BIRD MEN COMING TO OMAHA

Big Flight Next Year May Include This City.
McCORMICK BACK OF THE PLAN
Trip to include Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis and Indianapolis — Omaha a Point of Departure.

A big flock of birdmen may pass over Omaha next summer, settling here long enough to take on fuel and provisions.
Harold McCormick, the Chicago millionaire, has conceived a plan for a western circuit of the Aero Club of America, to include Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis and Indianapolis. If the plan is worked out, Omaha is to be the point of control, or the place where the skyfliers stop to get a fresh supply of gasoline and victuals.
Mr. McCormick has written to J. J. Berlight, James L. Paxton and John M. Guild of the Aero Club of Nebraska, asking them what Omaha thinks of the proposition and what Omaha will be willing to do towards helping pay the money the birdmen will demand. These men are pleased with the idea and have written to ask Mr. McCormick how much money would be required. They believe a reasonable amount of money could be raised here to assure Nebraskaans the opportunity of seeing a large company of famous aviators in action.
The St. Louis Aero club, according to St. Louis papers, plans to organize the

Wheat Much Higher in Omaha Than on the Chicago Market

The benefit to farmers of a grain market at Omaha is shown in a comparison yesterday of local prices with Chicago prices, say Omaha grain dealers.
No. 2 hard wheat sold on the Omaha cash market yesterday at $1 a bushel. This was 2 1/2 cents over the Chicago price for the December option and 2 to 3 cents over the Chicago cash price. The Nebraska wheat is being sold direct to the mills in various parts of the country by members of the Omaha Grain exchange.

MORROW TO BE BAILIFF IN JUDGE TROUP'S COURT

Joseph W. Morrow, bailiff for Judge William A. Redick, will be appointed bailiff for Judge A. C. Troup of the district court to succeed Frank W. Handbauer, who has died, when the judges hold their annual meeting January 1. Judge Redick leaves the district bench the first of the year, being succeeded by County Judge Charles Leslie. Judge Leslie has selected a bailiff, but will not give his name until after the meeting on January 1.

INDIAN FIGHTER VISITS HERE

Recalls Old Times on the Plains with Mayor Dahlman.
HAS CHARGE OF INDIANS NOW
Cousin to General Custer, He Himself Has Led Many Charges Against Redskins—Now Leads Peaceable Life.

Weighted with quiet Indian names and bearing one given him by his parents some sixty-odd years ago, a gray-haired, pink-cheeked man is visiting in Omaha with the cowboy mayor. This man is Colonel C. P. Jordan, treasurer of Mellette county, South Dakota, publisher of The Mellette County News and acting agent of the Rosebud, Pine Ridge and Red Cloud Indian agencies in South Dakota. In addition to this Colonel Jordan has a brilliant record as an Indian fighter, showman, prospector and politician.
Colonel Jordan is known by the Sioux Indians as Charley Patachela, which means "Short Charley," though which he is not by any means. The Indians on another reservation know him as Chick-sowela, or "Little White Chief." The Arapahoes refer to him as Chahachau, "The Man Who Writes." Colonel Patachela has a smattering of Indian language, but makes no claim to acquaintance with Arapahoe lingo. "I knew only one man who ever learned Arapahoe," he said solemnly, "and that was Bob North. The poor fellow is crazy now." A page of "The Mellette County News" is published in the Sioux language, which comprises some 26,000 words. Many of these Indians, the colonel said, read and write learnedly in Sioux, but have been shooting shy of English education.
Were Great Cronies.
In his "young" days Colonel Jordan and Jim Dahlman were great cronies, and official business in the mayor's office was held in abeyance while they recalled some flamboyant personalities and performances. Many are the high times they've held together, but both have "cut it out." Colonel Jordan ceased sowing wild oats four or five years ago and has been reaping a bounteous harvest ever since. Mayor Dahlman has been pulling tires out of the political field and sowing new crops of various varieties, and so their meeting after several years was interesting to both and each held a reminiscence conversation for two hours, uninterrupted by modern political crises.
Some years ago Colonel Jordan aspired to be a show magnate like Buffalo Bill, but went broke and retired from the game. But he had a great show, he recalled, while it lasted. It was a real wild western drama. He is a cousin of General Custer, killed in a bloody battle by the Indians in the Little Big Horn valley. The colonel has led many a victorious charge against the redskins in the early days and as a relic of one battle still retains the gun used by Crazy Horse, who surrendered to him.

All Ready for the Big U. P. Reception

The Union Pacific headquarters building is being put in perfect condition for the public reception to be held Saturday from 10 in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Janitors are at work and painters are touching up the rough spots. The floors are being polished and every room is to be made as clean as a parrot.
At the Union Pacific's reception there will be no restrictions placed upon visitors. They will be welcome at public and private offices alike. Even the offices of President Mohler will be thrown open and through them people may pass.

WESTERN DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE HERE NEXT MONTH

According to former Governor James H. Brady of Idaho, who passed through Omaha yesterday on his way home from the eastern tour of western governors, the executive committee of the Western Development association will meet in Omaha about January 28.
COAL DEALERS COMING TO HOLD MEETING HERE
Arthur Hull of Chicago, imperial modoc of the Order of Ko-Koal, will be guest of honor and speaker at a meeting of the local body at the Paxton hotel this evening. A number of coal men and several prominent railroad men, who are also eligible to membership, are to be inducted into the mysteries of Ko-Koal.
