FIVE COUPONS, like the one below, consecutively numbered, will entitle the holder to one ticket to the big show. The five coupons will not be honored unless presented within FORTY-EIGHT HOURS after publication of the last coupon of the series of five presented. For example: the coupon No. 1 and four con-secutive coupons, 2, 3, 4 and 5, will be accepted at the business office of The Bee, if presented before 6:00 a. m. Monday. No coupons will be accepted after Monday, for the last one will appear Sunday morning and must be presented within forty-eight hours. The first coupon was printed in the Monday Evening Bee, October 9th

At the big Land Show will be thousands of exhibits, showing a most complete display of fruits, displaying results of dry farming, of intelligent methods of grain growing, alfalfa raising, irrigation work and detailing the story of the development of the west; farm machinery in operation, including the newest powerdriven machinery; concerts by a famous band; wonder-creations of Luther Burbank; travel-talks illustrated with motion pictures and colored views; unique bee shows by Frank Odell; trained seal circus; Hawaiian-Maorian singers and players; refined vaudoville; magnificent decorations of Italian beauty and hundreds of other things to interest and educate all.

Another advantage for The Bee readers

Cut this coupon out and bring it with four others, consecutively numbered, to the Business Office of The Bee and get a Free Ticket to the Land Show.

Land Show Coupon No. 5 OCTOBER 14, 1911. On presentation of any five coupons, numbered consecutively, at the business office of THE OMAHA BEE They may be exchanged for a ticket good for one admission to the Omaha Land Show These coupons must be presented within 48 hours of date of last one of series of five offered.

No more than one free ticket issued to any one person.

back door, perpetually bleating. How long its distress will last he is not sure. As things are now the farmer raises the alfalfa to feed the stock with, and when the stock are grown he ships them to the killing market via Iowa and Illinois to be corn fattened. But just as the ranges have given away to the smaller farms and ranches so is this detail about to be changed. The mutation was wrought by one man in a laboratory with a greenhouse attachment. That man is Professor H. C. Buffman, the Luther Burbank of Wyoming. The story that is told to the agricultural tenderfoot is that he has cross-bred the prairie dog with alfalfa and got an edible muskrat. That might be so, but it isn't. Here are the facts:

Buffum is not in Who's Who. He is a plant breeder of considerable distinction, formerly a state official, but now engaged in plant and seed breeding. In the course of his experiments Buffum got hold of winter emmer, a grain often wrongly called spelt, which had recently been introduced into the United States by the United States Agricultural department. It seemed a good grain to try out in Wyoming, since as a rule winter grains give larger yields than those planted in the spring and they can be more cheaply produced and succeed better with less moisture. By throwing the winter emmer under unusual conditions of soil and treatment, its appearance, habit and constitution were so disturbed that several mutations or "sports" were secured, and these are so far beyond the original that one would hardly recognize the new product. The new grain partakes of the nature of alfalfa and emmer. Some single heads have been grown which weigh half an ounce. So prolific is the grain that in three seasons Buffum succeeded in increasing it from the first sporting plants to more than 710 bushels, threshing machine measure. It appears to thrive on cold and dryness. Its food value-and here is the revolutionary aspect of the case-is that of corn. Of it Buffum himself said: "It promises to be the most valuable feed grain the farmer or stockman can raise. * * * * It should take the place of corn for stock feeding in the western country, where the cool nights or the short seasons interfere with obtaining large yields of corn. It produces well where the summers are so hot that the weather interferes with the growth of spring grains. * * * It is good for cattle. horses, sheep or swine."

Buffum is a scientist and as a rule he does not go outside of his vocation. But if you can get him in a corner-as this writer had the chance to do-he will depart for a moment into the field of economics and tell you what emmer will do for the high lands of the west like Wyoming. If emmer succeeds it will mean that the intermountain stock-raising states will be able to fatten their own animals. Hitherto the middle west, the corn-raising states, have had that business. Within a few years this will not be so. Emmer, growing on otherwise idle land in the cold months of the year, will be transferred by a simple chewing process into live meat, and the mournful "beefs" hereafter will go direct to the slaughter house, not stopping off for their usual Iowa respite. I told this to a farmer of many acres in lows. He seized pencil and paper. "Give me that man Buffum's address," he said. "He's the sort of cuss that keeps us jumping."

A 5-passenger 1911 Model White Steamer Touring Car-odorless, smokeless and noiseless. No cranking no shifting of gears; any desired speed. White Steamer sales increase each succeeding year. Has practically an endorsement of the United States government, which owns and operates more. White Steamers than all other cars combined. Richly upholstered, beautifully fin-ished, unlimited power, controlled speed. This car will be exhibited in Gmaha at Drummonds 18th and Farst States mmonds, 18th and Marney Bis.

SECOND PRIZE Value $1,25 $1,250

In the soft, semi-tropic, climatic zone, extending north from San Diego to Shasta County, Cali-fornia, lies Tehama county, in which is situated this beautiful little 10-acre ranch near the town of Red Bluff. This is fruit land of a very high order and is part of the celebrated Lutheran colony which had its inception with an Omaha clorgyman. Literature describing this property may be seen at the office of TROWBRIDGE-BOL-STER CO., in the City Mational Bank Building, Omaha_

In the same town and with the same prospect of advancement. The Bee has selected a residence lot 502120 ft., and valued at $225. Raiston is on the only interuban trolley line running out of Omaha and within forty minutes of the Omaha postoffice. Complete information about this property at the office of the BALSTON TOWNSITE COMPANY, 308 Bouth 17th St., Omaha.
