DISFIGURING ECZEMA CURED IN 2 WEEKS

Blisters Broke and Formed Scabs. Nose Covered with Them. Very Itchy. Used Cuticura Remedies. Now Hasn't a Single Mark.

"My nephew first showed signs of eczema on the middle finger, and it came out like a blister. His mother thought he had gotten a burn in some way unknown to her, and she treated it as such. He must have rubbed his face with that hand, as it then broke out on his nose the same way. When the blisters broke, they shriveled up and formed scabs. His nose was covered with scabs, and it was very itchy. He was badly disfigured with unsightly scabs. At first, his nose was sore, and it gradually became worse as his mother took him to the doctor. He gave her some preparation, and told her to rub the scabs off with the medicine he prescribed. The man must have been insane, as that was extreme torture to the child who was only two years old at the time, and that was two years ago. Well, he decided that that treatment would have to end. I suggested Cuticura Ointment and he bought it and it cured him in two weeks. He had the eczema for four weeks altogether, but was getting gradually worse until they used the Cuticura Remedies, and he was cured in two weeks. He most certainly would have been scarred for life if he had not used Cuticura. Cuticura Remedies cured him in two weeks, and now he always keeps them in the house." (Signed) Miss Ida S. Smith, 23 South Fifth St., Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4, 1911.

Club Women Plan Big Luncheon for Mrs. E. Pankhurst

Should Mrs. Kamelina Pankhurst, the British suffragette who is to speak in Omaha Friday evening at the Boyd, be invited to be honor guest at a luncheon in the name of the "citizens of Omaha," or of the "women of Omaha"?

This technically came up at the meeting of the heads of the women's clubs of the city at the Young Women's Christian association Monday morning to plan a social affair for Mrs. Pankhurst Saturday.

To invite Mrs. Pankhurst in the name of the citizens of Omaha seemed in keeping with the fame of the honor guest. But since the women are giving the affair and since they are not yet full-fledged citizens, it was decided to invite Mrs. Pankhurst in the name of the women of Omaha.

The luncheon will be held Saturday at 4 o'clock at the Boyd. The Social Service club will be asked to co-operate with the women's organizations and invitations for the affair will be sent to leading men and women of Omaha to the number of about 400.

Mrs. M. D. Cameron, chairman of the general committee, will appoint subcommittees and they will communicate by telephone with those to be invited. Mrs. Draper Smith is chairman of the place committee. Mrs. Charles J. Volmer is in charge of the decorations, which will be for both lecture and luncheon in purple and green, the color of the Women's Social and Political union of which Mrs. Pankhurst is the originator and head.

There was some discussion as to who would act next to the famous guest. It was finally decided that she should sit between Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. W. E. Shafer, president of the Omaha Woman Suffrage society.

Among those who met this morning were: Mesdames M. D. Cameron, Omaha Woman's club; Draper Smith, Associated Charities; W. E. Shafer, Suffrage society; W. B. Howard, American Woman's league; Charles I. Volmer, Suffrage society; E. R. Hume, Woman's club; D. C. Dodds, Woman's Railway Mail Service club; T. E. Brasz, West Side Woman's Christian Temperance union; W. H. Ina, City, Desver, San Francisco, Cleveland, and a number of the large western cities, getting into town with charitable and municipal organizations, so that he can tell the people who are ignorant of the real possibilities in the United States, of the many overlooked opportunities.

Miss Laura Baldwin Taken Critically Ill

News has been received here of the probable fatal illness of Miss Laura T. Baldwin. Miss Baldwin is at the home of her sister, Miss Janet Baldwin, at Berwin, Ill. All of the relatives have been called to the bedside. Miss Baldwin is suffering from heart trouble due to a tumor, which surgeons ascertain could not be removed by an operation, and the information received yesterday was that it had burst, leaving little hope for her recovery.

Miss Baldwin has spent nearly all of her life in Council Bluffs, where she was born. She is one of the best of the late John N. Baldwin, general solicitor of the Union Pacific. The other sisters, Mrs. Ament of Denver and Mrs. Walker of Memphis, are now at her bedside.

