griffith and Maria Dudgeon, were assessed benefits, although the alley would cause them considerable damage and force them to build retaining walls on their property. The council voted to ap prove the appraisement, only Funkhouser and Davis standing with the mayor.
