TRACTORS EASE FARM WORK

Machines Do Wonders and Supplant Many Horses.

LECTURES AT THE LAND SHOW

Big Power Plowing Demonstration Will Take Place This Afternoon at Thirtieth and Spencer Streets.

Tractors and traction farming has attracted attention at the Land Show as representing the vast work in modern farm methods. In addition to plowing demonstrations and seven tractor exhibits in machinery hall the management has provided a series of interesting and entertaining lectures.

A. E. Thompson of the Avery company has shown the Avery tractor in moving pictures and James A. King of the Hart-Parr company has been giving practical illustrated talks on the use of the various models of the Hart-Parr tractors and experimental farms near Charles City and Rudd, Floyd county, Iowa.

Following up this program a special lecture was given Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by M. L. W. Ellis of the Rumely company, La Porte, Ind., who stopped for a day at the Oilcup exhibit on his return from the dry farming congress at Colorado Springs.

Evolution of the Plow. Mr. Ellis' choice for his subject "The Evolution of Power and the Plow," tracing the development of the plow from the crooked stick of the unmodernized nations, to the present outfit that plow an acre in four and a quarter minutes. By means of realistically colored slides he represented the transition to the wooden plow, sulky, gang, disc and finally the engine plow in various types.

At the same time the change in applications of power, from the ox, the mule, the camel, the ox, the horse, the threshing engine and the steam plowing engine giving way before the modern gasoline and kerosene tractors.

Tractors shown at work. Tractors were shown plowing, discing, harrowing, harvesting and threshing the wheat crop—even combining in one operation the preparation of the ground and the seeding of the crop, while in another picture the tractor and the combined harvester were seen cutting, threshing and stacking 75 to 100 acres a day. Wide-wheeled engines plowing marsh land, where horses could not have been used, and others fording streams, climbing mountains, moving houses, building roads and railway grades, plowing in the snow of spring and threshing in the snows of winter were shown.

The tractor, said Mr. Ellis, "is busy the whole year through. Some day a single motor driven machine may displace the horse, the mule and the tractor, the mower, the cart and the binder, but I doubt it, and for the present, like the tired horse one occasionally sees leaning over the fence, I am perfectly willing to let the tractor do the work."

A Far Cry to the Spaders. After showing the immense shops devoted to the building of tractors and the long trains of engines on route to the wheat fields, the speaker concluded: "The manufacturer has done much to conserve human labor, which, next to human life, is our choicest asset. It is a far cry back to the days of Millet's 'Spaders.' Their work of centuries may now be concentrated in the space of weeks by an outfit recently shown at Purdue university, consisting of three kerosene tractors successfully yoked to the giant plow of fifty bottoms—the world's greatest spectacle of power on the farm—opening the door for enterprises so vast and equipment so gigantic that in a few years the turbines of the Olympics of the set, or the great central power plant on land, will no longer dwarf the agencies with which man accomplishes the fundamental task of feeding himself."

Mr. Ellis is a graduate of Iowa State college, at Ames, was formerly a traction plowing expert for the United States department of Agriculture, and is joint author of "Power and the Plow," a recently published work, which is the only treatise extant on power farming. He is a cousin of W. D. Elwood, manager of the Omaha Lightning Rod and Electric company.

GAS TRACTORS HAVE OTHER DAY

Demonstration This Afternoon at Thirtieth and Spencer.

So interesting and successful was the plowing demonstration given last week by the various gas traction companies which have exhibits at the Land Show that two other days have been set aside for them. Tuesday afternoon, October 23, and Thursday morning and afternoon, October 24.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the following companies will take part: Hackney Auto Plow company of St. Paul, Minn.; F. Hansen and William Leeb, Inc. in charge, who will have a one-hundred-horsepower engine pulling a one-hundred-bottom plow; International Harvester company of Chicago, Messrs. John Schmidt and L. Lease in charge, who will have a forty-horsepower engine pulling a forty-bottom plow; M. Rumley company of La Porte, Ind., L. W. Ellis in charge, who will have a fifteen-horsepower tractor pulling a six-bottom Oliver plow; Hart-Parr company of Charles City, Ia., H. Switzer in charge, who will have a twenty-two-horsepower engine pulling a machine—oil cooled, pulling an eight-bottom John Deere plow.

