

MODERN PLAGUE IS NOW PREVALENT EVERYWHERE

New Discovery for Its Eradication to Be Introduced Here.

IT WAS SUCCESSFUL IN EUROPE

Dr. James Spayer of London, England, Says He Will Be Surprised if United States Has Escaped Nervous Debility.

A celebrated Austrian physician, Dr. J. Schall, was the first to announce that a high state of civilization had debilitated modern nations; his claim that half of the population are suffering from nervous debility, produced by the strain under which we live, has finally been admitted by physicians throughout the world.

In recent years a tonic has been introduced in leading European cities to help build up a countless number of run-down, nervous debilitated people produced by modern life, and the results have been remarkable.

Today in the chief cities of Europe, thousands have renewed their health through the use of this tonic. The action of the medicine is very rapid, good effects being obtained from it in only a few moments' time.

A company has been formed to put a similar medicine upon the American market; the preparation is called "Tona Vita" in the United States, and in the cities where it has been introduced, it is proving tremendously successful. Specialists have been stationed here to demonstrate the action of the medicine and to explain the nature of the preparation.

The general symptoms of debility are irregular appetite, poor digestion, headache, backache, constipation, poor memory, nervousness, physical and mental depression, and a general low state of health. The common expression for this condition is "all-run-down." In such cases the tonic acts with remarkable rapidity.

European physicians are well acquainted with the results accomplished by this tonic and are aware of its introduction in this country. Dr. James Spayer of London, England, says in this connection: "If the United States has escaped having a large percentage of its population in poor physical condition, owing to debility, I will be greatly surprised. It seems certain the same methods of living that have produced this condition in England and the continent, have had a like effect in the United States."

There is an attendant remedy known as Lee's Rhubarb Laxative, which is most valuable to those suffering with chronic constipation. It is pleasant to the taste, does not gripe and acts promptly.

The specialists introducing this remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita," are located at Brandeis' Drug Dept., 16th and Douglas streets, south side, main floor, where they, beginning Thursday, November 23, will meet all callers from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., and explain the merits of their preparation.

A free trial will be given to the first 100 callers, provided their symptoms show them to be sufferers from nervous debility.—Adv.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Resolution is Passed for Board to Examine Electricians.

TO BE APPOINTED BY MAYOR

Proposition of Board of Education for Playground on Harney Street Referred to Committee of Wholes.

The city council at its regular meeting last night passed a resolution providing for a board of examiners for journeymen electricians, the members to be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council and the city engineer to act as chairman without pay. The board will receive $5 each per month.

A proposition from the Board of Education to have lot 5 in block 9 and lot 12 in block 10, fronting Harney street, converted into a playground was referred to the committee of the whole.

Lee Herdman entered an objection to a seven-foot cut in the alley between Farnam and Harney on Twenty-sixth street and the matter was referred to the street improvement committee.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for wiring and plumbing the new emergency hospital on Douglas street between Ninth and Tenth.

After passing several ordinances providing for special taxes to cover the cost of sidewalk and street grading, the council adjourned.

FOUR MORE NEGRO WOMEN ARE PUT UNDER ARREST

Four more negro women were sought in the police dragnet last night. One, who gave her name as Blanche Pleasant and is known to the police as Blanche O'Neil, is said to be an ex-convict. Her former husband is now serving out a sentence in the penitentiary for the theft of $200 worth of diamonds from his employer, Lady McKenna, committed a year ago. The other negro women gave their names as Aplerone Snow, 212 Davenport street; Pearl Farley, 1212 Jones street, and Lucy Williams, no address. The Snow woman's address not long since received publicity through the death of an opium smoker.

To Disperse Wrinkles in Half a Minute

(From Feminine World.) Many women in making their toilet for the theater, dance or any social affair, bathe the face and hands in an astringent lotion having immediate re-vivifying effect. An ounce of powdered exfolite dissolved in a half pint of witch-hazel, makes an ideal preparation for this purpose. It is wonderfully effective in promptly dispersing wrinkles and creases, as well as bagginess of cheeks or chin. Enlarged pores are reduced, the skin appears softer and re-textured, and one seems to have suddenly lost several years from her age. The formula being so remarkable and coming so quickly, and the ingredients being obtainable at any drug store, this is a good formula to remember. The solution is entirely harmless.—Adv.

Young Bandit Foiled by Quick-Witted Man Who Resists Holdup

A big shining revolver stuck rigidly into his face by a careless young bandit was the signal for Dr. J. E. Cain, a small, frail, gray-haired man, in charge of the Walton pharmacy, Twentieth and Grace streets, to defeat the winter season's first attempt at highway robbery, made at 3:30 o'clock last night.

Jumping quickly from his seat, the doctor grasped the revolver and dangled with the robber, but found he was not strong enough to cope with his adversary in time to cry to the vacant back room:

"Bring me that gun."

That was the cue for the bandit to flee, believing that help was near. Which way he ran could not be told the police when they arrived four minutes later.

"Oh, you get out of here," the little doctor had said, rather superciliously, when the young man, his face partially hidden behind an immaculate kerchief, stepped into the door with the leveled gun. And then he remarked the recklessness of the youth.

