ANBORN of the Chicago Tribuna takes a fall out of the move in the National league to revive the attempt at secreting instead of diswinter time, imposing a fine upon the magnate violating the rule. That is a nice thing for a man whose business depends upon sufferance and newspaper boosting to think of doing. As Sanborn suggests, it might be well for the newspapers to take them at their word just for a while and see how soon the rule would stand. Cut down the "dope" to news" and see what a howl goes up from game, but it has become a great business of 145-pound teams, largely because of the great publicity it news item to as few words as it would take to tell it and cut out the boosting and the gossip and the human interest stuff and see where these characters. stuff and see where these chesty magnates got off. They would be running down to the newspaper offices and waiting hat in hand for an opportunity to shove their news into hands of the sport- game everything will be run off smothly. ing editors. They don't want publicity. oh no, not any more than they can get; that's all. It comes in nice grace for some of those National leaguers, who, like Mr. Murphy, for instance, have been lifted out of impecunious stations in life to high seats of financial case by the publicity that has been given their "secrets." And the funny thing is about Mr. Murphy, that he went from the sporting editor's staff of a daily newspaper to the lofty position he now holds in the world of frenzied finance, thanks to the philan- is still nursing a pair of cracked ribs he thropic interest another man took in him. received during the Monmouth Park-Valnews during the winter months, but shall | Lou Devine, manager of the Monmouth in the summer because they must. His reward is his discharge and the worst of it is that from the time he took hold of the management his successor, Harry Davis, had been employed. It must inspire a lot of ambition in a man to get this kind of a deal. It is much the same sort of a deal as Danny Shay was handed by Tabeau at Kansas City. Shay made a team out of the Blues and got fired for his trouble. But that is as much as could be expected from Tebau. Charley Carr assumes a big job as Danny's successor, for the fans of Kansas City are Shay fans, not Tebeau. All that Carr will be asked to do is to improve on what Shay did. Can he? Oh, it is a great thing to have these Tebeaus in the game.
