

year,-have you heard of the Milan

That is the latest and greatest of the Big Interest trusts and Mr. Trust-Buster Blumenberg is after it with hot shot and columns of lead in the Musical Cour-

It seems that the Metropolitan Opera Compaty of New York can produce Italfan opera only and by virtue of purchasing, each season, one new monopolymanufactured opera, whether it wants

In order to get what it needs, it has to buy what it does not want, and can dead people! not use,

It seems that Mr. Gatti-Casazza and Mr. Toscanini of the Metropolitan submitted to the Milan Monopoly Association Limited, as it were and Mr. Henry Russell of the Boston Opera Company

And now there is a tendency to sit up and observe whether the Boston public and the New York public is hungry for this particular kind of spaghetti, served in this way, a la Milanese. The style is certaintly hot.

It seems that this matter amounts up into the "tens of thousands" of dollars paid to the Milan Monopoly.

As in the other trust problems, which we have been assured are in existence, and which have been carefully diagnosed with much skill and care by our greatest specialists, so in this trust, there comes up that unfortunate "unforeseen complication," to wit-the Rebate.

Mr. Dippel pays four hundred dollars on a Saturday night, for example, for the right to perform Madame Butterfly" in Chicago. The Aborn English Opera Cosupany for the same opera, for the sa #2 night, for the same city, pays one hundred dollars? What is the reply? It is stated that Mr. Russell paid five years ago $75 for each performance of La Boheme. Today, Mr. Dippel would have to pay about $400!

All of which brings us to Mr. Dippel.

Mr. Dippel is the manager of the Chicago Grand Opera who is to go out and slay the dragon.

He insists that the production of open in this country is possible without the manacles of the Machiavellian Monopoly. And as Mr. Oscar Hammerstein, formerly of New York, now Mr. Hoscar 'Ammerstein of London, acted practically on the same lines as those laid down by Mr. Dippel, it is probable that Mr. Dippel will win out. It is interesting to say the least. Leoncavallo, Hammerstein and others have expressed opinions as to the control of the corporate interests of the myopic monopoly of Milan, and again comes the question of Copyright!

Again the question of Publisher! The composer does the work, the publisher gets the profits! The composer owns the land, sows the seed, puts in the labor: the "reading-machine-company" comes along at harvest time, and lends the machinery it owns, for a few days, and takes about 70 per-cent of the profits! and says, as it drives away, "If you did

Musical Notes.

When the Tuesday Morning Musical dub presents Charles Wakerleia Cadman, he composer-planist, and Paul Kennedy larger, tenor, in their celebrated lecture-Russell of the Boston Opera Company followed suit because he was unable to defy the malignant maramonism of the monopoly, which he might have been able to do had the Metropolitan possessed as much nerve as its has financial backing.

Mr. Russell, we are told, is through with the "Girl of the Golden West" thank you, but even in these days of easy divorces there is "nothing dolor". Mr. American cities, including an appearance American cities, including an appearance London as well as in all of the larg American cities, including an appearunce vorces, there is "nothing doing" Mr. Russell just has to keep his Girl, whether he wants to or not. He has to take seventeen Italian Operas, five being Puccini's and five Verdi's: in order to get "Alda" and "Otello," which the Boston management needs, the Boston management has to take a number that it does not need, paint scenery which it does not need, paint scenery which it does not need, paint scenery which it does not want, make costumes not needed, engage singers it does not require; it must pay money for the permission to produce operas which it does not want, in order to get the operas it does want. A nice little dish of spaghetti, indeed!
