SAMSON

Made Just Like Those Good Old Steel Ranges That Have Been in Service Thirty Years and Are Still Good

No matter what is claimed for a steel range, it is what it does in service that counts. The "Samson" is the result of all these years of experience and has proven itself. It has that extra heavy Wellsville polished steel plate body with the extra heavy cold rolled steel plate lining with heavy asbestos mill board between. That is the construction that has stood the test. The aluminumized base protects floor and body. The aluminumized oven will not rust. The small fire box takes but two shovelfuls of coal for a baking. The locomotive tile lining so good that ore-kilns and boilers use it altogether because iron will not stand the heat. The large oven with small space take up in the room, fits in any corner. We sell the "Samson" at $5 down and $5 a month.
