It is needless to say that a store which has had a successful business career for more than twenty-one years, is a safe place at which to buy diamonds. Only fair dealings with the best quality at the lowest possible prices can keep an establishment in business for such a period and permit this business to grow steadily every year.

The Edholm store has gained a position in Omaha which makes it the place where all can buy diamonds or jewelry, feeling assured that they are getting goods for what they are represented to be.

No one can be deceived here, because the stones are marked plainly, and they can be tested or examined by any one who may wish to visit this store. Edholm Diamonds stand on their merit and intrinsic value. They will be proved to be worth all that is asked for them and will convince the prospective purchaser that he can get just as excellent value here for his money as he can secure any place in the country.

Such a store with such a reputation is the one place for the untutored in diamonds to do his buying. He will pay just what the stones are worth-just what he would pay in any reliable store in the country. Moreover, he will know that he is paying no more than the diamonds are worth.

Not every store maintains such a policy; not every store can advertise to do what Edholm does. Such a policy as the Edholm policy makes business grow because it creates confidence in the public.
