Monsignor Hietel, the papal major domo, arrived here this evening from Vienna where he officiated at the marriage of Archduke Charles Francis. Farley Hears News.
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Dispatches from Rome announcing that Archbishop Farley would be created a cardinal were shown to his grace at the archiepiscopal residence this evening upon his return from a day's visit out of town.
"I cannot believe it," he said, and evidenced great surprise at the news. "I cannot believe it," he repeated, "notwithstanding that the news appears to be from a trustworthy correspondent whom I know well. However authentic it may be, you know it is entirely unsafe to credit unofficial advice in a case such as this. It is very unusual to announce such matters a whole month in advance."
The archbishop excused himself, but returned a moment later with a cablegram just received from Rome, which read:
"Heartiest congratulations your eminence." It was signed "Monsignor O'Keefe," an intimate friend of the archbishop and editor of the Rome, an English paper published in the Vatican city.
Notwithstanding this seeming confirmation the archbishop was not inclined to accept the news as a fact, fearing that, while it was highly welcome, he could not believe it.

The review will be an official one in every sense of the word and the president's party on the Mayflower will be confined to himself, Secretary Meyer, one or two aides, and Secretary Hills. The dispatch boat Dolphin will be taken along beside the Mayflower and will have a party of perhaps 100 on board.

but poor young men to acquire a good education and a fair start in life. In 1889 he established ten annual collegiate scholarships for the poorest, brightest and most deserving graduates of New York public schools, giving to the winners in open competition $250 annually for seven years, to pay for the expenses of a preparatory and college course. He also gave to Columbia university $100,000 for free tuition to winners in prize contests and established three free scholarships in Harvard college.
Probably the most important of his various educational gifts was the donation, in 1902, to Columbia university of $1,000,000 for the establishment and maintenance of a college of journalism, to rank with the similar professional schools of law, medicine, engineering and architecture. He also agreed to increase his endowment by another $1,000,000, after the school had been in operation and met with success three years.
His Home Life.
Mr. Pulitzer married Miss Kate Davis in Washington, D. C., shortly after his return from the west and she bore him two sons, Joseph Pulitzer, Jr., and Ralph Pulitzer. The latter had an excellent newspaper training under the direction of his father and showed such marked ability, that his father, in 1867, entrusted him with the management of the New York World and the presidency of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch company. Ralph Pulitzer married Miss Frederica Vanderbilt Webb, the only daughter of Dr. W. Seward Webb, and a granddaughter of the late Commodore Vanderbilt in 1868.
Mr. Pulitzer was always fond of outdoor life and retained his physical strength remarkably long, notwithstanding several nervous breakdowns and a serious affliction of his eyes which caused almost complete blindness during the latter part of his life.

MILLIONAIRE TALKS TUESDAY

R. A. Long, Lumberman, Comes to Speak for Brotherhood Work.

GIVES HALF TIME TO CHURCH

Donates by Tens of Thousands of Dollars to Hospitals, and Charitable and Educational Institutions.

R. A. Long, the millionaire Kansas City lumberman who, with his assistants, will hold two meetings in Omaha Tuesday to increase interest in the men's brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ or Christian church, occupies a unique position, not only among the men of his own denomination, but among all the churchmen of the United States.
Mr. Long is the largest individual contributor to the numerous missionary, educational, and benevolent institutions of the Disciples of Christ, and is said to devote as much of his time to church work as he does to his multiplicity of business affairs. With the passing of time and as he is able to shift the burdens of business onto the shoulders of younger men he will spend his entire time in church work.

Mr. Long became a member of the Disciples of Christ in Shelby county, Kentucky, when 19 years of age. He was drawn to the church because, then, as now, its distinguishing features were the rejection of all human creeds and denominational names, the recognition and practice of immersion only as baptism, and advocacy of the union of all Christians in one church. Divisions and sectarianism are denounced not only as undesirable, but as sinful.

First Church Donation.