Dr. Cain, seated in a chair near the front door, displayed a jagged cut between the thumb and index finger of his left hand which he had sustained in trying to jerk the weapon from the robber. In his right hand, resting upon a table, he nervously held a little, shiny "bulldog" revolver, which he had taken from an obscure drawer in the back room to be prepared should the robber return.

The police were given a good description of the bandit and every officer on the force went hunting for him last night.

One Injured Soldier is Yet in Hospital

All but one of the soldiers injured in the railroad accident at Logan Monday night were able to proceed yesterday on their journey eastward. D. J. Chambers, who was most seriously injured by being crushed about the head and hips, is still in a cot at the hospital, as is also William Cato, the colored porter. All of the others who were taken to the hospital after the accident were able to leave yesterday. The injuries of Private Chambers are not serious and he expects to resume his journey to his home in Philadelphia in a few days. Cato is suffering from an injured foot that will only detain him a few days.

The officials of the Illinois Central made no further statement concerning the cause of the accident beyond confirming the story that the engineer for the special train carrying the soldiers disregarded the order to wait at Logan for the arrival of the freight. All of the soldiers were sent forward to their destination yesterday in a special car attached to a regular train.

U.S. Grant Post Honors Manderson's Memory

A meeting in memory of the late General Charles F. Manderson was held last night at Bright hall, under the auspices of U. S. Grant post No. 110, Grand Army of the Republic. Very impressive was the program which was carried out. The committee as well as the public life of the honored man was given by capable speakers to an interested audience. The principal address was made by John Lee Webster, who told of the many things accomplished by the late General Manderson during his public life which were beneficial to the state, his home city and his country. James E. Kealy, general solicitor for the Burlington railroad, made a short talk, eulogizing the former head of the company's legal department and telling experiences of his personal acquaintance with him.

Jean Gilbert Jones entertained the auditors with a number of beautifully executed piano recitations. The well-known quartet also offered musical entertainment, which was enthusiastically received.

BREWERY EMPLOYEE ENDS LIFE WITHOUT WARNING

Entering the kitchen of his home at Benson last night and walking past his wife standing at the sink, Harvey L. Melton walked into the parlor, where he took a revolver from his desk and shot himself through the head.

This shot was the first his wife knew anything was wrong with him. She ran into the parlor and found him stretched upon the parlor floor.

Honest Building in Dining Room Furniture

No part of the home deserves more attention in its furnishings than the dining room; especially is this true when Thanksgiving and Christmas approach with the home-coming of boys and girls from college and city.

The dining room is the place where the family gathers morning, noon and night; the place where the home circle finds its closest relationship and fondest expression. It is the room that should look the best; the place that should exhibit cheer, hospitality and comfort.

With this in mind we offer refined quality in dining room furniture. It is furniture with the simplicity of lines—the day of fussiness and gingerbread is past, in furniture as in dress and manners. These dining room pieces have beauty, simplicity, honest construction, dependableness and enduring value. In addition they possess a mellow and ripened charm and that dignity which was native to the stately old dining halls of a hundred years ago. Really, it seems that they aid digestion! Most certainly they create companionship, good feeling and hospitality.

Complete dining room suites and individual pieces are here at little prices like these:

- Mahogany Dining Room Suite: $60.00 Mahogany Buffet, $44.00 Mahogany China Cabinet, $80.00 Dining Table, $7.50 Dining Chair.

LABOR SUSTAINS GOMPERS

Union Leaders Allowed to Remain in Civic Federation.

CHIEF ASSAILS THE SOCIALISTS

Head of American Federation Says They Want Whole Nation Turned Over to Them.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 22.—President Gompers and other labor leaders in the American Federation of Labor may continue to associate with Andrew Carnegie, August Belmont and other so-called "enemies of organized labor" as members of the National Civic Federation. The labor convention late today defeated the resolution "respectfully requesting" its officers to resign from the civic federation.

John Mitchell told the delegates it was "a backed" convention of United Mine Workers at Columbus, O., last spring that compelled him to give up his $3,000 job with the National Civic Federation. He said that at the proper time he would furnish proofs that delegates bearing fraudulent credentials were sent there to destroy him at a time when he "was bound hand and foot" in the supreme court of the United States, defending himself against the enemies of organized labor.

After a day of stormy debate, during which the socialists rallied to the support of the mine workers' delegation, the convention refused its endorsement, by a vote of 1,188 to 428. As a result President Gompers and fourteen other labor leaders will continue as members of the executive board of the civic federation.

Gompers Assails Socialists

President Gompers bitterly assailed the socialists in the civic federation. "There is nothing we can do to please the socialist party," he exclaimed, "unless we go over body, boots and breeches to that party. Then they will remain quiet so long as we remain subordinate to that party. If they succeeded in passing this resolution, they would offer something else, anything to antagonize the trade movement as a militant force of this country. Their idea is that the whole nation should be brought to a state of poverty and then by some cataclysm they would come into their own and take charge of society.

"If the theory of the socialists is right then the work of the American Federation of Labor is a waste of time and ought to be abandoned. I am going to stick to the trade union movement no matter what you do. It is dearer to me than any other institution on earth. I owe it so much. It has given me so much opportunity to be helpful to others."
