Decision in Safety Appliance Act Foreshadows This.

INTERSTATE BUSINESS TEST

Justice Vandevanter Holds That Act Applies to All Equipment on Highway of Interstate Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Complete control of the roads of the country by the Interstate Commerce commission and virtual elimination of the state commissions from such control is foreshadowed in an opinion given yesterday by the supreme court of the United States.

In its opinion the court held that compliance with federal laws is compulsory on all railroads which are engaged in the transportation of persons or freight from one state to another.

Members of the Interstate Commerce commission, who have been embarrassed on numerous occasions by clashes of authority with state commissions are jubilant at the ruling of the supreme court, which was unanimous.

Referring to the court's opinion, Commissioner Franklin K. Lane declared it meant, eventually, that there is to be no dual control of interstate carriers. The determination of this mooted question was laid down in an opinion by Justice Vandevanter in a case instituted by the government against the Southern railway.

Justice Vandevanter held that the law applied to all equipment on a highway of interstate commerce, whether at the time it was carrying interstate or intrastate commerce.

Speaking of both interstate and intrastate commerce, says Justice Vandevanter, "these things are of common knowledge—both classes of traffic are at times carried in the same car and when this is not the case the cars in which they are carried are frequently combined in the same train and in the switching and other movements at terminals.

Rate Cases Not Involved. Those who usually examined the opinion were divided as to whether on the litigation as to whether a state may regulate freight and passenger rates on interstate traffic when such regulation interferes, or might interfere, with interstate commerce.

Wants National Regulation. "We must have a national system of railroads under national control and regulation. I believe that finally the government will determine, as the government of Canada, for instance, determines, whether a proposed line of railroad shall be constructed.
