A NEW NOVEL BY LOCKE STELLA MARIS W. J. Locke has written another novel in that style which so many readers have learned to love. Stella is an invalid seemingly compelled to spend her life lying on her back in a big, beautiful room. This room is all windows on one side and looks out upon the sea. So Stella has come to be known to her friends as "Stella Maris." Her world is the world these friends bring to her sickroom, and they keep from her all knowledge of its misery and unhappiness. It is when she recovers and learns what the real world is that Locke has a chance for those contrasts which make his stories so fascinating and which he works out so ingeniously. Stella Maris in her individual way has the charm of Clementina, of Zora, of all the Locke heroines. "Stella Maris" will be the serial of The Century for the forthcoming year. Subscribe now and enjoy it. CENTURY MAGAZINE 55 cents a copy, $4.50 a year. At all book stores, or The Century Co., Union Square, New York
