CASADY GIVEN TEN YEARS

Judge Woodruff Imposes Penalty Upon Embezzling Clerk.

TAKEN AT ONCE TO THE TRAIN Prisoner's Sentence Deferred Few Hours So He Will Not Spend Any Time in Confinement at Bluffs Jail.

A. W. Casady, former city clerk of Council Bluffs, was given an indeterminate sentence of ten years in the state prison at Fort Madison and was required to pay a fine of the full amount of his shortage. This, however, is only the amount recited in the indictment.

Casady was not sentenced at the hour set on Saturday, 1:30 o'clock, but just before the departure of the Burlington train, on which Charif McCaffrey conveyed him to the penitentiary.

Casady had expressed a horror of being locked up in a jail and made an earnest plea to be permitted to escape it. Neither the court nor the county attorney saw any reason to deny the request and it was granted.

In anticipation of the sentence the court room was filled with people long before 1:30 o'clock arrived, and when word was quietly passed around that sentence would not be imposed until late in the afternoon the crowd thinned out.

Judge Woodruff wasted no words. He merely stated the case and asked the condemned man if he had anything to say. An almost inaudible negative reply was returned.

The sentence of the court is that he be taken to the penitentiary at Fort Madison and confined at hard labor for an indeterminate period of not more than ten years, and that you be fined the full amount of the embezzlement specified in the indictment, $6,355.53, and the costs of the prosecution, taxed at $75.

Emmet Timley, counsel for Casady, stood by his side. None of his relatives was present in the court room or the building. His father-in-law, Lucius Wells, arrived thirty minutes after sentence was pronounced and found Casady in Sheriff McCaffrey's office, where he remained until time to take the Burlington train at 5:35.

The doors were locked and the last hours in the town where he was born and had spent forty years of his life were rendered in comparative privacy. Casady bade his wife and son adieu at his home shortly before 4 o'clock, but they were given permission to see him again at the sheriff's office.

Casady's shortage was $1,000 greater than the amount of his fine, but the balance was represented in money appropriated belonging to the superior court.

Product of Dixie Grown in Nebraska

Not only is Nebraska one of the most productive grain states of the union, but it has now been demonstrated that cotton, long thought to be a crop for the south exclusively, can be raised successfully here.

H. W. Williams, a writer at the Commercial club, entered into a compact with himself this summer to test the climate and the soil of Nebraska as a cotton producer. Now he has an exhibition at the Omaha land show a quantity of cotton, grown without artificial aid, and as fine as any produced in the far south.

Venturman Answers "I Don't Know" When Asked if Can Set Aside Opinions to Render Impartial Verdict.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 16.—When seemingly caught in its first snag, the McNamara murder trial in an instant today twisted itself out of a situation which had worried opposing counsel since last Wednesday and for the remainder of the day at least, went ahead joyfully.

"Could you set aside your opinions sufficiently to enable you to give a fair and impartial verdict?" was the question put to Talesman Z. T. Nelson by Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for James McNamara, who is on trial for the murder of Charles J. Haggerty, a machinist, killed in the Los Angeles Times explosion a year ago.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applications for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty cents and one dollar. However, if you wish first to test its wonderful merits, send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle, absolutely free. When writing be sure and mention The Omaha Daily Bee.

reformatory, before the American Prison congress here today.

In the New Jersey reformatory he said, "65 per cent of the inmates were found to be mentally deficient, and of these 88 per cent were physically defective." A special system of training must be adapted to such charges, he declared, and he challenged the belief of many that such charges should be kept in permanent custody.

Our success with this class on parole has been fully as good as it has been with the normal minded," said Mr. Moore.

A paper on prison construction by prisoners was read by A. H. Leslie of the Allegheny county workhouse, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The standing committee on prison discipline reported in part as follows: Rules and regulations degrading in their character, or which have been found to be more a menace to our system of prison discipline than otherwise.

When a man has been sentenced by the court to prison at hard labor, and during his confinement is of good behavior, he has the right to demand no further punishment will be inflicted upon him than that prescribed by the court.

The knowledge that special privileges are not granted to any prisoner that cannot be earned by every other is an effective discipline. So, also, is cleanliness of person, clothing, bedding and cell essential to good conduct.

The plan of grading prisoners, in operation in many penitentiaries, has undoubtedly brought about a more perfect system of discipline and should be adopted in all penitentiaries, while hunting in a part and small. It stimulates pride in most prisoners.

Productive labor in prisons not only greatly aids discipline and reformation, conserves the health of the prisoner and fits him to be self-supporting when discharged, but secures to the state relief from the cost of maintenance of the prisoners.

The warden or superintendent should be clothed with authority to appoint or remove the subordinate officers without hindrance or restriction.

and his party, accompanied by Governor Hiram Johnson and the latter's staff, arrived in Los Angeles today promptly on schedule time, 9:30 a. m.

As the parade passed slowly along the roped-off streets lined by thousands of persons, Mr. Taft was continually acknowledging the greetings of the populace.

Following the parade the president was escorted to Washington park, where 13,000 school children were assembled to welcome him.

Returning to Los Angeles he faced smilingly the necessity for another speech this time to the Afro-American league at Blanchard hall.