These large engines have awakened a great interest among the farmers and grain men, not only for the plowing that can be done, but the various other uses to which these machines can be put, such as hauling heavy loads of various kinds, threshing machines, etc.

A large crowd is expected, since no charge is made, and the demonstration will take place at Thirtieth and Spencer streets, which place can be reached by taking the Dodge car. Fred Kavan has charge of the program.

The Avery company of Omaha through the courtesy of their representative, Mr. George Perrin, will have two of their automobile trucks to carry spectators from the Land Show, which they have kindly consented to do free of charge.

Fixed for Speaking. KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—Angelo Catalano, Frank Miller and G. W. Schweizer, members of the Industrial Workers of the World organization, were fined $100 each in the municipal court here today for making public speeches on the streets.

Would Prove Fatal. TULSA, Okla., Oct. 23.—William Neff, former chief of police here, who was shot by Mrs. Fannie Fagan in her apartment here last Friday, died today. It is believed that the bullet was from the assassin and that the shooting was just what Neff deserved.

ZANE DIES AS RESULT OF FALL

Shopmen of Rock Island Shops at Valley Junction Vote to Accept New Schedule and Will Not Strike.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DEN MOINES, Oct. 23.—(Special Telegram)—The district court today sentenced W. W. Witmer, owner of the Savery hotel and for many years conspicuous in Iowa business and politics, to remain in jail until such time as he shall tell who is actually the owner of certain corporation stock. He appealed to the supreme court so that he will not have to suffer penalties for contempt.

The tax ferrets found that on the books of the American Type Foundry company he is credited with owning $50,000 worth of stock, and they insisted on his paying taxes on it. But he insists that he is not in fact the owner, but he merely holds the same in trust for somebody else, whose name he will not disclose.

Zane Dies of Injuries. Benjamin Zane, a farmer of Protection, Kan., died here today from injuries he received yesterday in falling into an open basement where a new building is being erected on that he leaves an estate valued at $200,000. He had come to Des Moines to visit relatives and was 72 years old.

Shopmen Vote Against Strike. The shopmen of the Rock Island shops at Valley Junction have voted on the proposal of the national organization with regard to a strike over the refusal of the railroad company to recognize their separate unions. A new schedule was presented before the shopmen voted to accept it and not to enter upon a strike.

Evidence Against Richeson to Be Sent to Grand Jury Soon

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 23.—The evidence against the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the Cambridge Baptist minister, charged with the murder of Avis Linnell, the young music student, will be presented before the Suffolk county grand jury at a special session on Thursday of this week, District Attorney Pelletier announced today.

One of the results of grand jury consideration of the case this week will be to forestall the municipal court hearing in the matter, which was to have been held Tuesday, October 24.

In the event that Richeson is indicted by the grand jury, District Attorney Pelletier plans to have the minister tried at a special session of the criminal court in January.

Chief Joseph Dugan of the bureau of criminal investigation said today that "in the whole story of the case so far there is not a guess nor a surmise."

It is also intimated from the district attorney's office that if the defense should attempt to develop the government's case against Richeson a further adjournment would be asked for and a special session of the grand jury convened at once.

The police admitted today that they needed further information regarding the place of the supposed meeting of the fatal Saturday between Richeson and Miss Linnell.

A more careful analysis of the stomach of the dead woman is being made by Prof. Whitney of the Harvard Medical school.

The authorities have decided to compare the poison found in the girl's stomach with the cyanide of potassium kept in stock by William H. Hahn, the druggist of Newton Center, who claims to have sold to Richeson a supply sufficient to kill ten persons.

