

FORMER SENATOR CARTER IS DEAD

Picturesque Character in National Politics Dies at Washington Home. WAS TWICE MONTANA SENATOR. His Last Term Expired on March 3, This Year. WAS WELL KNOWN IN THE WEST Carter Was Once Chairman of Republican National Committee. LIVED AT HELENA, MONTANA. Appointed by President McKinley on Board of St. Louis Exposition and Was Elected President of Board.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Former United States Senator Thomas Henry Carter of Montana, for many years a notable and picturesque character in national politics, once chairman of the Republican National committee, and since last year chairman of the American section of the International commission, died at his home early today of infection of the lungs. He was 55 years old.

Mr. Carter had a remarkable career. He extended over twenty-two years of congressional and official life at Washington. This embraced service as the first representative elected from Montana, two terms in the United States senate and executive positions as chairman of the general land office, chairman of the republican national committee in the second and unsuccessful campaign of Benjamin Harrison for the presidency, president of the United States commission for the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis and since last March chairman of the newly created "international joint commission, American section" and practically charged with Canadian boundary matters.

Defeated Harbors Bill. An Oklacon by birth, an Iowan by adoption and a Montanan long before that territory was admitted to statehood, Mr. Carter jumped to the front almost from the outset of his work in congress. Perhaps the most remarkable of all his legislative achievements was his defeat of a big river and harbor appropriation bill which he regarded as a political "grab measure" during the McKinley administration.

President McKinley did not favor the bill, and Mr. Carter, always a strong administration supporter, began a speech against it at 10:30 o'clock at night and talked continuously until noon of the day following, when the session of congress expired. As a lieutenant of Senator Aldrich, the republican leader of the senate for many years, he also did notable work.

At one time Mr. Carter was mentioned as a possible successor of Associate Justice Moody of the supreme court of the United States, and it was said President Taft had considered him for secretary of the interior to succeed Richard A. Ballinger. Among the men suggested as a possible head of the republican national committee for the campaign of 1912 the former senator's name had been mentioned.

His defeat by a democrat for re-election to the senate because Mr. Carter's retirement from the body March 4 last. President Taft then named him a member of the international commission. He framed and fought for conservation legislation, opposed extravagance in irrigation projects and opposition for the Taft Canadian reciprocity bill.
