Furs, Dark Garments, Etc. need Cleaning Also By Dresher's Man

Many wearers of dark colored garments are under a delusion that works havon for the lighter colored clothes they may be wearing at the same time. They are prone to think that dark colored garments do not require cleaning as often as lighter colored wearables. In this they err, for the dark garments may be accumulating a lot of dust that cannot be seen, but which is heavy enough to soll white linens, gloves, etc. The same with fure; the fur that seems clean may be "sticky," and when it becomes sticky that is a signal that there is a lot of dust worked into the
