The members of this unique woman's club of Omaha are the daughters-in-law of Mrs. Mary Erwin, to whose sons they are married. marriage took place in 1902. Mrs. Erwin was Miss Capitole, "oddmann of Omaha. Another Omaha girl to marry an Erwin was Miss Agusta Kuhlman, who became Mrs. Otis E. Erwin in 1905. In that same year Miss Matilda Skyberg of Luverne, Minn., married Clarence Erwin. Miss Ida Strayer of Norton, Kan., made the seventh sister-in-law by marrying Mr. James E. Erwin in 1906. Soon after this marriage "The Pleiades" was started.

"The Pleiades" meet on the first Wednesday of every month at the homes of the members, following the order of their marriage. They have perhaps the most exclusive woman's club in Omaha for they limit their membership to the seven sisters-in-law. There is only one thing which induce them to break their rule. If Mr. Oliver Erwin, the eighth son of Mrs. Erwin, and a bachelor lawyer of Omaha should become a benedict, the club would have to enlarge its membership to eight and change the name of the organization.

The club meets each month for study as well as for a sisterly good time. Mrs. Chester Erwin is the "club woman" of the seven. Mrs. Kisor is the pianist. Mrs. Robert E. Erwin entertains the others by reading stories of her own composition.

Mrs. Ernest B. Erwin, who lives in Denver always sends a letter, which is read at the meeting. Mrs. Otis E. Erwin is the artist of the Pleiades and Mrs. Clarence Erwin is the singer. Mrs. James Erwin is the literary one and plans the programs on literary study.

On Christmas and other holidays the brothers and their wives and the eleven children gather at the home of Mrs. Mary Erwin, where harmony is just as important as at the club meetings of the Pleiades.

Choosing the Right Diamond. A vast majority are all "at sea" when they enter a jewelry store to purchase a diamond—they know practically nothing about this most precious of stones, and should they chance to go to an unscrupulous dealer, they are likely to become possessors of inferior stones, paying prices that would bring them some of the best diamonds. This statement is simply made in the way of warning, and will appeal to those thinking people who know that all merchants are not honest. Unless one knows diamonds—can tell whether a stone has flaws, whether its color is rich, and whether it is well cut—he should go to a dealer who has established himself in the confidence of a large community. For more than twenty years the Edholm store has been thriving in Omaha, building up a reputation for integrity, honesty of sales-statement, reliability of goods and unwavering prices. So faithful have been all the dealings of this house that every buyer who comes here can rest assured he is getting the best goods, for the money expended, of any place in the west. The prospective diamond buyer finds this to be the store at which he secures the best bargains—gets a pure, rich stone at the lowest possible prices. There are so many original designs for diamond settings here that one can secure individually that will not be duplicated. The charm of these distinctive articles appeals to the purchaser who seeks diamonds of the best character. A steady increasing diamond business is proof that the Edholm store is the logical and safe place for diamond buying. Prices are the same to any and all customers. Plain figures are marked on all goods, and from these figures there is no deviation. DON'T MERELY BUY—INVEST. ALBERT EDHOLM JEWELER Sixteenth and Harney Dresher Bros. Engage English Dyeing Expert. Dresher Bros., the dry cleaners and dyers at 2211-2213 Farnam St., have fairly secured the globe to secure notable additions to their already expert force. Their latest acquisition is a genuine British Dyer direct from the textile mills of Lancaster, England. This expert is almost "lucanny" in his powers; his matches to the shades of your samples are nothing short of marvelous; you may now have dress trimmings matched up as they were never before matched up in Omaha. If you have some dyeing problem, come in and at least get this English expert's opinion; it makes no difference whether some other Nebraska establishment has refused to handle the work; chances are Dresher's dyer will make an A.A. job of it. The daintier the piece, or pieces, the better this English dyer likes it; the coarse work can be performed by most any dyer, but an expert shows himself on the daintier things. Just phone Tyler 1200, or Auto A-222, or leave work at the plant or at Dresher The Tailors, 1215 Farnam St., or at the receiving station in The Pompeian Room of The Brandeis Stores.