Mr. Long's first large donation was made in 1901 to the church in which he held membership in Kansas City. Though the building it then occupied was not old, it had been outgrown. Mr. Long donated to the church to raise $30,000 more from the sale of the old building and erect a $100,000 house of worship. Since then Mr. Long has contributed to the church and its institutions in increasing sums. Among his beneficiaries have been Bethany college, Pennsylvania university, Oklahoma Christian university, Missouri Bible college, William Woods college, and Christian college. Recently he has made large donations for hospitals in the Philippine Islands and Japan, and for Young Men's Christian association work in India.
Mr. Long now devotes a twelfth of his time to tours in the interest of the men's brotherhood of the Christian church. It is this work which brings him here. The meetings will be held in the First Christian church, Twenty-sixth and Harney streets, Tuesday afternoon and evening at 7:30 and 9:30. The afternoon meeting will be for men, women and children; the evening meeting for men. Addresses will be given by Mr. Long, J. K. Shellenberger, field secretary of the brotherhood, and C. M. Chilton, president of the American Christian Missionary society. Solos will be given by W. E. M. Hackleman, who also will lead the congregational singing.

Bryan and Stephens Avoid Wet District

WEST POINT, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—The absence of Mr. Bryan in Cumby and certain other counties in the Third congressional district—his failure to support Mr. Stephens in his canvass by his presence on the platform—is regarded here as highly significant, clearly proving that Mr. Stephens is wise to the feeling existing in the democratic mind in this and several other counties regarding the "Feeble" leader. Mr. Stephens in arranging his itinerary has quietly cut out the wet areas in those localities where it was surmised his presence would be harmful to the "cause." The halo of his beneficent personality will be shed only upon the so-called "dry" counties of the district, according to the announced schedule.

NEWS NOTES FOR PERU

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Good Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary October 26.
PERU, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Good celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Thursday October 26, they having been married fifty years on that date. The event took the form of a dinner at which all their children and grandchildren were present. Mr. and Mrs. Good were married in 1861 in this county and have made it their home ever since, a goodly portion of the time being spent in Peru.
On Tuesday evening a lodge of the Woodmen of the World was organized at the Knight of Pythias' hall. A preliminary organization effected and officers elected. Branch Manager Walsh of Omaha was present to install the officers and to give instruction in the secret work, completing the organization.
A letter from Eugene Cole, a former Peru boy, now of Edgemont, S. D., to his father, D. C. Cole, in Peru, conveys the information that he has secured a patent on a railway train register and signaling device which is believed by the railroads to be the best thing of the kind ever invented. He has been offered a large sum of money for it.

Fairbury Farmer Badly Injured.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—George Hughes, one of the leading farmers in Jefferson county, is confined to his room as a result of jumping off a hayrack onto the handle of a pitchfork which penetrated his body eight inches. Mr. Hughes lives near Steele City in this county and was helping his brother to haul alfalfa. On arriving in the field, he threw out the fork and then jumped off the wagon. In some manner he landed on the handle of the fork and the handle penetrated his abdomen. Dr. Potter of Fairbury and Dr. Taylor of Steele City were summoned and an operation performed.
Mr. Hughes stood the operation well, but it will be a critical period for several days and his friends and relatives have grave doubts as to his recovery.

Dunbar Doctor Says Farewell.

DUNBAR, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Two hundred old neighbors and friends gave a farewell banquet to Dr. J. B. Lichtenwalder and family here last Thursday evening in the opera house. For fourteen years he has been Dunbar's family doctor but sold out recently and will soon drive to make Omaha his future home. Among the many who spoke were Hon. H. S. Westbrook, R. E. W. Love, M. T. Harrison, Thomas Murray, C. C.

SOULS NEED STRENGTHENING

Rev. F. T. Rouse Draws Strong Lesson—Learned at the Land Show.

ELEMENTS OF SOUL CULTURE

Says the Soil Culture and Soul Culture Have Very Much in Common with Many Interesting Analogies.

