Ducham, for the Visitors, Has Been a Tartar to Omaha to Former Games, But He is Helpless Before Tuesday's Onslaught.

Hall's pitching won Omaha the second game of the series with the Josies by a 5 to 2 score. The tall Rourke hurler allowed but five hits, one of which was in the scratch class, and all were well scattered. At no time during the contest were the Rourkes in danger, as they neatly tucked the game away in the second inning by bunching four hits, two of which were doubles, netting four runs. The best the Josies could do was to push two men across the rubber, one in the seventh on two errors and the other in the eighth on two hits. Hall had his assortment of mysterious wrinkles working to perfection and at no time did he get himself into a hole. His control was perfect and six of Holland's bunch were benched by strike-

The Rourkes played one of the best games seen for some time on the home grounds. The two bushers who have joined the team seem to have put a goodly amount of "pep" in the older players and things went along in a merry manner. Coyle made a phenomenal catch of Borton's short fly. The youngster ran almost to the infield and then caught the ball. but a few inches from the ground. In all he took five chances in clean shape. At short Farrell put up a real game, and it was a good sight to the faithful bugs to were taken and not an error was registered against him.

Durham was on the mound for the visit- C. Miller, of a vengeance, clouting out eleven hits before they subsided. Of this number Willlams got away with three. The first was Stratton a double to right and the next two he made Applegate, p 3 by beating out bunts. Manager Arbogast made two singles.
