YALE DEFEATS SYRACUSE

Two Spectacular Field Goals Mark the Contest.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 7.—Yale defeated Syracuse, 12 to 0, today in a game marked by two spectacular field goals by Captain Howe of Yale. Both kicks were from difficult angles and from Syracuse's forty-yard line.

Syracuse made a stubborn fight, but their attack lacked speed and force, while Yale made first down repeatedly. In the first period Francis of Yale tried for a goal from the thirty-yard line with the wind against him, but failed. Captain Howe scored his first three points in the second period and the second field goal in the fourth period.

Straight line punning by Philbin and Rely on midfield and Anderson's twenty-yard run around left end in the third period resulted in Yale's only touchdown. Ketchum carrying the ball over, Francis kicked the goal. Captain Fogg and Ansel did good work for Syracuse. The lineup:

HARVARD HAS HARD BATTLE

Holy Cross Draws Cipher, but Makes Crimson Work.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 7.—A touchdown in the first five minutes and a goal from the field yielding eight points, was all that Harvard could roll up against Holy Cross today while a miserable fumble robbed the victors of a chance to score by a placement kick from the ten-yard line. The game ended 8 to 0. Harvard's team started with a rush, and getting the ball in the center of the field, and after a series of rushes, Wendell carried it over the goal line for the only touchdown. The goal was not kicked. Three minutes after the second period started, following a heavy penalty, Potter, standing on Holy Cross' forty-yard line, dropped a pretty goal from the field.

The Holy Cross rushed the ball to Harvard's ten-yard line. Gibson dropped back for what looked like an easy placement, but Monahan rolled the ball along the ground and Harvard captured on downs. Harvard could not get nearer than eight yards to the Holy Cross goal line, but after two tries at field goals failed.

ROWING AGAIN REVIVED AMONG PRINCETON MEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Encouraged by the progress Princeton made this year in rowing, the Tigers have begun fall training in earnest. The Jersey men hope to have even better success next year. A recent call for candidates for both the freshman and varsity crews brought out an encouraging field, and this points out the fact that rowing again is becoming a popular intercollegiate sport at Princeton. Every loyal Princeton man entertains the hope that Princeton will in the near future measure arms once more with Poughkeepsie crews.

MACK WANTS REVENGE

Predicts World Series Will Not Run Seven Games.

HE IS READY TO MEET M'GRAW

Declares that Pennants Are Not Won on Stolen Bases and that He is Not Worrying Over Result.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Connie Mack, who piloted the Philadelphia Athletics to their fourth American league pennant, the second in succession, has no fear of the New York Giants, who it is generally agreed will win the National league pennant, and so meet the White Elephants for the world's championship.

"I am ready for revenge," says Mack. "I await the call for the games with the Giants. I am ready for McGraw."

REVENGE TALKERS OF COURSE.

The revenge talk refers, of course, to the defeat of Philadelphia by the Giants in the world's series of 1906, when New York won four of the five all-important Mack predicts that the all-important series this year will not go the full seven games and that his team will win four out of the first five, or, at the worst, four out of six. He scouts the idea that the speed of the Giants on the bases will have any material effect and says that the pitchers will decide the championship. He is banking on Bender, Coombs, Flinn, Morgan and Krause, with Ira Thomas at the receiving end. In discussing the series the astute manager of the world's champions is quoted as saying:

"All this talk about the base running of the Giants makes me laugh. The Giants' stolen bases are not worrying us a bit. When was a world's series won by base running? Never. World's championships are won in the pitcher's box, and that is where we are going to show the advantage. Base running? It makes me laugh. It's a joke."

"We are going to be stronger in the box this fall than we were a year ago. Then we had two pitchers; now we have five in Coombs, Bender, Flinn, Morgan and Krause. Yes, Krause. There is one great lefthander now. He has finally developed into a good curve ball pitcher, and is as good a lefthander as there is in the league. Just keep your eye on him. He never had a curve ball until lately."

"Ira Thomas? That's a man I like to talk about. World's series are just like ordinary games to him. You simply can't get him rattled. He has no nerves, and the tighter the pinch the better he likes it. I bank on Ira. That's all there is to it. If you will remember, he caught the only game for Detroit that Detroit won from Chicago in two world's series, and it was the only game he caught for the Tigers in those series, at that. And he had a sore arm, then, too. And before we played the Cubs last fall we heard how King was going to show Ira up. Did he?"

Somehow or other over here in New York the "fans" have an abiding faith in Mathewson, Marquand, Ames, Wittke and Crandall, with "Big Chief" Meyers at the receiving end, and are quite willing to match them against the Philadelphia clan without that speed on the bases which, of course, it is satisfying to have as an extra asset.

CORNHUSKERS LOOKING GOOD

some of his fraters prevailed upon him to get into the game. He was reluctant at first, but suddenly made up his mind Monday to stay. He registered Monday afternoon and has been out every day in uniform.

The little Cornhusker looks mighty sweet to the Cornhuskers and his return has gone a long way towards solving the perplexing backfield problem. There has always been an abundance of material for the backfield, but the same objection has always applied to it, namely, that all lack experience. In Stehm's estimation is one of the essentials of a winning team. The club is now beginning to take definite shape, however, for it is certain that Warner will be retained at the helm.

Warner a Field General. The generalship was one of the most important factors in the success of the Cornhuskers last season, and Stehm is highly enthusiastic over his latest field acquisition. The return of Warner does not mean, however, that he will not be given a chance in the line. In fact Stehm proposes to use his lineup during the games and each all of his backfield candidates in different positions. For example, Warner will probably be shifted to the injury to Lorenz, which would put him out of the game for at least a week, is a serious blow and reason of the Cornhusker's veteran backfield game played by Ernie Stehm during the week.
