FOOT BALL HONORS AT STAKE

Next Saturday's Game Likely to Decide the Question.

GOPHERS' CHANCE IN WEST

Many Strong Teams in East that Will Claim Premier Honors No Matter What is Outcome.

Foot ball has reached its semi-final stage. In the middlewest, in fact, the week-end may see the championship of the "Big Eight" in that section decided, and also may see the championship of the "Big Four" in the east claimed.

The Minnesota eleven, whose uninterrupted succession of victories in the central west has made that team a favorite, meets the strong Wisconsin team at Madison Saturday and if the former wins the championship of the intercollegiate conference goes to Minnesota. If the Minnesota men lose and Wisconsin meets defeat by Chicago a week later, the three teams will be tied for the premier honors.

The championship of the old "Big Four" in the east will also likely be claimed as decided, if Princeton wins from Yale next Saturday, as the Tigers already have taken a game from Harvard and have not met defeat this season. Princeton's victories over Harvard and Dartmouth however, have been by the smallest margins and the Tigers have twice been tied —by Lehigh and the Navy.

Ell is Favorite.

For these reasons, and Yale's showing (all against teams which Princeton has not met) old Ell already is favorite for final honors. It has however, met one defeat, by the Army, but its oldest rival Harvard, twice has been beaten by both Princeton and Carlisle. Pennsylvania has been eliminated by three defeats.

Outside the so-called "Big Four" there are several eastern colleges whose records promise some basis for championship boasts. The Carlisle Indians, who have beaten Harvard, and the West Point cadets, who defeated Yale, have not suffered defeat. The Army, with only two points scored against it, has the best showing on that basis of any of the larger colleges, while Carlisle has run up the biggest total of points, 246.

Annapolis is also in the unbeaten class, Dartmouth has only the freak goal made by Princeton Saturday to mar its winning record and Cornell only defeated by Pennsylvania state. Brown also has played a strong game, running up a total of 169 points to its opponents 35. In the tabulation which follows the one thing conspicuous is the fact that not an eleven this year presented a wholly clean slate.

Team.	Scored.	Oppon'ts
Yale	158	9
Harvard	82	22
Princeton	113	12
Brown	169	35
Dartmouth	134	17
West Point	76	0
Annapolis	115	11
Pennsylvania	101	63
Cornell	82	5
Carlisle	246	25

OMAHA HIGH TO MEET THE C. B. TEAM THIS WEEK

Now that Omaha High has defeated the St. Joseph Central High school eleven, the school on Capitol hill has attained high prestige.

Omaha expected a harder game with St. Joseph than was pulled off Saturday and the locals' overwhelming score of 38 to 19 on the Missourians surprised the fanfous and upset all the dope on St. Joseph's championship aspirations.

The team will clash with Council Bluffs High at Bourke park Saturday in their first game since 1909. The Bluffs boys were barely able to defeat Creighton High Saturday by the low score of 5 to 0, but Coach Burnett will not take any chances in practice this week and the squad will be drilled to a fine edge for Saturday's game.

Practically all of the eleven did not get into the St. Joseph game because of ineligibility in studies, but this week will see him out for practice once more with the squad. Virgil Rector, fullback, has captained the team in the last three games.

Council Bluffs Team Wins at Harlan

HARLAN, Ia., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—In one of the best foot ball games ever witnessed on the local gridiron, the Joe Smith team of Council Bluffs defeated the Western Iowa Vocational college team of this city by a score of 5 to 0. Although outweighed ten pounds to the man, the college boys put up a game fight and not only held the heavier team, but had the visitors' goal in danger several times. Many spectacular plays were made by both teams, among them being a forty-yard forward pass by Lowry of the visitors. Holsington for the college, outpunted Lowry, making several kicks of forty and fifty yards. Following is the lineup:

Gophers Working Hard for Wisconsin

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 12.—With the game against the University of Minnesota at Madison scheduled for next Saturday, the University of Minnesota foot ball team will prepare this week for what is expected to be its hardest contest of the season. Last week the practice was extremely light in the Minnesota camp. Dr. Williams, it is said, refused to give his charges harder work that they may enter the game next Saturday with none on the hospital list.

Part of the work has been done in the hippodrome building where Pickering, Capron, Smith and Morrell have been given workouts on kicking, in order to meet the booting ability of "Reckie" Moll.

Smith, who has been playing guard, also has been working out at center, which position has been held by Morrell since he fought his way past the eligibility committee.

Franklin High Fails to Score on Alma

ALMA, Neb., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Coach Beltzer took the Alma High school foot ball team to Franklin yesterday and defeated the Franklin High school, 11 to 0. The game was hard fought from start to finish. Alma never let the ball get over the twenty-five-yard line during the game. A twenty-yard run was the longest made during the game and was made by Harstine of Alma. Long and Mead for Alma each made a touchdown, and Jackson kicked goal. Franklin failed twice to kick goal from the twenty-five-yard line. A number from here accompanied the team. Bloomington plays here next week. The Alma boys have not been beaten this season.

SIEVERS WILL ATTEND BASE BALL MEETING

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—President Henry Sievers of the Nebraska State league left yesterday for St. Louis, where he will join the special of a party of base ball officials for the big meeting at San Antonio, Tex., next week. Mr. Sievers is not a candidate for re-election as president next year, but he wants the state league represented at the meeting and attends the same at his own expense.

Gothenburg Defeats Lexington.

GOTHENBURG, Neb., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Gothenburg High school defeated Lexington High yesterday 13 to 0. Notwithstanding the fact that both of Gothenburg regular ends were not allowed to play by the faculty, Lexington was outplayed from start to finish.

Some Dope on Eastern Foot Ball

GRIDIRON KINGS WHO ARE PRIME FACTORS IN THE DECIDING OF THE FOOT BALL CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE EAST THIS FALL.