SERMON—EASTERLING
"I have learned at the Omaha Land exposition that there are many interesting analogies between soil culture and soul culture," said Rev. Frederick T. Rouse, speaking to a large audience at the First Congregational church Sunday morning.
"Taking his text from Matthew 4:—'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.' Rev. Rouse continued:
"It is necessary for plants to find certain ingredients in the soil to make them grow healthily and fit them for human food. The great and bountiful table that is set 20,000 miles long each day for Uncle Sam's family is laden with products that draw from the soil and all these elements: Oxygen, sodium, calcium, iron, hydrogen, nitrogen, carbon, sulphur, phosphorus and chlorine. Oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen, carbon and sulphur make about 99 per cent of the substance. The remaining, composing together only about 1 per cent, are yet essential to healthy development.
"As the plant needs these various elements, so the soul for its substance needs certain moral elements which are requisite for its vitality. These are spoken of as 'every word of God,' that is, the different elements of God's truth.
"These may be mentioned as elements for soul culture:
"The esthetic, or love of the beautiful. A man who does not love music or poetry or art should cultivate a little music, or poetry or art, for it is an essential to the soul. The man who does not consider the lily ought to consider the lily.
"The practice of charity is essential to soul growth. The rich M. E. Dodge of New York, when he climbed five flights of stairs to carry some relief to a poor family, was asked why he did not send the office boy. He said: 'I need the help that it brings me.'
"Truth and honor are fundamental elements of soul culture, and one does well to read the lives of those who have exhibited those characteristics.
"Good cheer is an essential element. When Queenie Briggs in Minneapolis found that her mates in a great factory at their lunch in silence and sullenness, she organized a 'Laughing club,' with the motto: 'It is better to be silly than sick.' The rule was made that every girl should bring a funny story and laugh between every mouthful. The result was that deals of merry laughter rang out. The girls actually began to gain in weight, and those who had had to be careful in their diet found they could eat most anything.
"Devotion is absolutely essential to soul life. This includes worship, gratitude and trust. I notice in the offices that men's voices are growing metallic; that men of care and hardness are coming into their faces. They have no secret place for prayer. They do not heed the command, 'Be still and know that I am God.'
"True Devotion Needed.
"Twenty years ago I marked out a tennis court in Maine, making the lines with slacked lime. After an interval of twenty years I have marked that court again, and I did it by following the old lines, which I could distinguish by the grass being darker and stronger where a little lime was added to the soil two decades ago.
"You will find, my friends, that where your soil is parched and thin a little true devotion will renew its strength and tone."
"Paul said: 'Whatever things are honorable, true, pure, lovely and of good report, think on these things.'
"Too often in our daily papers and other reading we find our thoughts on whatever things are vile, dishonest, criminal, hateful and of bad report.
"When I was in Crete last week I went into the new science building, into the chemical and biological laboratory. I can find more illustrations for my reasons in the museum of antiquities. And I said, 'I am going to preach on Soil Culture and Soul Culture next Sunday, and I want you to give me a good illustration.' He said, 'Come into my experiment room. Here are two plants, of the same kind, started the same way, nourished by exactly the same ingredients with one exception. This plant is given a minute portion of iron, and this has none. The first plant was strong, deep colored and thrifty. The other was pale, weak and visibly smaller.
"I said, 'There is my lesson.' Every soul needs a strengthening element like iron. What is that but faith? A strong conviction that God is God, and right is right, and right the day will win."

Auto Accident May Be Fatal.

HARVARD, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—As three persons were attempting to cross the Burlington tracks in an automobile last night about 11:30, they ran into the second engine of a double-headed freight train. The driver of the machine, said to be Fred Lehan, living some twelve miles southeast from this city, was seriously injured about the head, the other two escaping with slight bruises, then, as the injured man lay in a critical condition and the extent of injuries to his brain is at this time hard to determine.

CHALLENGERS WATCH THIRD

Picked Men Declare Registration Was Without Irregularity.

DEMOCRATS INSIST ALL SQUARE

Registration Over the City Unusually Heavy, and Especially So in the Third and Twelfth Wards.

The Third ward, that maligned ballfield, that ingloriously humiliated district, branded with ignominy and flayed by the pen, rose Saturday to the dignity of a sacred precinct, and demonstrated that its interests are those of the entire community.
Saturday was the last day for registration, and everyone who was able to be out qualified as a voter for the next twelve months. This held true in practically every precinct in town.
The center of interest, though, was in the Third ward, where everyone was watched with hawk-like eyes. In every precinct of this ward there was a system of double-catalogue checkers, or challengers, and statements from them are to the effect that everything passed off in ship-shape order.
Challengers, for the most part, were selected from the ranks of Creighton dental and pharmaceutical students, who are personal chums of the nominees of the democratic ticket, which is monopolized by graduates of that institution. They were selected because they are not entitled to votes and are supposed to be disinterested.
Conley Says All Straight.
Challenger Conley, in the First precinct of the Third ward, said: "I have been on only as a relief, but no irregularities have been reported to me. So I say if they have not produced anything yet, personally, I have not seen a thing wrong today."
J. A. Guttery of Creighton Dental college was the only challenger on duty in the Second precinct of the Third ward when the investigation was made. "Every man has been checked off by me as he came in," said Guttery, "and I would go on the stand and swear that everything that transpired here today was regular and according to law. We have been treated properly and every citizen has been treated as he came in here was given the same treatment."
In the Third precinct of the Third ward W. W. Hoy, another Creighton boy, presided for the democrats. "Everything has been on the square," said he. "There has not been any juggling and every man who came in here was duly sworn."
To Investigate Transfers.
J. H. Lobb, a Creighton pharmacy student, selected by the democrats, said that everything was absolutely O. K. "There are several transfers that will be investigated," he said, "but I believe that everything has been straight."
C. C. Calkett, pharmaceutical student also, presided for the democrats in the Fifth precinct of the Third ward. "There is absolutely no justification for the assaults that have been made by the News and the World-Herald against this precinct. I have been here practically every minute and I would go on the stand and swear that everything has been regular." Harry Claiborne, on the republican "all-gone staff, bore out these statements.
"A man has been properly sworn in, but a man has come in here who has not satisfied the law in every respect."
Registration in all of the wards was heavy. In the Third, for instance, more than 800 qualified, while it was not expected that there would be more than 500 at the outside. In the Twelfth the registration will run beyond 1,000. In the Fourth precinct alone the figures stood 857, with 190 republicans, seventy democrats, twenty-four no choice and three socialists, with no gain in the latter ranks.

