

BRIEF CITY NEWS

Have Not Paid It. Gas, Elec. Fixture, Burgess-Grandon. Oms. Wash. Wigs. Autogenous welding. Keep Your Money and Wastables in the American Safe Deposit vaults in the Bee building. Boxes rent for $2 per year. Crawford in the East—J. Crawford, manager of the furniture department at Hayden Bros., is in the east on a buying trip. Miss Postpone Meeting—The Omaha edge of the Elks has called off the regular meeting of Friday, October 6, on account of the coronation ball at the Ak-Sar-Ben Den.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

Summary of Activities in Various Institutions.

HAZARDS OF TEACHERS' WORK

Old Age a Rarity in the Profession In New York—Proposed Pensions Memorial Technical School.

The students of the Kearney normal held a rally in the normal chapel on Friday and practiced rooting for the various football games of the season. They took up a number of new songs and yells and listened to spirited speeches from Miss Cora O'Connell, Hart, P. F. Butler, George N. Porter, Miss Gertrude Gardner and Coach George J. Vanburen. The normal shows considerable spirit this year and the large student body gives evidence of excellent support to the various normal teams. Several of the young men of the school, who are members of Company A, Second Nebraska regiment, are attending the annual encampment of the state militia at Camp John H. Miley, Bellevue, Neb. Russell Buford, senior student teacher in the model high school, and center on the football team, is among the number.

commodation for 31,850 children. In England 137,407 teachers were employed in the ordinary public elementary schools and in Wales 14,132. The average attendance during the school year was 1,934,416 in England and 32,500 in Wales. In England 31,851 girls attended cookery classes, while 174 boys attended similar courses. Other special classes were attended as follows: Laundry work, 118,100; housework, 2,400; combined domestic subjects, 6,758; daisy work, 150; gardening, 1,023 girls and 2,215 boys; handicraft (other than light woodwork), 23,301; and light woodwork, 52. The staff of adult teachers in the English schools was composed as follows: Certificated, 30,191 men and 61,331 women; uncertificated (including provisionally certificated), 5,072 men and 3,847 women; supplementary, forty-three men and 13,847 women; provisional assistant teachers, sixty-eight men and 330 women; and teachers, 773 men and 1,951 women.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY.

Beginning of Academic Year and Staff of Instructors.

With a larger registration than ever before, and the largest staff of professors and instructors ever seen on Morningstar Heights, Columbia university began the academic year of 1911-12 on September 27. Six new professors and twenty-two assistant professors have brought the total in the teaching staff to the unprecedented 706, and of these 177 are professors, nineteen associate professors, seventy assistant professors, 139 instructors and sixty-five assistants; lecturers, demonstrators and others complete the list. A political laboratory has been established at Columbia university through the generosity of Patrick F. McGowan, ex-president of the board of aldermen. More than 100 students of politics at the university sufficient money has been given by Mr. McGowan to maintain the laboratory for two years. Its purpose is to bring the students in contact with the documentary sources of information, and in addition to place the collection of materials at the disposal of the debating teams of the university.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Mayor Trainor and City Officials Unite to Fight Merger.

SAY ANNEXATION IMPRUDENT

Committee Appointed to Conduct Campaign Along These Lines—John Smith Found Dead in Alley.

Representative business men of South Omaha yesterday volunteered their services to the mayor and city officials as a compact organization to defeat the agitated merger plan of Omaha and South Omaha. These men assert that annexation at this time when Omaha is about to try a new experiment in the form of government would be imprudent and a risky proposition on the part of the local municipality. Protesting further that the charter of Omaha makes no adequate provision for the additional expense incident to maintenance of a greater Omaha, they assert that the local police and fire departments would be annulled until the merged cities could be properly legislated for by an increased roster in both branches of the public service. Large real estate holders of this section insist that annexation would depreciate the value of local property to a negligible quantity that would make the southern section of the proposed greater Omaha a dreary waste or a dumping ground for the submerged tenth of Omaha.

Expected even a greater shipment for the coming week.

Mayor Trainor and City Officials Unite to Fight Merger.

SAY ANNEXATION IMPRUDENT

Committee Appointed to Conduct Campaign Along These Lines—John Smith Found Dead in Alley.

