SIGNERS NOT REGISTERED

Anti-Annexationists Declare Many Names on Petition Are Void.

HAVEY WILL CANVASS LIST

Attack on the Petition is Made Before the County Commissioners Friday Morning—Report to Be Made Next Week.

Declarations that they never signed the Omaha-South Omaha merger petitions and that they never authorized the signing of their names to the petitions were made to the Board of County Commissioners by Harry G. Cousman, deputy county assessor, and Morris Tost of South Omaha Friday morning. Their names will be stricken from the petitions. City Attorney Henry C. Murphy of South Omaha, an anti-annexationist, declared the list of unregistered signers of the petition shows that many prominent Omaha men are not registered and apparently take no part in any election. Among them, he said, are Gordon W. Wooten, head of the traction company, and Victor B. Caldwell.

Attack on the Omaha petition for a special election on the proposed annexation of South Omaha was made before the Board of County Commissioners at its meeting Friday morning on the ground that of the 1,646 names on the petition 1,446 are names of unregistered voters and should not be counted. If the contention prove well founded there can be no special election and the vote will be delayed at least another year, as the removal of the questioned names from the petition would reduce the number of signatures to 1,601, which is far less than the required 10 per cent of registered voters. The petition can spare about 80 names and still can be valid, but a greater number cannot be spared.

The county commissioners appointed County Clerk D. M. Havey to canvass and compare the petition and the list of alleged unregistered signers and report at a special meeting of the commission next Thursday. City Attorney Henry C. Murphy, Mayor P. J. Trainor and Attorney S. L. Winsor, all of South Omaha, filed the list of alleged unregistered voters and denounced the canvass. John P. Brown, attorney for the annexationists, consented to the canvass.