Brief for Initiative Sent to Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—In the name of the states of California, Arkansas, Colorado, South Dakota and Nebraska, George Fred Williams of Boston today sent to Washington a brief calling upon the supreme court of the United States to hold constitutional the initiative and referendum method of legislation adopted by Oregon. Next week he expects to ask the court for permission to file it on behalf of these states, when the Oregon case, involving the constitutionality of the method, comes up for oral argument before the court. Imperfect political conditions in this country have led to a demand for the initiative and referendum method of legislation. Mr. Williams informs the court. He speaks of the demand for it as a part of the "reaction against the control of privilege."

DAILY LETTER ABOUT Nemo CORSETS

New York, October 29, 1911.

DEAR MADAM:

We want to tell you some reasons why Nemo Corsets are so much more durable and comfortable than any others. You already know that they ARE, but probably you don't know just why.

In the first place, the very best of materials are none too good for the Nemo; and we have even had to invent new fabrics to get them good enough. Every yard of material is accurately tested for strength, by means of specially devised instruments.

As you know, Nemo Corsets never stretch and lose their shape. That is because the seams are sewed in such a way that there is no "give" to them. This is done by machinery of our own invention which is built in our own machine shops. Now you can understand why other manufacturers can't make corsets that won't stretch—we invented and now own the only machines in existence that can do the work that way.

Again: Every Nemo Corset must pass the eagle-eyes of no less than a dozen skilled inspectors before it can get into its box. The slightest imperfection shuts it out from all chance of ever reaching your hands.

Nemo Corsets outwear all others because every Nemo represents at least twice as much value, in material and making, as any other corsets sold at the same prices. We can afford to give you double value because we make more high-priced corsets ($3.00 and upward) than all other American manufacturers combined.

As for comfort, that is simply the result of skillful designing along correct physiological and hygienic lines, whereby the corset is made to fit the figure so that no steel or seam can press upon nerve, bone or artery. It takes years to master this art.

It is simply impossible to imitate Nemo Corsets successfully. Self-Reducing Corset No. 523 (pictured today) is an example of that fact. No fabric except Lastikops Webbing can possibly be used for the Bandlet which makes this the greatest reducing corset ever constructed for women who need perfect abdominal support from underneath.

No. 522 is a similar model, but with a slightly higher bust. These are the corsets which thousands of physicians are heartily recommending and even "prescribing." Please think that over.

Shoemaker Turns Out to Be Woman After Many Years

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 28.—Hundreds of Salt Lake City people who have patronized "William" H. Cleary, a shoemaker, for twenty years, were surprised to learn today that "William" is a woman. Mrs. Cleary, who was left a widow twenty years ago, succeeded to her husband's trousers and his business, and it was only when an observing bystander watched her slight from a street car that her sex was discovered. So well did she preserve her disguise that she was employed for years as instructor in the industrial departments of the University of Utah, and the Ogden school for the deaf and blind.

Mrs. Stannard Not Guilty of Murder

ONTONAGON, Mich., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Laura Stannard tonight was acquitted of the charge of murdering her husband, Charles S. Stannard of Greenland, last March, by strychnine poisoning. The jury was out an hour and ten minutes.
Throughout the trial, which began on October 16, Mrs. Stannard professed the greatest affection for her husband and declared that he was affectionate to her, except when he was drinking, and that she had become cruelly abusive. Her four children clung to the prisoner during her trial with marked devotion.
