

The Ray of Hope

IN THOUSANDS of American homes Woodmen Circle has been "the ray of hope" and has lighted the way for families that have suffered that greatest of all bereavements, the loss of the head of the home. The Woodmen Circle, through its wonderful insurance organization, has come to the rescue of thousands of families left with barely no financial provision.

It provides for the little children, shorn of those upon whom they have had to depend; it saves the youngsters from going into orphan homes; it drives poverty from the door; it gives strength and courage to those who have lost their dearest parent--mother. Nowhere is there a greater insurance organization; nowhere is there one that will more faithfully look after the interests of those who have become its members.

Women should consider that men are not the only bread-winners. There are thousands of noble women who provide for their own children, their sisters, their brothers and their parents. These women should carry insurance, and a majority of them do. Experience in the Woodmen Circle has proved that there is no organization that takes such good care of its members. It looks after them in every way. And this careful watch has brought wonderful results to this society, which is growing every week in an amazing manner.

The Woodmen Circle policy assures prompt payment upon death, and guarantees the placing of an enduring monument on the grave of the deceased.
