AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Officials Greatly Concerned Over Bonds Turned Up in New York.

DECIDE THEY NEED NOT BE PAID

Records Show They Were Refunded and Should Have Been Taken Up—Statute of Limitations Has Run.

Not a little anxiety is felt in city hall circles over the $7,500 bonds which recently found redemption at the New York fiscal agency.

The mayor, city attorney and finance committee were in conference practically all day yesterday and in the afternoon the treasurer's office was invited to join the meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting it is understood the committee arrived at the conclusion the city is not liable for the payment of the bonds, which are now barred by the statute of limitations.

The book of the city shows that the bonds have been called in and refunded, but there still remains the question of how the original fundings bonds could remain out after they had been refunded in a new issue.

According to one of the ordinances pertaining to the matter, it appears that the originals were called in and refunded. Later, in 1904, they were recalled and refunded. In the ordinance authorizing the refunding it is expressly stated that the fundings shall be returned to the hands of the treasurer before the refunded issue is issued.

Here appears to be the question that none of the committee can explain. All agree that the bonds have been paid, but why they should still be in the market when the council had years ago called them in is a problem that the members of the committee declare to be a puzzle to them.

One of the city officials in commenting on the matter said several theories offer a solution. The bonds now presented for payment in New York may be the originals that were never recovered through some inadvertence on the part of the holders, or they may be a spurious issue, or finally a plain counterfeit.

Not a little importance attaches to the fact that the bonds were not presented for payment until approximately sixteen years after this issuance and years after their recall. Some of the observers of the situation make comment also on the stand taken by the present holders of the paper who have refused under all circumstances to allow the city to inspect the original bonds held by them.

It was suggested that they deposit the paper in the hands of a reputable banking house in Omaha where they might be safely inspected by all parties concerned. This the holders refused to do, and declared they would make formal demand for principal and interest unless the bonds were redeemed by the city without delay.

A later wire from Kountze brothers' New York fiscal agency reported that they had absolutely refused to redeem the bonds on demand.

"We stand on the defensive," said one member of the committee, and since the money has been paid, it remains to be seen what steps the holders of the paper will now take.

Lay Plans for Stock Show. If the Booster club can arrange it, South Omaha will have a stock show during Ak-Sar-Ben week. This was determined at a meeting held in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon.

Other matters discussed were: Dinner at the exchange and a new scheme of street lighting.

A committee composed of Mayor Trainor, P. C. Caldwell, John Kennedy, Ed Goldsboro and C. C. Mayer was appointed to confer with Everett Buckingham of the Union Stock yards in regard to the proposed stock show to be held Ak-Sar-Ben week.

The meeting adjourned until next Thursday night at 8 o'clock. A committee meeting will be held in the mayor's office Saturday morning.

Smoke from School Board. President W. A. Schneider of the school board is beset on the one hand by some irate examiners and on the other by disgruntled conferees, including the superintendent of schools.

Now, it is asserted, the examiners are after Mr. Schneider because he cast reflection on their recommendation. He refused to be held accountable. Then President Schneider said that if the board and the superintendent were just in the matter the blame must rest on the teachers' examiners.

Mr. Schneider said that all those who passed the examinations under them are credits to the schools of South Omaha. He says moreover, the superintendent is not always guided by merit in his appointments. He claims that Mr. Graham turned down some of the most competent who were presented.

J. W. Casey Dead. Joseph W. Casey, one of the best known men in South Omaha, died at his home this morning after an illness extending over a year. Mr. Casey was 51 years of age at the time of his death and had been a resident of this city for the last six years.

His illness dates back over a year to the time of his wife's death. Grief over the loss of his wife is said to have preyed upon his mind and contributed to his demise.

He is survived by six sons and one daughter, Joseph of Vivian, S. D.; Peter of Atlantic, Ia.; Benjamin of New York, Leo of Chicago, Louis of South Omaha, James of Chicago and Gertrude of South Omaha. All the children were at the bedside when the end came.

Magnit City Gossip. Michael Finnagan of Stewart, Neb., was a visitor to this city yesterday. James Charvatik of the city treasurer's office has returned from his vacation.
