

Girls' Coats and Wool Dresses Are Now In

Remodeling has been finished in the dress, coat and suit department, which is now so greatly enlarged and much better appointed that we are enabled to make the largest display we have ever before attempted—this handsome showing is now ready for your inspection—just at the time when heavier garments are beginning to make themselves wanted.

The Dress Section has a rather foreign aspect because of the great array of imported patterns, in all-wool, challies, mohairs, nanas, serges and French plaids—a fairland of colors, too, navy, dark red, brown and Copenhagen. A specially striking effect is obtained in the challies with diminutive polka dots. Sizes, 3 to 14 years. Prices, $3.50, $3.95, $5.00, $5.50, $7.50, $8.50 up to $13.50.

Girls' Coats this season are of Dobsen seal plush, plain or corduroy velvet, cheviot, kersey and broadcloth, with a strong tendency toward fancy mixtures.

Every individual whim and fancy is happily anticipated in these fall coats—plain tailored models for the prim little miss, or styles with wide, generously fashioned collars and variously trimmed in rich effects.

A new coat of plain mixture with plaid back, made in the polo styles, with belt, is catching the fancy of every girl who sees it. Coat sizes are from 6 to 16 years. Prices, $5.90, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50, $9.75, $10.75 up to $19.75.

What Nebraska Will Do

"I know not what other states may do, I know not what other states may think. But I can speak of my own state and say that it demands the right and the privilege to be allowed to do the things which its sovereignty, its independence and its liberty says it may do."

"I say that my state will not only insist, but it will carry forward, at any and all hazards, its inherent governmental functions, and in doing this it stands in line with an unbroken chain of decisions coming down from the highest judicial body in the land, from the earliest day to the present."

"It will respect courts and court decisions. But as a condition precedent to all this, it demands that court opinions play within well-marked lines and respect the sovereign power of these states in the regulation and control of their own purely internal commerce."

"As all times it asks these courts to do homage to the scheme of representative government, and let the courts remember that tyranny clothed in the garb of judicial ermine has features as hideous as though in the hands of a czar."

Hadley's Address.

Governor Hadley said: "The question as to the right to regulate within their limits the rates of transportation of railroad companies engaged in interstate commerce, which is now pending before the supreme court of the United States for decision is, in my opinion one of the most important, if not the most important question with which that court has had to deal in recent years. For the question of transportation is the most important question of commerce and, in fact, of civilization itself."

"The importance and far-reaching effect of the decision that will be rendered upon this point can hardly be overestimated. If the right of regulation of the rates of transportation in interstate commerce shall be denied the several states, then there will be enjoyed by the railroad companies the right to fix interstate rates of transportation free from any supervision or regulation."

"Add they will thus be enabled to levy a tribute upon the people of the several states, the amount of which will be limited only by their own necessities or desire for gain. Further than this, the denial of the right of the several states to regulate the rates of transportation in interstate traffic will, as an inevitable and logical result, result in the denial of the right of the states to regulate or supervise the conduct of any business interstate in its character if thereby the conduct of that business in interstate commerce is directly affected or burdened."

For State, Not Nation.
"Most of the important present day problems are clearly state questions, and not national questions. The most important phase of the question of transportation, I contend, is still a question for the states, rather than for the national government. The question of taxation, or, to speak more exactly, the reform of the many inequalities, imperfections and injustices incident to our general property tax is primarily a state problem. The proper compensation of those injured in

CHURCH AND LABOR COMBINE

Resolution for Closer Relationship Taken Up by Federation.

PLAN IS OPPOSED BY TWO MEN

One Delegate to Convention Says He Is Proud that Only Two of Fifty of His Union Are Supporters of Church.

With the election of officers and the selection of Fremont as the place for the 1912 convention, the Nebraska State Federation of Labor closed its annual session Thursday afternoon.

Action looking toward closer co-operation between the church and the labor movement was taken yesterday when resolutions were passed asking the Nebraska Church Federation to appoint a committee of three to act in similar committee from the labor federation, determining points of common interest between church and labor and outlining a course of common action.

The resolution was introduced by Rev. M. O. McLaughlin, fraternal delegate from the Omaha Municipal union. It met with considerable opposition, particularly on the part of Delegate J. R. Wangberg of the machinists and Delegate Courts of the stonecutters, who objected to "injecting religion" into the convention. Mr. Cook said he was proud of the fact that only two out of the fifty members of his organization were church members. The church is an instrument of the capitalistic class, he said.

Nearly All Stand Up.

Rev. G. E. Fisher, delegate from the Omaha Presbyterian union, said he supported the church and was mainly supported by laboring men and called on all delegates who contributed to the church to stand up. All but four or five rose.

The convention decided to reduce the monthly per capita tax on affiliated unions from 3 to 2 cents a month, subject to the ratification of the action by a referendum vote of the unions.

Resolutions were passed offering the limit of moral and financial support to the barbers of Omaha in their fight for the Sunday closing ordinance, also resolutions condemning the "addressing" of the McNamara brothers and calling on union men of the state to join in a general strike, if need be, to prevent their "murder."

Officers Are Elected.