Miss Baldwin has always been prominent in Council Bluffs and Omaha social life, but has greatly distinguished herself in altruistic education. When Mrs. Cudany established the Jeanie club in Omaha for the benefit of young girls she placed Miss Baldwin in charge, and when it became necessary to abandon the club on account of the removal of Mrs. Cudany to Chicago, she was in charge of the club of the same name and character but of greater scope. It was while in the discharge of her work there that the dangerous malady became manifest. Miss Baldwin went to Berwin, where Miss Janet is a teacher in the public schools.

TRANSPLANT THE IMMIGRANT

New York Sociologist Would Better Condition of Foreigners.

SEEKS INFORMATION IN OMAHA

Says Newcomers Are Afforded Unlimited Opportunities Away from Congested Port Towns—Jewish Societies Co-operate.

"There are thousands of foreigners in the larger cities who have been in this country only a few years, and whose conception of America goes no farther than the limits of the city which they happen to be ignorant of the economic conditions of the country, these persons are undesirable citizens in their present circumstances, but if they could be transplanted they would form a most desirable part of the population, and for this reason I say turn the tide of immigration away from the cities and into the west. Now is the time to start this distribution of foreigners into the west and coast states, while it can be done quietly, for when the Panama canal opens, there will be a great stampede for the other side of the continent and in the rush opportunities which are at hand now, will be stamped out and trampled down."

This statement was made last night by David Blaustein, staff lecturer of the New York School of Political Economy, and affiliated with the Columbia university and several Hebrew societies.

Touring United States. Mr. Blaustein, a Harvard graduate and a master of arts, is touring the United States in the interest of the Jews who have been in this country a short time, gathering information and data, and when he completes his travels, he will return to the east and start a campaign to distribute the immigrants and persons who have been here only a few years, throughout the west and south.

He left New York in October and has since been making investigations of economic and social conditions of the country west of Chicago. He says everywhere he has yet been, is presented unlimited opportunity and should he stop his travels in Omaha, he could turn back with enough information to answer his purpose. However, he will visit Salt Lake City, Denver, San Francisco, Cleveland, and a number of the large western cities, getting into town with charitable and municipal organizations, so that he can tell the people who are ignorant of the real possibilities in the United States, of the many overlooked opportunities.

Outlet for City Dwellers. Mr. Blaustein is connected with the Department of Commerce and Labor and is also in communication with the bureau of immigration. His primary purpose is to assist the Jewish people in the congested cities to find good locations where they can "get back to the soil." When he finishes his quest for information he will compile it into pamphlet form which will be scattered broadcast. Lectures will also be given in the mother tongue, and every effort will be made by all Hebrew societies to do their part toward relieving the ever-increasing congestion representing several nationalities. Other organizations are interested in the work of Mr. Blaustein, and when his present task is completed, thousands of Slavs, Italians, Poles, Russians and Greeks will reap the benefits of his labors.

While in Omaha Mr. Blaustein stopped at the Hotel Loyal, where he received a number of the most prominent Jewish people of the city. Rabbi Frederick Cohen had a consultation with him and the local pastor gave the visitor all the assistance he could.

Lutherans Do Honor to Great Reformer

Services commemorating the birth of Martin Luther, founder of the Lutheran church, and one of the first great reformers, were held in nearly all of the Lutheran churches in Omaha Sunday afternoon and evening. Some of the churches held their services last Sunday, as November 10, was the date of Luther's birth, and since that date did not fall on a Sunday the programs were given before instead of after the birthday. The majority of the churches, however, set aside yesterday and the pastors of these churches were held in nearly all of the Lutheran churches in Omaha Sunday afternoon and evening. Some of the churches held their services last Sunday, as November 10, was the date of Luther's birth, and since that date did not fall on a Sunday the programs were given before instead of after the birthday.

