at $9.25 at $9.25

Doesn't make any difference to YOU if these ARE sample overcoats, if they're in the styles and cloths of new, does it? Well, sir, these are heavy English overcoats; some chevots, Homespun and Kerseys. Many in those new grey or tan vertical or diagonal stripes. Plaids too. Presto and Konvorto collar styles and some few novelties in Raglan shoulder effects.

The lot of "Sample" suits offered at $9.25, includes for the most part, the swagger rough fabrics worn so much now. Colors include the King's Blue and others as good. May be had in Semi-English styles and the regular three-button sack effects. Of course you have an idea that $9.25 won't do much in the way of style, but why not come and SEE anyway?

FIRE DRILL IN TIME OF NEED

Pupils at Leavenworth School Hurried from Burning Building.

WERE PRACTICING FIRE DRILL

Blaze is Soon Extinguished and the Pupils All Leave Building in Safety Before They Are Aware of the Fire.

Friday was observed throughout Nebraska as "Fire Day" in the public schools, but the wisdom the legislature displayed in setting aside the first Friday in November as a day when the children in the schools should be drilled in the manner of escaping fires and preventing conflagrations was nowhere proven so practical as in Omaha, where a real fire occurred.

At the Leavenworth school; Seventh and Leavenworth streets, preparations were being made for the usual fire drills. The children were lined up for a quick escape from the supposed-to-be burning building.

Suddenly Tom Hamlin, the janitor, turned in a fire alarm and the principal, Miss Fannie Forsythe, saw wreaths of smoke coming up from the basement. She calmly completed the fire drill and a minute later the children were safely outside the building, just as the fire department came thundering on the scene.

The fire occurred in the boiler room and for a time looked as if it might result in the destruction of the building. Unable to cope with it at the outset alone, Mr. Hamlin gave the alarm and then coupled a small hose to an adjacent hydrant and was soon in control of the situation. When the department arrived the fire was nearly out and its services was not needed. The school was dismissed for the day.

Children in the school were not aware of the fire until they were safely outside. Fire drill had been expected and none of them was alarmed, as it is customary to have a fire drill suddenly in order to prevent panics should a fire occur. In the other schools of the city the regular drills were carried out, the remainder of the time being given to instruction by the teachers. The work was done by the students in an eager manner as a rivalry for the best reputation as "fire drillers" has sprung up in the various schools, which lends an added zest to the drills held monthly under the rules of the Board of Education.

WOLCOTT WILL BE TRIED FOR FORGERY NEXT WEEK

Orville C. Wolcott, the former Prudential Life insurance company agent, who is charged with forgery and embezzlement, will be placed on trial for forgery Thursday of next week, according to present plans of County Attorney English and Stanley M. Rosewater, Wolcott's attorney.

Stabbing Affray May Yet Be Fatal to Thomas Broderick

William Maher, bartender for Henry Mann, who fatally stabbed Thomas Broderick of 2109 Douglas street Thursday night in a quarrel in Mann's saloon at 1308 Farnam street, and who latter fled the city, was captured Friday morning in Council Bluffs by the Bluffs police. He will return to Omaha without causing trouble by making requisition papers necessary.

Broderick and Maher became engaged in a quarrel shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday and the bartender suddenly whipped out a knife and plunged it into Broderick's side and face. The victim was taken in a private ambulance to St. Catherine's hospital and an attempt was made to keep the affair secret. Later when Broderick's condition became so serious that his life was considered to be in danger the police were notified and a search for Maher began. It is thought that Broderick cannot recover.

Placards to Direct Visiting Teachers

When the forty-sixth annual session of the Nebraska State Teachers' association convenes in Omaha next Wednesday, the school principals and school masters will find each street placarded with information—bulletins directing them to the various places where the twenty-five sectional sessions are to be held.

Dr. H. A. Senter, head of the department of chemistry of the Omaha high school, is chairman of the bulletin committee, and Friday a meeting was held and the decision to placard the town with information bulletins reached.

Reservations have been made at all the hotels, and few accommodations are left for the three days of the convention. The Nebraska School Masters' club has a little late in asking for rooms and members were saved from discomfort and annoyance by the generous action of the University club, which has placed the club at their disposal. Tuesday evening the School Masters' club will banquet at the University club. Several hundred members are expected to attend.

The bulletin committee will not only place placards in all the larger store windows and in prominent places along the streets, but will hang a huge banner across Fifteenth and Farnam, directing the teachers to the Auditorium, where the general meetings will be held.

Big Fire at Bloomington, Ill. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 3.—Wholesale grocery house of Campbell, Holton & Co. was today destroyed by fire with a loss of $125,000 on stock and $40,000 on the building.

Dr. Connell Has Bill for Four Thousand Against the County

A little bill against Douglas county for something more than $4,000 for keeping track of births and deaths in the county was shown to County Commissioner E. Elasser by Health Commissioner Peter E. W. Connell Friday. The health commissioner informed Mr. Elasser that in due course of time the bill will be filed with the county commissioners and payment requested. Mr.

Elasser said the claim will be referred to County Attorney English.

Health Commissioner Connell's claim is based on a state law providing that the county pay the health commissioner a fee of 25 cents for each birth and each death. It will be the first claim filed under this law.

Dundee Store to Open on Saturday

Saturday will see the opening of a store in Omaha by the Dundee Woolen Mills, said to be the largest union tailoring concern in the country, with 107 stores in the United States and Canada, from coast to coast.

The store is located in the ground floor of the newly remodeled Redick building at the northwest corner of Fifteenth and Harney. It will be in personal charge of Harry L. Brower, division manager of this division, which comprises the stores in Omaha, Lincoln, Council Bluffs, Sioux City, Burlington, Ia., and East St. Louis, Ill. The concern mills its own goods in Dundee, Scotland.

A "mechanical man" will walk the streets Saturday doing stunts and giving away souvenirs as an advertisement for the new store.

Big Shaft Breaks at the Motor Car Shops

By reason of the breaking of a shaft on one of the big lathes at the McKee motor car shops, twenty-five men are laid off for a week. The shaft being of peculiar construction, a new one could not be made in the local shops of the Union Pacific and it became necessary to send to Pittsburgh for a new one. The breakdown in no wise interferes with the general work in the McKee shops, there being enough work ahead to keep everybody busy, aside from the men who worked with and around the lathes.

Demo Bosses Have List of Specials to Be Appointed

County Commissioner Jeff W. Bedford and Peter E. Elasser granted the request of Louis J. Platt, democratic county chairman, and Charles S. Fanning, democratic boss, that ten deputy sheriffs be employed to watch for and prevent illegal voting at the election next Tuesday.

They told Platt and Fanning that the county board will pay the deputies $3 each for the day. They said they would have the county board authorize the action later in the day. Platt and Fanning immediately went to Deputy Sheriff W. A. Foster and submitted a list of names from which they wish him to select deputies. He said he will appoint deputies but didn't indicate whether or not he will feel himself obliged to be governed by the list they presented.

After the ceremony the bridal pair was given a wedding supper at the home of Robert W. Oliver. Mr. and Mrs. Wichtmann will spend their honeymoon touring in an auto.
