Miss Yorke to Attend Land Show. Miss Alice Yorke, the dainty, vivacious society, leading woman with the chocolate party, leading woman with the chocolate party, leading woman with the chocolate party...

Between performances and rehearsals in Omaha, she has been lunched and dined and taken on jaunts enough to wear out any ordinary young woman. But Miss Yorke is not an ordinary young woman. Off, as well as on the stage her elasticity and good humor, she never falters in variety and interest in everything bubbles and sparkles as freshly and unceasingly as a mountain spring.

Miss Yorke loves candy, especially chocolates. Friday she and Mrs. Lund, wife of the director of the company, went through one of the local candy factories, where they were treated so royally that the little comedienne declared that she would not be able to sleep that evening. She tasted almost every kind of candy in the place and took a fancy to one particular kind of chocolates. The manager of the factory there and then planned to feature that candy on the market. It is to be put up in a box with Miss Yorke's picture on the cover and will be known as the "Alice Yorke chocolates."

There are only two things in the whole wide world that little Alice Yorke is afraid of—snore, and that is because she is a woman; and "first nights," and that is because she is an actress. She says that she need not have been the least bit frightened in Omaha, for the critics were "just lovely."

Miss Yorke has taken a great interest in the Land Show and is going to take a tour through the big exhibition this afternoon.

Social Settlement Musicals. Mrs. Samuel Katz will give an attractive musical at her home Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the benefit of the Social Settlement, at which two talented young women will present an interesting musical program. One of these musicals is Miss Fay Herzog of Lincoln, niece of Mrs. Katz; the other, Miss Helen Sommer of Omaha.

Miss Herzog is doubly accomplished. She both sings and plays. Three seasons ago she spent the year in Omaha studying voice with Mr. Thomas J. Kelly and piano with Max Landow and Miss Beila Robinson. She has spent the last two years in Chicago studying voice with Mme. Rosa Qlitta and piano with Della Thal, and plans to return to Chicago in January to continue her work with these two instructors.

Miss Sommer has recently opened a studio for violin instruction in Omaha and has made a marked impression at her appearance before the Tuesday Morning Musicals. Following is the program: Voice—(a) "Winter Lied," (b) "Autumn Song," (c) "Valse," (d) "Fingering Des Gendres," (e) "Mendelssohn's 'Sei es Bonheur,'" (f) "Gounod's 'Nina,'" (g) "Fay Herzog's 'Peripato.'" Piano—(a) "Fay Herzog's 'Peripato,'" (b) "Grieg's 'Jardins sous la Pluie,'" (c) "Debussy's 'Histoires,'" (d) "Mozart's 'Sonata,'" (e) "Schumann's 'Novelties,'" (f) "No. 10, 'Schumann's 'Fay Herzog.'"

Orkin Brothers 318-320 SOUTH 16TH. ST. Tailored Suits in Great Variety Paris Models and Reproductions, $25 to $125 In Plain, Semi-Tailored and Dressy Designs Very marked points of difference distinguish the three fashionable types of suits, and it is only through large stocks, most carefully selected, that each can be seen in its highest state of perfection. There is a big demand this season for the semi-tailored and fancy suits, and in these we have a remarkable showing of the most beautiful models conceivable. Exact reproductions of original French designs. Very interesting also are the plain tailored suits with their simple but unique designs and materials of wonderful weave and colorings. Coats for All Occasions Velour Coats, $45 to $145. Plain or elaborately trimmed in braids, fringes or furs. Some imported models. Others high class productions from foremost American manufacturers. Coats for All Kinds of Wear, $19.50 to $69.50 Charming new models of reversible fabrics, in both foreign and domestic styles. Beautiful trimmed coats, made of imported broadcloths and smartly tailored garments of English mixtures, chevots and tweeds. Evening Gowns, $45 to $225 There being but one of a kind in our showing of fine evening gowns, now, when the display is complete, is the time for making a selection. Beautiful Dresses, $19.50 to $39.50 We specially call attention to the great number of beautiful models between these prices. The designs are apparently simple, yet so remarkably smart and effective that one is at loss to solve the problem of how this charming result has been accomplished. The materials are velvets, corduroys, messalines, chiffons, serges, etc.

Pointed Paragraphs. Most of man's troubles wear petticoats. The flatterer is never compelled to eat his own words. Many people would be more truthful if they talked less. The artificial antics of some women seems perfectly natural. No Cordelia, a dancing academy isn't necessarily a hop joint. The goodness of some men depends more on the police than on principles. Even a miser doesn't take any more out of the world than he brought into it. If a man has money he can buy friends—but they are never worth the price. Unless you overestimate the average man he doesn't think you fully appreciate him. No man knows what he is capable of doing until his wife assumes the role of taskmaster. The wise girl doesn't take any chances by wearing a lot of pins in the vicinity of her waist line.—Chicago News.

Clearly Outclassed. "There's no use of talking," said Mr. Cumrox. "People's minds are a heap quicker than they used to be." "We move at a rapid pace," "Wonderful! My daughter has been away to school a year and a half and she has learned Greek, Latin, philosophy, dancing, music, mathematics, lawn tennis, painting and astronomy. And in more than half a lifetime I haven't learned to spell more than half the words in the English language."—Washington Star.