PARK BONDS MAY HAVE CARRIED ON NEW COUNT

F. H. Vomburg, 222 Douglas street, who was one of the judges of election in the Fifth district of the Third ward is of the opinion that the park bonds carried and that a clerical error resulted in the supposed small majority against them. Two machines were used in the Fifth district and the official canvass gave 177 "no" and 121 "yes" the bonds. Mr. Vomburg opened his duplicate poll books when he returned home and found that the machines recorded the following vote: Machine No. 270, "yes" 94, "no" 27; machine No. 271, "yes" 107, "no" 23. This would give a vote of 201 to 47 in favor of the bonds. Mr. Vomburg believes the clerks totaled the votes of one machine in favor of the bonds and the other against them. The machines will be carried by a safe margin.

BOARD MAY CONSIDER OPEN SCHOOL HOUSES

When the Board of Education meets tonight the subject of schools as a social center will probably be the principal point of contention, as it has been brewing for several weeks, and definite action is likely to be demanded by some of the advocates of the system. Many of the members have expressed their approval of the plan to throw the school rooms open to meetings of a social center, but favor certain restrictions as to the character of the meetings, the desire of some of the members being to turn the schools over for meetings of any political or partisan significance.

Police Chauffeur Suffers Broken Arm

Ralph Jones, night chauffeur at police headquarters, had his right arm broken in three places yesterday afternoon while cranking an automobile near Fort Crook. He was attended by Police Surgeon Peppers and taken to St. Joseph's hospital. Jones, in company with Harry Buford, went out for a ride. When near Fort Crook the couple got out of the machine to enter a little store. When they came to the water in the radiator had frozen. Jones began to crank, but it worked hard and when he had moved it about half way around it sprang back, catching his arm between the wheel and the elbow.

HARVEST FESTIVAL IS HELD

Presbyterians Return Thanks for Gifts of the Soil and Sunshine.

CHURCH PRETTILY DECORATED

Rev. Houseman Draws Lesson from the Condition in the Northwest Under Which Much Grain is Destroyed.

With the temperature close to zero outside there was nothing to suggest a "Harvest Festival," but at the Castellar Street Presbyterian church Sunday everything about the interior of the edifice reminded one of the garnering of the harvest. Around the altar, in the space occupied by the choir and in the corners of the auditorium were the reminders of the country and its products.

At the close of the Omaha Land Show, Rev. Ralph H. Houseman, pastor of Castellar Street Presbyterian church, secured from the Sheridan county, Nebraska, exhibit a large portion of the wheat grain and grass. These, together with a collection of autumn leaves, red and golden, were arranged in the church in an attractive manner. This collection was the centerpiece, while worked in with it were pumpkins, corn and some vegetables.

As has been his custom for several years, Rev. Mr. Houseman decided upon a Sunday in November for holding a "Harvest Festival," having appropriate music and preaching a sermon fitting for the occasion. During the course of his sermon Sunday he referred to the condition of the weather, intimating that when he arranged for the festival he had no thought that winter would be on hand at this time.

Taking the "Feast of Harvest" for a text, Rev. Mr. Houseman remarked that the weather condition was a reminder that the harvest is past and that the winter is here and in this connection he referred to the fact that in the British northwest press reports bring the information that large quantities of wheat are buried beneath a foot or more of snow. This was used as the topic for a lesson to show the necessity of being ready and prepared for the future.

It is the Work of God. The sheaves of golden grain were pointed to as the harvest of men, and their ripened condition was explained as being the work of God and to God man should return thanks for the seed time and the harvest.

The pastor told of the domestication of grain and its cultivation, explaining that if it was planted and not taken care of little could be expected at the harvest time, and so with man. The seed is the result of God's work, but if the boy or girl is neglected, he or she, when reaching man or womanhood, will not bring forth the choice fruitage as intended by God.

Paying tribute to the farmer, Rev. Mr. Houseman told his people that the residents of the city could not exist for a period of two years were it not for the country. He designated the farmers as the brain and brawn of the country and detailed instances where the boys from the country have come to the city and in a short time, working side by side with these of city birth and rearing, have forged ahead and passed them in the race.