On the left is Walter Camp, jr., of Yale, who is proving a star this season. He was laid up with a sprained ankle last year, but is in fine trim now and holding down one end of the Ell line.

On the right is a photograph of the wonderful Eardleton practising a place kick for goal, with Captain Ed Hart holding the ball. These two men are the main strength of the Princeton team.

The small portrait above is of Percy Haughton, Harvard's coach, who faced the job of having to develop an almost entire team from raw material, his mainstays of last year being lost by graduation.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE PROGRESS

Six States in Line, Submission in Another and Two More in Prospect.

California is the sixth state to grant full suffrage to women. The first state in the union to take this step was Wyoming, in 1869. There was no other addition to the states where women might vote until 1893, when Colorado granted them the franchise. In 1896 two states, Utah and Idaho, passed suffrage amendments to their constitutions. The state of Washington had a vote on the question at the election of 1910, and gave the vote to women, although the measure had been twice defeated in that state, in 1889 and again in 1898—once by 10,000 and later by 9,000.

The state of Kansas will submit the question to its voters this fall, a resolution having passed both houses of the state legislature last February calling for a popular vote on the suffrage amendment. In that state women have enjoyed the right to vote on public school questions since 1861, eight years before Wyoming gave women universal suffrage. Municipal suffrage was granted in 1887, and "bond suffrage" in 1903. The legislature of Kansas defeated a resolution granting full suffrage in 1909.

At the election of 1910, when Washington voted in favor of woman suffrage, the proposal was defeated in the neighboring state of Oregon. It was also lost on the same day in South Dakota and Oklahoma. The constitutional conventions of both Arizona and New Mexico were urged to insert the suffrage provision, but in both cases it was voted down.

School suffrage for women exists in 29 states, from New Hampshire to Washington. These states are Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Idaho, Kansas, Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Ohio, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wyoming and Wisconsin.

THROBS OF A MISSPENT LIFE

Out of the Crowd on Broadway a Woman Emerged, Then Sank Again.

A little, old man, shrunken of frame, whose white hair fell nearly to his shoulders, stood on Broadway, New York, playing a battered violin. Beside and "L" pillar stood a woman. She might have been 40 or less. Her face was powdered. Her dress was shabby, her hat two seasons old. As the old man was passing the hat she said to him:

"Will you let me look at your violin?" He handed it to her. She took the instrument tenderly, handling it with almost reverent care. She tightened the strings, touching them lightly with her fingers as she moved one and another of the keys.

"Will you let me see your bow?" she asked of the old man. He passed it to her without comment. It seemed as if he knew instinctively the fiddle was safe in her hands. She tightened the bow, placed the violin under her chin and began to play. The old man stared. From the battered violin came melody far different from the tunes he had sawed out of it. The hushed crowd gaped at the shabbily dressed woman. Her playing was wonderful. Imaginative listeners heard the roll of thunder, the driving of rain, then the twittering of birds under blue skies; finally the sobbing of a human being in pain. Women in the crowd wept, so did the aged owner of the violin.

The face of the player grew paler, more set, but no tears shone in her eyes. She played on to the last note. A policeman was wedging his way through the throng, which threatened to halt traffic. The woman looked toward him, handed the violin and bow to the owner with a simple "Thank you," and quickly was lost to view in the throng. But the policeman had seen her face.

"Who is she?" asked a bystander.

"Oh, this is her beat," said the blue-coat, waving his hand up and down the avenue.—New York World.

The Simple Life.

Anna Maria Wilhelmina Pickering, in her Memoirs, edited by her son, tells a Yorkshire incident which contains a great deal of human nature. Variety spices life; the plain is monotonous until its extent entitles it to the name of prairie or desert, and it gains interest through vastness.

There was an old couple in the village whom I used often to go to see. One day, when I found them sitting, one on each side of the fire, the old man said to me:

"Well, t'missis and me, we've been married nigh on fifty years, and we've never had a quarrel."

The old woman looked at me with a twinkle in her eye and said:

"It war verie conscientious, but varie dool."—Youth's Companion.

FRANK AND WARNER IN FORM

Cornhusker Backfield Stars Once More Show Fitness.

IN GOOD SHAPE FOR KANSAS

Racely is Recovering and Expectation is He Will Be Saved to Match Speed of Craig of Michigan.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 12.—Despite almost unprecedented cold foot ball weather Saturday, when a new low weather mark for the month was established in Lincoln, the Doane game brought rejoicing to the Cornhuskers in the return of Owen Frank and Jerry Warner to form. For the last two weeks the work of the two stellar players in the Cornhuskers' back field has been slumping owing to injuries and overtraining.

Against Doane, however, both Frank and Warner showed their old-time speed and cleverness in handling the ball and played a dashing game especially on the offense. The last few days' rest has worked wonders in the development of the speedy pair and it is now believed that they will be in the best of condition for th' big game with Kansas next Saturday at Lawrence.

The remainder of the team is also in good condition, and while the week will be one of the hardest ones of the season insofar as long scrimmages will be in order, it is expected that every member of the squad will be in the best of condition.

Racely, the speedy little halfback, will be in shape probably to enter the game against Kansas, and even if he is in shape it is extremely doubtful if Stiehm will use him. Racely is being saved for the Michigan game, to offset the speed of Craig, the Michigan backfield star. Racely is the only man on the team who approaches Craig in speed and his presence in the game is absolutely necessary. He suffered a badly twisted leg in the Missouri game and has been practically out of the practice work since then.

The defeat of Kansas by Oklahoma yesterday aroused no surprise in Lincoln. In fact, it was expected the "Sooners" would triumph by a larger score than they did. Nebraska is not discounting the Jayhawkers' strength because of the defeat.
