This is made manifest through an opinion handed down to State Auditor Barton today by Deputy Attorney General Ayres. The principal trouble with the act was that it was in direct and stringent conflict with the Gerdes set of accounting measures, which provide that sums of money taken in by any department shall be paid into the state treasury and expended only upon roperly authorized vouchers. This preluded the expending of fees collected by the pure food department and prevented it from diverting enough money from the exchequer to comply with the provisions

Acting State Pure Food Commissioner Redfern will endeavor to enforce the law as soon as possible after October 1, when to go into effect. Under the Iowa need law $28,000 was collected in fees in one-third of that amount will be collected