Representative business men of South Omaha yesterday volunteered their services to the mayor and city officials as a compact organization to defeat the agitated merger plan of Omaha and South Omaha. These men assert that annexation at this time when Omaha is about to try a new experiment in the form of government would be imprudent and a risky proposition on the part of the local municipality. Protesting further that the charter of Omaha makes no adequate provision for the additional expense incident to maintenance of a greater Omaha, they assert that the local police and fire departments would be annulled until the merged cities could be properly legislated for by an increased roster in both branches of the public service. Large real estate holders of this section insist that annexation would depreciate the value of local property to a negligible quantity that would make the southern section of the proposed greater Omaha a dreary waste or a dumping ground for the submerged tenth of Omaha.

Why Merchants Like The Intenso

Advertisement for The Intenso lamp. It is a 500 candle power Gas Arc. This means a strong light. This light is diffused so that the goods are shown to best advantage. This helps sales. The Intenso consumes only 14 feet of Gas per hour. This means economy, because you do not require many Intensos for even very large spaces. It does not jump or flicker. This means that there is no strain on the eyes. Let us show what The Intenso will do in any large indoor space. Phone us to send a representative who will go over your requirements with you and explain our attractive selling terms. Complete lamp display at the gas office. This means YOU. OMAHA GAS CO.

Four Dant Divorces—Suits for divorce were filed as follows in district court Saturday: Jessie Melvin against Francis Melvin, Alice P. Boone against Clarence Boone, Gertrude Shea against Daniel Shea, Clara Savage against Edward Savage.

Milwaukee Offices Moved—Saturday was moving day with the Milwaukee railroad officials. Early in the morning they got busy and moved the passenger and freight offices from the Paxton block to the first floor of the building west of the United States National bank.

Tackett Dies of Heart Failure—The coroner's jury which held an inquest over the body of Terry J. Tackett Saturday morning, found that the deceased came to his death from heart disease. Tackett, who was a hatter, was found dead in his cell at the city jail Tuesday morning.

Philosophical Subject—Is Man a Mere Machine? will be the topic for discussion at the meeting of the Omaha Philosophical society this afternoon at Eighty-third street, between Farnam and Broadway. Alfred Tomson will deliver an address on "The Use and Abuse of Narcotics."

Brick Not Up to Standard—Tests of paving brick which D. H. Hanna, contractor, propose to use in paving the county's share of the Thirteenth street boulevard in Clontarf precinct indicate that some of the brick is not up to specifications, according to a report made to the county commissioners by County Surveyor George McBride Saturday.

Pheasants for Riverview—Lewis Adams, chief immigrant inspector of the Denver office, has presented to the Omaha Park board two hens and a cock Mongolian pheasant for Riverview park. Mr. Adams visited Omaha a few weeks ago. During his stay he went to Riverview park where he saw a pheasant, which was very poor and thin. The bird will be turned loose in the park Sunday morning.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

Omaha School Boys Like Roughing it in the Canadian Wilds

Five Omaha high school lads, sons of prominent families, and two of their ministers' sons, have founded a pioneer colony in Alberta, Canada, and have been making a success of it. They are Hallock Rouse, son of Rev. Frederick T. Rouse of the First Congregational church; Hart Jenks, son of Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church; Chester and Ralph Weirich, sons of T. H. Weirich and Harold Andrus, son of C. M. Andrus, 3023 Marcy street. Ralph Weirich and Harold Andrus returned to Omaha last week to take their last year's work at the high school. They give glowing reports of life in Canada. Last spring the boys all took 20-acre claims adjoining each other about 130 miles east of Calgary, the nearest railroad town. "For the last six months we have been living on our claims steadily and are getting used to the loneliness of the country," said Harold Andrus. "It was quite a task to clear the rock off, but we all worked hard and have something to show for our money." The boys have no live stock except a single cow, which they own in partnership, and a team of oxen belonging to Hart Jenks. Jenks had 100 acres of wheat and other have smaller crops. Andrus, Weirich, Jenks and Rouse have all been prominent in high school athletics.

TEACHING IS PERILOUS WORK.

Educator Tells Why So Few of Them Die of Old Age.

