Union Pacific Coal
Mined in Abundance

General Manager Manley of the Union Pacific Coal company is back from a trip to the company mines in Wyoming, where he spent several days inspecting the properties.
At this time the Union Pacific mines are in operation, giving employment to an army of men and producing about 10,000 tons of coal daily. While a large portion of this coal is consumed on the company engines and in the shops of the system, a still larger portion is sold to dealers. It is expected that the output will be so great that during the present winter there will be an abundance of the coal for sale in the towns and cities on the east end of the line. For a number of years past, the output has not been sufficiently large to keep these points supplied.
The Reliance, a new mine, has been recently opened at Rock Springs with an output of 1,000 tons daily, giving employment to 250 men.
The mine at Superior is the largest on the system, its output being 4,500 tons per day and furnishing employment to nearly 1,000 men. Here a new town is being built, but at present a large proportion of the miners are living in camps.

Business Men Will Inspect Belt Line

An inspection trip over the Missouri Pacific's Belt line will be made soon by the industrial committee of the Commercial club, accompanied by the mayor and such city councilmen as may be able to accept the club's invitation.
The trip will be to get a more intimate knowledge of available trackage and a better idea of the needs of the city in this line. The party will be in charge of a number of Missouri Pacific officials, headed by D. E. King, general manager, industrial commissioner of the party. Other Missouri Pacific members of the party will be General Freight Agent Wharry, A. De Bernard, superintendent of the Omaha and northern Kansas division, and C. E. Wasar, assistant general freight agent, in charge of Omaha business. December 13 is tentatively set as the date for the junket.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Covered with Eruption to Back of Ears So They Hardly Knew What He Looked Like, Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 4 Weeks Face Fine and Clean.

"Our little boy Gilbert was troubled with eczema when he was only a few weeks old. His little face was covered with sores even to back of his ears. The poor little fellow suffered very much. The sores began as pimples, his little face was itchy and he would not sleep. We hardly knew what he looked like. The face looked like a map. Little bags of cloth over his hands to prevent him from scratching. He was very restless at night, his little face itched."
"We consulted two doctors at Chicago, where we resided at that time. After trying all the medicine of the Cuticura Remedies, and at once bought the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Following the directions carefully and promptly we saw the result, and after four weeks, the dear child's face was as fine and clean as any little baby's face. Every one who saw Gilbert after using the Cuticura Remedies was surprised. He has a head of hair which is a pride for any boy of his age, three years. We can only recommend the Cuticura Remedies to everybody." (Signed) Mrs. E. Albrecht, Box 528, West Point, Neb., Oct. 20, 1910.

Hardware Man Gives Thanks
on His Sixty-Third Birthday

Nathan Roberts, president of the Dunning Hardware company, is thankful that this, the sixty-third anniversary of his birth, finds him able to eat as much turkey and pumpkin pie as he ate at his first joyful Thanksgiving dinner, when he came over from Scotland, at the age of 21. He has not become a millionaire in America, as his neighbor, Andy Carnegie, has, but he has lived a comfortable, happy life, and at 63 looks like a boy of 30, and can do as much work as a boy of 25.
Mr. Roberts entered the hardware business in Scotland at the age of 15, and has been at it ever since. He came to America in 1858, lived nine years in Chicago, sixteen years in Kansas and has been in Omaha since 1894.
He is chairman of the board of directors of Westminster Presbyterian church and chief high ranger for Nebraska of the Independent Order of Foresters. He was president of the Nebraska Retail Hardware Dealers' association about six years ago, and at a secret session of the association decided a tie vote on the question of boycotting certain jobbers. He prevented the boycott.

SOUTH OMAHA ALSO PINCHED
Lad Killed by Train
Buried at Valley

Ernest Weekly of Valley, Neb., who Monday evening was killed by a train while saving the life of Celeste Erchall, a young girl who was standing on the tracks near the Fifty-ninth street station, Chicago, and did not notice the approach of a suburban train that was bearing down upon her, was buried yesterday at Valley.
Ernest Weekly left the home farm one year ago and went to Chicago, where he made good. He entered the office of an insurance company and secured promotion after promotion. Monday night he was going to his boarding house and as he stepped from a suburban train at the Fifty-ninth street station, he was startled by hearing the scream of a girl, looking around, he saw Miss Erchall standing in the center of the track and a rapidly approaching train but a short distance away.
Without considering his own safety, he sprang to the side of the girl, placed his arm about her waist and hurled her to a place of safety, but in doing so, he slipped and fell across one of the rails. On came the train at a swift rate of speed and before Ernest Weekly could regain his feet, the engine was upon him and the cruel wheels had crushed out his life. The body was recognized by friends and prepared for burial, after which it was sent home, the funeral having been held yesterday from the mother's residence in Valley.
A year ago when Ernest Weekly went to Chicago to carve out his fortune, his mother urged against it. She insisted that the opportunities were as great in Omaha as there and that she needed him closer home. Allured by the glitter of his prospects he went, but each week letters to the mother at home, told of the love that the boy felt for the home in the little town.
The boy had arranged to be there Christmas and spend the holidays with relatives and friends whom he had known all his life. Ernest Weekly did not wait until the holidays before returning home; he went there this week and he will remain there forever.

Graff Talks to the Students of Night
School at Kellom

Nearly 40 students, teachers and friends of the Kellom night school heard Superintendent E. U. Graff of the Omaha public schools in a Thanksgiving address at the school last night. The address was preceded by musical and declamatory exercises by the students and the meeting closed with the singing in union of "America."
Superintendent Graff spoke of the advantages offered by America to the people of the foreign lands of the "old country," especially dwelling upon the personal freedom enjoyed by every American citizen.
"While this is a young nation, still far from perfect," said he, "it has to offer certain advantages that nowhere else are found. There may be flaws in our political and industrial systems, doubtless there are; but nevertheless we are founded upon certain principles of justice and equity which guarantee larger opportunities for growth and advancement than other nations. We are free from militarism; we are free from the oppression of the caste system. In some of the older nations a man who is a grocer's never can be anything but a grocer's son, but here he has the opportunity if he has the will, to become anything he chooses to become. For this we should be thankful."
Mr. Graff complimented the school on its excellent program, praised the principal and teachers for their work with and for the students, and urged even increased interest in the school. He was given huge bouquets of chrysanthemums and carnations.
Singing of the Swedish national song and a Swedish folk song, declamations by E. A. Person and Carl Samuelson, brief addresses on the advantages of the night school by Erik Erikson and William Brenner, and a violin solo by Oswald Christensen made up the program of the students.
Nearly 300 students, men and girls who work for their living daily, are enrolled in the school and attend four nights each week. It is in charge of Miss Cebelia Schaller, principal, and the following teachers: Mrs. Josephine Carroll, Mrs. Joanna Gramlich, Mrs. Emma Haviland, Misses Rose Healer, Grace Griffin, V. Vay Richey, G. E. Miller and E. D. Gepson.
