FURNITURE IS ON DISPLAY

New Fixtures for Douglas County Court House on Exhibition.

SAMPLES ARE AT HAYDEN BROS.

Solidity and Comfort Are the General Ideas Conveyed by the Sample of the New Furniture.

Samples of the furniture to be installed in the new court house will be displayed today and all next week by Hayden Bros., who captured the $18,000 contract for furniture and fixtures. The display will be on the second floor of the store. A special invitation to visit it will be extended to all county officials and the general public is invited to inspect it.

Solidity, simple dignity and comfort are the general ideas conveyed by the most casual inspection of the display. The evidence of comfort, both for the public and county employees, is especially prominent. From the resilient-seated, leather-covered chairs of the judges and the leather-covered couch for each judge's private room, down to the adjustable-backed chairs in which the stenographers are to sit, everything has been selected with a view to comfort and convenience.

There is a big roll-top desk for every official, with plenty of pigeonholes; there is a disappearing typewriter desk for every stenographer; there are lockers for the hats and wraps of employees, all the furniture has bearing casters, the master's room will have a buffet and bed; there are couches for anyone taken ill in the court house; there are even revolving chairs for the lawyers to sit in as they try their cases. The cuspidors have loaded bases, that they may not be turned over, and small nooks, that skirts may not drag in them.

For the public there will be long seats in the halls and seats and marble tables in the "waiting spaces" in front of the counters in the larger offices.

With the exception of cherry furniture for one judge's room, practically all the furniture shown is of oak, all of the same architectural lines and all the pieces with shades of bronze. The first floor counters will be of Colorado yule marble, surmounted by bronze grill work.

The county commissioners, who had a long and painstaking job in deciding on the furniture of the new court house, think the public will be favorably impressed by the convenience and comfort the new furniture affords, in contrast with the lack of them in the furniture of the old building.

Burlington Track Ready for Winter

Civil engineers of the Burlington lines, both east and west of the Missouri river are in Omaha holding a meeting in the office of General Manager Holdrege. The meeting is in the nature of a general discussion of matters pertaining to maintenance.

It is the general opinion of all the Burlington men that the lines are in perfect condition for going into winter, the ballasting having been about completed for the season. Most of the track improvement undertaken last spring has been finished and where resurfacing was necessary it has been completed. The Nebraska and Wyoming lines are reported to be in as good, if not better condition than those elsewhere on the system.

MISS M'HEUGH TALKS TO HIGH SCHOOL DEBATORS

Principal McHugh addressed the Debaters' Association of the high school on "The Value of Debating to High School Boys" in the assembly room at the school yesterday afternoon. Miss McHugh is a firm advocate of debating as part of the regular school work and at present is conducting a semi-weekly class of some fifteen boys in argument.

Mohler May Receive New Year's Callers at the Headquarters

President Mohler of the Union Pacific is back from a trip that took him over most of the western lines of the system. During a portion of the trip he was accompanied by Judge Lovett of New York, chairman of the executive committee. At Portland, however, the judge left President Mohler and returned home by the southern route.

President Mohler's trip was largely in the nature of a social call upon his numerous friends in the northwest. It was the first time that he had visited that section since his promotion to the presidency of the Union Pacific system and everywhere he stopped he was tendered receptions.

Up through the mountain districts and in the coast country President Mohler found conditions very satisfactory. Business is very good and the people are contemplating a period of business activity. Vice President Munroe had expected to join President Mohler enroute, but he was delayed on account of business and consequently he did not become a member of the party.

On his way home, President Mohler stopped over a few hours in Cheyenne and there the business men, learning that he was in the city, arranged a banquet, which was a most enjoyable affair.

As to the new headquarters building in Omaha, President Mohler is of the opinion that it will be occupied by all of the Union Pacific office departments by the first of the year. In the event it is, he expects to throw it open to the public New Year's day for inspection. While the affair will take on the features of a reception, it will be mainly for the purpose of affording people an opportunity of going through the building.

Coal to Be Weighed When it is Received

Without carrying the case any further, it is likely that all western lines will submit to the decision of the Interstate Commerce commission case relative to reweighing coal at points of destination.

The case in question was brought against the Burlington by the Sunderland Bros. company of Omaha. Under the old rule of the railroads and to which the Sunderlands objected, coal shipped from the mines and carried by the railroads, was weighed at the originating point, the consignee paying freight on these weights. Complaint was made to the Interstate Commerce commission that when the coal reached destination it invariably showed a shrinkage and that the freight charges should be paid on the quantity actually received. This contention was sustained and hereafter dealers will pay freight on the amount of coal actually contained in the car at the time of delivery.