Public school teaching, according to Secretary Lyman A. Best, of the New York Board of Retirement, is a hazardous occupation, taking rank in mortality with that of the soldier, policeman and fireman. Mr. Best, in his annual report just out, seeks to correct the idea that because teachers have short hours and long vacations their work is easy. He says: "Thirty-nine per cent of the teachers, who have been retired in the last six years were suffering from nervous breakdowns, while a considerable number had heart disease. "Some years ago, when the agitation for teachers' annuities was just beginning, it was difficult to convince legislators and school board members that our cause had merit. We were told that it was all very well to establish pensions, annuities for soldiers, policemen and firemen, because their occupations were extra-hazardous, and they often saved up their lives for the community which they saved; but as for the teachers, their work was easy, their hours short, their vacations long and they made no sacrifices. "Gradually this has all been changed as the great work of the teachers became more fully recognized, as the sacrifices in nervous and physical energy made by the teachers in their most arduous work for the youth of our land became more fully understood. Germany was one of the first countries to recognize officially that teachers, of all public officers, were deserving of the highest consideration, as they were the most likely to sacrifice their health in the discharge of their duties. Many observing educators have called attention to the relatively large number of physical wrecks furnished by the teaching profession. "Children coming to school from homes where contagious diseases are housed, and unsanitary school rooms. Mr. Best says, are responsible for much of the danger to which a teacher is subject. "Of the 1,492 teachers retired to February 1, 1911, 315 have died. Mr. Best says, about 45 per cent of the men and 19 per cent of the women. An enumeration of the causes of death would indicate most graphically, he believes, the hazards of the teacher's profession. "Can any other occupation," he concludes, "show less than 84 per cent of deaths from old age? Is any other occupation more hazardous?"

PERU NORMAL NOTES.

Senior Class Elects Officers—Normal Class Staff Chosen.

The senior class at the Peru State normal elected officers for the year as follows, Wednesday: President, Roy Bailey Gaskade; vice president, Hattie Hendricks; Nelson; secretary, Edna Sharp; Beamer; treasurer, H. H. Moyer, Fairfield, Ia. The student publication of the state normal, known as the Normalite, has just organized for the year with the following editors: George S. Hanson, Upland, associate editor; Charlotte Cooley, Sidney, editor-in-chief; Merle Swan, Fairmont, class editor; Mary A. Tynon, Peru, alumni editor; Martha Greenlee, Sidney, literary editor; Mabel Swanson, Carlton, religious editor; Grace Telch, Bancroft, musical editor; Charles Lively, Luskton, clubs; E. C. Beck, Panama, athletics; Percy Lapp, Syracuse, local; Harley Shaver, Bruning, exchange.

Educational Notes.

In New York City there is an increase this year over last year of 3.09 in the number of school children on part time in the schools for lack of room. In an effort to end cigarette smoking among the students of Notre Dame university, officials of the institution announce that indulgence in the habit will be permitted no longer and that those disobeying the order will be summarily suspended. Mayor Gaynor has largely retreated from his school board position in relation to the revised New York charter. Against the views of the leading educators of the country he has been standing for a board of paid members. He now agrees to a board of sixteen members or so, whose chairman alone is paid.

STATISTICS OF SCHOOLS AND TEACHING FORCE IN ENGLAND AND WALES.

Statistics of public education in England and Wales, by the British Board of Education, have just been published as a bluebook. They show that there are in England and Wales 21,129 schools, providing accommodation for 2,622,999 children. Voluntary schools numbered 12,941, with 1,114,706 places, and there were 1,135 council schools, accommodating 1,508,292 children. The denominational schools and their accommodation were: Church of England, 11,075 schools and 2,468,902 places; Wesleyan, 212 schools and 24,477 places; Roman Catholic, 1,073 schools and 291,964 places, and Jewish, twelve schools and 10,244 places. Classified as "undenominational and other schools," were 523 schools with accommodation for 19,177 scholars. In the certified schools for the blind there was accommodation for 2,212; deaf, 4,187; mentally defective, 11,490; physically defective, 4,425; and epileptic, 664. The number of schools in England was 19,345, of which 12,285 were voluntary, providing accommodation for 4,628,736 children. In Wales the number of schools was 1,881 (978 being voluntary), with ac-

NEGRO FALLS TO DEATH.

John Smith, a negro, 29 years old, was found dead at 11:15 o'clock last night in an alley beside a hotel at 2715 N. Street. It appeared he had fallen from the window of his room above. His neck was broken and his skull fractured. Smith had been employed in the fertilizing department at Armour's packing plant. The body was taken by Deputy Coroner Bernard Larkin.

BOARDSHOP GET BUSY.

New York attorneys setting up the Intenso case claim that the city bonds held by them were repudiated by South Omaha yesterday communicated with Attorney Dean Ringier, who will act as the local representative of the New York law firm in investigating the matter. The New York people who hold the alleged spurious bonds want to know specifically why South Omaha has refused to honor the bonds held by them. If the certificates held by them and the ones in the office of the city treasurer are similar then the question will be to determine who holds the counterfeiters. It was said that unless the city would make a settlement New York attorneys would start suit against the city.

