Fullback of Omaha Easily Exceeds Jamison, the Kicker, for Missourians—Tackles Ground Gainers.

The Omaha High eleven avenged their defeat of last year by trouncing the much-touted championship St. Joseph Central High team to the overwhelming tune of 38 to 10 at Rourke park Saturday afternoon.

The game was played with the temperature hovering around ten degrees above the zero mark and snow flurries, combined with a strong north wind, added to the disadvantage of either team playing anything like ideal foot ball. As a consequence there was fumbling continually, although St. Joseph seemed to feature in this particular part of the game. The two elevens resembled hockey players as they dashed about clad in heavy sweaters and wearing snug tassel caps. Some of the players wore gloves and one energetic youth had a pair of earmuffs instead of a headgear.

Rector at fullback for the purple and white was the feature of the game with his wonderful line plunges and end runs, and excellent interference on the part of the back showing up at all times. Omaha's two tackles, Rachman at left and "Die" Carlson at right, both figured as sure ground gainers, and time and again big Rachman dragged two or three of the St. Joseph players for five yards or more until he was downed. De Lamare and Munnake, halves, and Gebz, quarter, pulled off some excellent interference and good individual gains. Millard, left end, tore off a thrilling thirty-five-yard run in the third quarter which brought the crowd to their feet.

Johnson at right half, starred for the visitors, scoring both of their touchdowns. Jamison, captain and quarterback, was a consistent player and, despite the fact that he was handicapped by having a weak line, was able to get away for several good gains.

Back Fields Well Matched.

St. Joseph was slightly outdistanced on the line, but the backfields of the two teams were about evenly matched. No one was injured during the game and the lineup of the both teams remained the same throughout all four quarters, except when Charles Bordeu was sent in at right tackle for the Missourians in place of Bell in the first quarter.

A large crowd attended the game despite the wintry weather and yelting themselves hoarse from beneath blankets.
