It is a well established fact that choice milling wheat in the porthwest will be scarce because of the injury from rust, frost and the recent wet weather. It is also reasonable to cypect a material change from the flattering conditions in Argentina before barvest is reached. An increase in the world's visible supply checked the day's trading. The strongest buil feature in the corn market is that the continuation of un-favorable weather is making it difficult for country delivery and very heavy alloat. Futures market was relatively firmer than the west, owing to buying by local mills and on straddle operations as a result of flarrow differences, closing 5075c net higher. the reorganization scheme might be op-posed by the United States government. Reading and United States Steel showed must decidedly the effects of pressure selling of United States Steel was largely from out of town. Northern Pacific was the heaviest loser of the standard railway seven authough the Harriman stocks and sques, although the Harriman stocks an

the neaviest loser of the standard railway issues, atthough the Harriman stocks and St. Paul also were weak. An unexplained advance in Lehigh Valley toward the close carried it a points above its low price of the day. The stock closed with a net gain of more than 2 points. Heaviness of the Steel shares was not relieved by trade reports, which were more favorable. The volume of new business was said to have reached a larger amount. New orders of the United states steel corporation are estimated at about 34,060 tons daily, as compared with 30,000 to 32,000 tons a month ago. The report of the European supply of copper revealed an unusually large shrinkage, the decrease of 5,607,000 pounds being the third largest since the failing in stocks began in March, 1910. The total European supply is now the gmallest since the end of May, 1906. The London market was influenced by the decrease, spot cop-Allos

Quite a string of good fat lambs came in via the Union Pacific, but other lines delivered offerings that were mostly feed-ers. Desirable fat sheep were unusually hard to find and the demand, in con-trast to recent preference for mutton grades, had a decidedly poor appearance. In fact, there was no kind of killing stock that attracted a really nealthy inquiry from packers and trading in both iambe and sheep started out on a slow to up-evenly lower basis. from packers and trading in both tailes and sheep started out on a slow to up-evenly lower basis. Support from country buyers laft plenty to be desired in the way of clearance prospects. Good lambs with a little weight seemed to be fairly popular, but the underweight grades met with a dwindling demand. Light stuff can al-ways qualify when grass and corn-field roughage are available but when the fail season nears it close, there is generally a big change in the requirements of the trade. In this respect the present situa-tion, is seasonable. Drylot finishers en-tering the market, while the ranks of grass-finish buyers are rapidly thinning. Widening of the price range is becoming more pronounced sach dev. of course, and bulk of offerings today found a mean, siuggish market, one lower all along the line. # Sellers Murder Trial Opened at Valentine

VALENTINE, Neb., Oct. 16-The trial of Eunice Murphy and her brother, Kenneth, Harry Heath, George and Alma Weed for the murder of Charles Sellers on June 17 is for trial this morning. The case against Miss Murphy will be prosecuted first.

The four men took Sellers from the home of a rancher named Hutch Jack and hanged him to a telephone pole. They elaim that he had threatened to kill the prisoners if Eunice did not consent to marry him.

The state contends that the crime was ommitted in order that the girl might secure the insurance which she believed Sellers had left her.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM TO PRACTICE WITH CREIGHTON

The Omaha High eleven and Creighton university will clash in light scrimmage practics Tuesday afternoon on Creighton field, and although the high school lads are considerably outweighed they are ex-pected to make a good showing against their older and heavier opponents.

The high school boys need some hard scrimmage this week to prepare them for the game with Des Moines West High on Friday at Des Moines. None of the high school lads was injured in the game with York Saturday and they are now in excellent condition for a hard week of practice. Practice on the dirt grounds at Twenty-first and Paul streets has been discontinued and will be held hereafter on the Creighton field before the blue and white squad come out for practice.

HOGS-Expination for the condition of hog trade was lacking, the market dropping to levels Sight lower under a light supply. It was a slow trade from the outset despite the fact that offerings were limited to about fifty loads. Fackers limited to about fifty loads. Fackers claimed that local cost needed trimming and in support of this attitude pointed to early advices from the east that were more or less bearish.
Bhippers remained under cover from start to finish and bought in all only a few odd loads required for actual orders.
There was no demand whatever of a purely apeulative character and clearance was not complete until several rounds had been made by local buyers on packing account.
Early bids indicated a $5.5596.30 trade, but actual budiness showed some improvement over this spread, the long string landing at $6.50, identical with Saturday's high price.

SHEEP-In line with prospects at last week's close, receipts of sheep and lam were seasonably moderate, giving a tot of about 43,000 head. Chicago was 'fill of about 46.000 head. Chicago was "filed to the guards," however, and with all early advices from that market indicating memi-demoralised trade. local buyers acted hasitant and bearish. There was very little business transacted in any class of stock until well along toward noon.