COMPLEXIONS FLAKED OFF AT HOME.

The girl with the poor complexion complains, "I have to touch up my cheeks. I am sallow and a sight, and only my makeup saves me." Now as a matter of fact, more women spoil their good looks than improve them with cosmetics. The practice certainly is unnecessary, now that the virtues of ordinary mercerized wax as a beautifier have become known. It has been found that the nicotinic in the wax has wonderful absorbent powers. It causes the faded or discolored skin to flake off in minute, almost imperceptible particles, so gently, gradually, as to cause no inconvenience at all. In this way the old complexion is actually removed—like-wise all fine lines, pimples, blotches, moth patches and other surface defects. A new complexion appears—clear, smooth, youthful, healthy—based skin such as no paint, powder or lotion can produce. Mercerized wax is to be had at any drug store, is applied like cold cream.—Adv.

WOLF EFFECT OF STRIKE.

Stocks and feeders of cattle and sheep in the local market were very nervous yesterday over the strike announced on the Harriman lines. The last week has been a record breaking week for the number of cattle received. It was said that over 500 cars were received at the local market on one day of last week. This consignment was all cleaned up yesterday, but the commission men

TEACHING IS PERILOUS WORK.

Educator Tells Why So Few of Them Die of Old Age.

Public school teaching, according to Secretary Lyman A. Best, of the New York Board of Retirement, is a hazardous occupation, taking rank in mortality with that of the soldier, policeman and fireman. Mr. Best, in his annual report just out, seeks to correct the idea that because teachers have short hours and long vacations their work is easy. He says: "Thirty-nine per cent of the teachers, who have been retired in the last six years were suffering from nervous breakdowns, while a considerable number had heart disease. "Some years ago, when the agitation for teachers' annuities was just beginning, it was difficult to convince legislators and school board members that our cause had merit. We were told that it was all very well to establish pensions, annuities for soldiers, policemen and firemen, because their occupations were extra-hazardous, and they often saved up their lives for the community which they saved; but as for the teachers, their work was easy, their hours short, their vacations long and they made no sacrifices. "Gradually this has all been changed as the great work of the teachers became more fully recognized, as the sacrifices in nervous and physical energy made by the teachers in their most arduous work for the youth of our land became more fully understood. Germany was one of the first countries to recognize officially that teachers, of all public officers, were deserving of the highest consideration, as they were the most likely to sacrifice their health in the discharge of their duties. Many observing educators have called attention to the relatively large number of physical wrecks furnished by the teaching profession. "Children coming to school from homes where contagious diseases are housed, and unsanitary school rooms. Mr. Best says, are responsible for much of the danger to which a teacher is subject. "Of the 1,492 teachers retired to February 1, 1911, 315 have died. Mr. Best says, about 45 per cent of the men and 19 per cent of the women. An enumeration of the causes of death would indicate most graphically, he believes, the hazards of the teacher's profession. "Can any other occupation," he concludes, "show less than 84 per cent of deaths from old age? Is any other occupation more hazardous?"

PERU NORMAL NOTES.

Senior Class Elects Officers—Normal Class Staff Chosen.

The senior class at the Peru State normal elected officers for the year as follows, Wednesday: President, Roy Bailey Gaskade; vice president, Hattie Hendricks; Nelson; secretary, Edna Sharp; Beamer; treasurer, H. H. Moyer, Fairfield, Ia. The student publication of the state normal, known as the Normalite, has just organized for the year with the following editors: George S. Hanson, Upland, associate editor; Charlotte Cooley, Sidney, editor-in-chief; Merle Swan, Fairmont, class editor; Mary A. Tynon, Peru, alumni editor; Martha Greenlee, Sidney, literary editor; Mabel Swanson, Carlton, religious editor; Grace Telch, Bancroft, musical editor; Charles Lively, Luskton, clubs; E. C. Beck, Panama, athletics; Percy Lapp, Syracuse, local; Harley Shaver, Bruning, exchange.

Educational Notes.

In New York City there is an increase this year over last year of 3.09 in the number of school children on part time in the schools for lack of room. In an effort to end cigarette smoking among the students of Notre Dame university, officials of the institution announce that indulgence in the habit will be permitted no longer and that those disobeying the order will be summarily suspended. Mayor Gaynor has largely retreated from his school board position in relation to the revised New York charter. Against the views of the leading educators of the country he has been standing for a board of paid members. He now agrees to a board of sixteen members or so, whose chairman alone is paid.