A representative of the law office of Dunbar & Ranshman, counsel for the accused minister had an extended conference with Richeson today.

SOUTH DAKOTA FARMER KILLED BY LIGHTNING

MITCHELL, S. D., Oct. 23.—(Special)—Death by lightning came to Edward Hronish, who lives near Scotland. Starting from a neighbor's house to the place where he was staying, Mr. Hronish made the trip on horseback. He crossed a corn field and when in the middle of it a bolt of lightning struck him, killing himself and his horse. His clothes were torn to shreds, some of them being cast fifty feet distant, and what remained on his body were nearly burned up. Falling to return to his mother's home, the next morning a search was made for him and the tracks of the horse were followed into the corn field, where the remains were found. Mr. Hronish has been living on a claim out near Piedmont and had returned to Bon Homme county to thresh and husk his corn. He leaves a widow and a son.

Nine Men Killed

by Mine Explosion at Harrisburg, Ill.

HARRISBURG, Ill., Oct. 23.—Nine men were killed, ten gravely wounded were carried up by rescuers and fifteen more were imprisoned in a cave-in, as a result of the explosion of a keg of powder, which ignited black damp today in O'Garra mine No. 3, a mile south of here.

Eight of the nine men reported killed were Joseph Austin, Samuel Austin, his son; Frank Stecker, Samuel Barnaby, Daniel Bowen, William Stricker, "Chick" Parks and George Edwards.

That more lives were not lost was due to the fact that the shaft was changing when the explosion occurred.

The explosion, although it occurred 400 feet down in the earth and was muffled by the strata above it was heard here. Several men, protecting themselves with clothes over the noses and mouths, had themselves lowered down into the pit and began sending up the dead and injured.

Two men, it was found, had been instantly killed and were so terribly burned and torn that they could not be identified. Seven others sent to the surface were so badly injured that they soon died.

Most of the miners employed by the O'Garra company are Americans, although there are also a number of Poles. The mine is one of several owned in the field near here by the O'Garra Coal and Mining company of Chicago.

After the rescuers had brought up the dead and wounded they attempted to reach the men caught behind the cave-in. They were driven back by gases.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—All of the men not fatally injured made their escape through a safety door into mine No. 2, according to W. A. Brewerton, secretary of the mining company here. There are fifteen mines owned by the company in Harrisburg, employing about 5,000 men. Three hundred and sixty men reported for work in mine No. 3 today and 310 in the adjoining mine, No. 2.

RACE WAR AT COWETA, OKL.

Two Killed and Four Wounded in Clash of Whites and Blacks.

COMPANY OF MILITIA ON GUARD

Local Authorities, Assisted by Soldiers Are Searching Homes of Suspects and Seizing Firearms.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 23.—With two dead and four desperately wounded in last night's race riots at Coweta, twenty miles north of Muskogee, state militia today is maintaining martial law in the disturbed town and searching homes of negroes for arms. The soldiers have arrested numerous blacks and many others are under surveillance.

The dead, J. D. BEAVER, city attorney, shot to death by an unknown negro, and ED SULLIVAN, negro, rescued from hanging by the authorities only to be killed with bullets as the authorities attempted to take him from Coweta.

Seriously hurt, Carman Oliver, white, wounded during general firing, Stellar Thompson, white, Ed Ruse, who resisted arrest and with other negroes defied the city marshal, probably fatally wounded, and John R. Thomas, a section foreman, attacked early today by mob of negroes, probably fatally hurt.

City is Quiet. When news of the troops' coming spread early today among negroes in Coweta and surrounding country and villages quiet was restored. However, the local authorities, assisted by soldiers, began searching homes of negroes suspects.

This news spread and presumably caused the arrival later in the day of negroes from neighboring towns. White men from the outlying districts also began to arrive in Coweta. Herman Rea,
