

TREAT FOR BEE READERS

Free Tickets to Tremendous Land Show, October 16 to 28.

STARTS WITH THIS ISSUE OF BEE

Five Coupons Consecutively Numbered Will Be Exchanged at Business Office for One Ticket to Exposition.

Here is another treat for readers of The Bee. Tickets to the big Land show, which will be held at the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum (Coliseum) October 16 to 28, will be given away free to all readers of this paper who cut out coupons that will appear herein during the six days. Five of these coupons, consecutively numbered, may be exchanged at the business office of The Bee for one ticket to the big exposition that will cover two full city blocks.

The first coupon is printed in this issue. Every issue up to and including next Sunday will contain one of these coupons. The slips will not be accepted unless they are presented within forty-eight hours after the publication of the last one of the series of five. The last coupon, appearing Sunday morning, must be presented at the business office of The Bee before Tuesday morning. The coupon which is published today, with four others, will be taken by the business office any time between the appearance of the fifth coupon and Monday morning.

Must Be in Consecutive Order. Those who cut out the coupons should remember that slips without consecutive numbers will not be accepted. The series of five must be unbroken in numerical order.

This is to be a great treat for Bee readers, for they will get to see free the greatest show of its kind ever held. The first land exposition was a marvelous production, but this second show, increased many fold, will surpass anything of its kind ever attempted. The famous Ferullo band, pronounced by the Chicago Tribune to be the greatest band in America, will appear at this show. The price of admission, 25 cents, would pay only about a quarter of the charge that would be made to hear this band in concert hall.

Little Girls to Draw the Names

DALLAS, S. D., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—In his selection of two little girls to draw the first 100 names for establishing filing rights on the Rosebud and Pine Ridge lands, Judge James W. Witten chose Virginia Foster of Dallas and Dorothy Slaughter of Gregory, thereby demonstrating that the diplomatic service lost a splendid opportunity when Judge Witten was designated as chief law officer of the general land office.

While this land opening has had for its principal object the settlement of Mellette and Bennett counties, all of the interest at the two principal registration points has related to questions of prerogatives and prominence. The members of the South Dakota delegation in congress ran afoul of the situation right off the reel and quickly learned that it would not do to designate either Gregory or Dallas as registration points, without including both towns in the list.

In the subsequent arrangements all of the officials connected with the opening found themselves confronted with technical and trying situations. As an offset to the fact that the drawing was fixed for Gregory, Judge Witten established his personal headquarters at Dallas, with F. L. Wood, assistant superintendent, in active charge at Gregory. The post-office inspector roomed in one town and put in most of his time at the other. And so it went all along the line.

The general features of the drawing for this opening—to be held at Gregory on October 25—are practically the same as in other recent drawings. All of the registration envelopes will be dumped onto a large platform, thoroughly shuffled and mixed with a pitchfork and then the drawing will begin.

Virginia Foster and Dorothy Slaughter will draw out for the first selection and will then alternate during the selection of the first 100 names. As the envelopes are drawn from the bunch they will be opened and the slips removed. These slips contain the name and addresses of the applicants, as well as personal signature and other identifying features. The slips will be publicly announced as drawn and then numbered consecutively.

VIRGINIA FOSTER DOROTHY SLAUGHTER

The first 8,000 names drawn will be notified, as the experience of the past has shown that more than 50 per cent of the number holders do not appear to file. All remaining slips will be carefully card indexed down to the third letter of the name and compared with the lucky list in order to detect any attempts at duplicate registration. If there are such cases the person who has duplicate will be disqualified from entry. In every drawing held under this plan such attempts have been detected. A man who drew a good number in the Lower Brute opening had duplicated and he plead for a right to file, claiming that he was drunk and did not know he had registered two times. Failing to secure this concession he killed himself on the train, while on the way home.

JONES COMES TO ARRANGE FOR THE IDAHO EXHIBIT

J. Wilkes Jones, who managed the first National Corn exposition in Omaha, now commissioner of the bureau of immigration, labor and statistics of Idaho, is in the city making preliminary arrangements for a representative display of soil products at the Omaha Land show, to be held in the Coliseum October 16 to 28. Mr. Jones has the assurance that Governor Hawley will attend the show and take a prominent part in the Idaho day program.

In speaking of Idaho Mr. Jones says: "We are having a very satisfactory growth in railroads and in immigration, and everything is on the move. Right now we are in the midst of a wonderful apple harvest and good prices are ruling. The dry farming districts of Idaho have yielded unusual crops of grains and grasses. In the irrigated sections, in spite of the fact that more than a million acres have become available within the last fifteen months, land is being rapidly taken up and developed. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the development of Idaho is the completion of hydro-electric power plants. Nearly 100,000-horsepower has been developed within the last eighteen months, and from the plants power and light are being transmitted to large areas of southern and eastern Idaho."

Wild Man is Held On Larceny Charge

It was a disgusted and tame enough looking "wild man" that Detectives Ring and Van Duesen arrested early last night upon the request of Sheriff Wychoff of Vinton, Ia., who asks that the prisoner be held to answer a grand larceny charge. The "wild man" when taken to the station from the Omaha carnival grounds gave the name of John Ferran and admitted that he, with another man had broken into and robbed a farm house near Vinton of some clothing and several hundred dollars. He said that he had been the "wild man" in a pit show exhibiting in Vinton which had gone "broke" and he was forced to raise some money to get out of town. The sheriff followed him but failed to effect a capture. The police in Omaha were notified and a strict lookout was maintained. Ferran kept close to his "wild man" disguise and seldom strayed from his pit and for this reason the police were unable to locate him until the carnival ended. At the carnival grounds he was billed as "Craxo," and attracted large crowd every day.

Sergeant Vanous says Ferran's correct name is John Esicks. The sheriff at Vinton was notified and probably will send for the man today. The man who assisted Ferran or Esicks at Vinton was arrested Saturday at Boone, Ia.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.