STATISTICS OF SCHOOLS AND TEACHING FORCE IN ENGLAND AND WALES.

Statistics of public education in England and Wales, by the British Board of Education, have just been published as a bluebook. They show that there are in England and Wales 21,129 schools, providing accommodation for 2,622,999 children. Voluntary schools numbered 12,941, with 1,114,706 places, and there were 1,135 council schools, accommodating 1,508,292 children. The denominational schools and their accommodation were: Church of England, 11,075 schools and 2,468,902 places; Wesleyan, 212 schools and 24,477 places; Roman Catholic, 1,073 schools and 291,964 places, and Jewish, twelve schools and 10,244 places. Classified as "undenominational and other schools," were 523 schools with accommodation for 19,177 scholars. In the certified schools for the blind there was accommodation for 2,212; deaf, 4,187; mentally defective, 11,490; physically defective, 4,425; and epileptic, 664. The number of schools in England was 19,345, of which 12,285 were voluntary, providing accommodation for 4,628,736 children. In Wales the number of schools was 1,881 (978 being voluntary), with ac-

NEGRO FALLS TO DEATH.

John Smith, a negro, 29 years old, was found dead at 11:15 o'clock last night in an alley beside a hotel at 2715 N. Street. It appeared he had fallen from the window of his room above. His neck was broken and his skull fractured. Smith had been employed in the fertilizing department at Armour's packing plant. The body was taken by Deputy Coroner Bernard Larkin.

BOARDSHOP GET BUSY.

New York attorneys setting up the Intenso case claim that the city bonds held by them were repudiated by South Omaha yesterday communicated with Attorney Dean Ringier, who will act as the local representative of the New York law firm in investigating the matter. The New York people who hold the alleged spurious bonds want to know specifically why South Omaha has refused to honor the bonds held by them. If the certificates held by them and the ones in the office of the city treasurer are similar then the question will be to determine who holds the counterfeiters. It was said that unless the city would make a settlement New York attorneys would start suit against the city.

COMPLEXIONS FLAKED OFF AT HOME.

The girl with the poor complexion complains, "I have to touch up my cheeks. I am sallow and a sight, and only my makeup saves me." Now as a matter of fact, more women spoil their good looks than improve them with cosmetics. The practice certainly is unnecessary, now that the virtues of ordinary mercerized wax as a beautifier have become known. It has been found that the nicotinic in the wax has wonderful absorbent powers. It causes the faded or discolored skin to flake off in minute, almost imperceptible particles, so gently, gradually, as to cause no inconvenience at all. In this way the old complexion is actually removed—like-wise all fine lines, pimples, blotches, moth patches and other surface defects. A new complexion appears—clear, smooth, youthful, healthy—based skin such as no paint, powder or lotion can produce. Mercerized wax is to be had at any drug store, is applied like cold cream.—Adv.

WOLF EFFECT OF STRIKE.

Stocks and feeders of cattle and sheep in the local market were very nervous yesterday over the strike announced on the Harriman lines. The last week has been a record breaking week for the number of cattle received. It was said that over 500 cars were received at the local market on one day of last week. This consignment was all cleaned up yesterday, but the commission men

Open to Settlement

Three Thousand Government Homesteads

Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian Reservation Government Lands

Direct route to the registration points Gregory, Dallas and Rapid City, So. Dak. Dates of Registration, Oct. 2 to 21, 1911. For printed matter and full particulars as to rates, train schedules, etc., call on your nearest ticket agent, or address A. C. JOHNSON, Passenger Traffic Manager, Chicago and North Western Railway, Chicago, Ill.

Change of Location

On and after October 1, 1911, the City Ticket and Freight offices of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway will be located at 1612 Farnam St. F. A. NASH, Gen'l. Western Agent. EUGENE DUVAL, Ass't. Gen'l. Western Agent. W. E. BOCK, City Passenger Agent.

Reliable Furs at Reasonable Prices

Largest selection and best values in fur sets and coats to be found in Omaha. It will cost you nothing to look and will surely save you money. Come and see us—we will prove it to you. H. E. HUBERMANN FURRIER. No. 9 Continental Block. N. E. Cor. 15th and Douglas Sts. Take Elevator to Second Floor. Omaha, Neb.

The Bee for All the News