Albert C. Weitzel, plumber, of Omaha and Frank M. Coffey, printer, of Lincoln, were recommended by the convention to Governor Aldrich for appointment as members of the new board to frame a workmen's compensation law. Governor Aldrich had asked that the federation nominate two men.

Vice Presidents—First, A. C. Weitzel, Omaha; second, S. A. D. Smith, Havelock; third, A. C. Peate, Lincoln; fourth, John Lynn, South Omaha; fifth, M. B. Tull, Fremont.

Delegate to American Federation of Labor—F. M. Coffey, Lincoln; alternate, George Stephens, Omaha.

F. M. Coffey of Lincoln, a former president of the federation, also a former delegate to the American Federation of Labor, was again selected to represent the federation at the American Federation of Labor convention.

A new legislative committee was selected by ballot, representation being given to each of five congressional districts. The committee: First district, Fred Eisler and S. A. D. Smith; Second, J. W. Light and J. R. Wangberg; Third, Chris Ambos; Fourth, W. A. Warman; Fifth, C. A. Huss. In the contest to determine who were the biggest number of union labels on his person, Herbert C. Peate of Lincoln was able to show twenty-nine labels and was awarded the pair of tailor-made trousers offered by the Glasgow tailors. W. M. Chrisman of Omaha showed fifteen labels and was awarded the pair of shoes offered by Stryker.

gavel to the chairman, has given similar gavel to many of the prominent Masonic officials and lodges of the country. Among the visiting Nebraska postmasters John Leif of Benedict prides himself in having his name on the list of postmasters. Postmaster Edwards of Wichita has gotten out a neat illustrated booklet containing an address on the surprising subject, "Some Things I Have Learned as Postmaster," which will be read at the Kansas state postmasters' meeting last June.

About a dozen postmasters and their wives fell sick Thursday morning and the fear shot through the entire assemblage that something poisonous had been served. The Rome house physician was summoned, but he ascribed the illness to change of climate and water.

The chief social event of the convention comes off this evening in the reception and dance to be given at the Field club. The Nebraska State association, acting as host and Omaha celebrities, including members of the city government will be present.

The women were present in greater numbers Thursday morning than on any previous occasion during the convention. They were especially invited by Dr. Grandfield's address. The afternoon entertainment was for them a card party at Hotel Millard given by Mrs. W. B. Clark and Mrs. H. A. Waggoner.

Ex-Senator Burke was being mingling with the postmasters. He was the guest of "Ben" Thomas for luncheon Wednesday along with Postmaster General Canfield and De Graw, presumably to impress them that "Ben" shakedown of his subordinate for campaign contributions last year was supposed to be in Burnett's interest.

Charles Doll soldiered with the Seventeenth United States infantry in the west between 1893 and 1895. Since then he settled down in his native town of Loupville, Neb. He has since become postmaster. He is here to attend the postmaster convention after an absence from Omaha of twenty-one years. He sees a great many changes in this city and marvels at the systematic method of entertainment of visitors adopted here. He says he will always remember the treatment he has received as a delegate to the 1911 convention of the first-class postmasters.

Might Have Saved Life of Overton

Town Marshal's Quest at Time Man Disappeared Failed or Death Might Not Have Come.

SPRINGFIELD, Neb., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—If Town Marshal S. O. Lovell of Springfield had been successful in a search for William E. Overton on the afternoon of August 11 Overton would have been arrested and there would have been no Overton murder mystery.

Today for the first time Marshal Lovell made it known that he was looking for Overton to arrest him for arson on the afternoon of the fatal day.

"In the light of what happened later, I especially wish I had found him," said Marshal Lovell. "It was in the afternoon, about 3 or 3 o'clock, I think, that I got a telephone call from Ike Bates. He told me to find Overton and arrest him. He said he was going to file charges of arson or had filed them at Papillion, and he wanted me to get Overton and detain him until the sheriff could come with a warrant. I got George Bates—no relation to Ike Bates—to help me look for him, and we both looked, but neither one of us found Overton. I would have held him if we had found him, although I couldn't have actually arrested him and put him in jail. I don't suppose."

Marshal Lovell said in his opinion Sheriff Bralley and County Attorney English should pursue other clues and arrest and "sweat" other men if they wish to solve the mystery. One of the men, he said, is John Tummary, who lived with Overton a few days before his death and who now cannot be found. He refused to give the name of the other man.

Gray Hair Makes

You Look Old

A Simple Remedy Brings Back

the Natural Color—Dandruff

Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old."

It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of hair. It is a pleasant dressing for the hair and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

Don't neglect your hair. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and you will be surprised at the quick results. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

for your boy can't be delayed any longer. Vacation is over, and you must settle this question at once. In deciding the matter, remember your own experience and needs during school-boy days. You didn't always fit in the regular classes, but the teacher was too busy to give you special instruction, so you lost interest and dropped behind. You found some subjects easy and others hard, but you were treated as part of a class, not as an individual, so you had trouble again. Don't forget all these things in considering the school question this month. The Nebraska Military Academy has one teacher for every ten boys, and is able to give individual instruction wherever needed.
