Boyles College, Official Training School for Union Pacific Railroad for Telegraphers

Boyles College, Official Training School for Illinois Central Railroad for Clerical Force

The Illinois Central Railroad Selects Boyles College as the Official Training School for Office Clerks

FIRST the great Union Pacific Railway System made our school its official telegraphy training school and guaranteed positions to our graduates. Now comes the Illinois Central Railroad, after learning from the Chief U. P. Educational Bureau what remarkable satisfaction those who had received the Boyles College training gave to the Union Pacific, and officially designates our school its official training school and agrees to give excellent clerical positions to the graduates of the Business Department of Boyles College.

If you have a single thought of now, or ever, entering a business college anywhere and gaining the ability to succeed in the field of endeavor, where opportunities grow thickest and real energy, plus trained ability, reaps the greatest success harvest, we want you to calmly consider the deep significance of this latest honor bestowed on Boyles College.

This selection of Boyles College can mean, does mean one thing and that only. It proves, as nothing we could say could prove it, that Boyles College is a remarkably efficient producer of remarkably efficient Bookkeepers, Stenographers, Salesmen, Telegraphers and candidates for the examinations necessary to qualification as U. S. Civil Service Appointees as Railway Mail Clerks, Mail Carriers and U. S. Government Clerks.

We would be glad to talk the matter of a commercial education over with you any time you call. We would be particularly pleased to present you with a copy of our Year Book if you will merely write or call for a copy. Do that today—before you overlook it.

RICHMOND OUT FOR AUDITOR

Clerk of House Seeks Nomination for State Office.

PATTERSON IS SEEKING MONEY

Arkansas Banker Would Have State Pay Him Salary as Secretary of the State Banking Board.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 2.—(Special.)—H. C. Richmond of Omaha, democrat, filed today as a candidate for state auditor. This is the first filing up to date for this office on either ticket, though there are several prospective candidates who probably will file soon, now that the lid has been broken. Richmond is well known in the state having for a number of years been connected with Omaha and Fremont papers and during the last session of the legislature was chief clerk of the house. He has also been interested with Maher and Schwind in a Texas land deal in which many Nebraskans have invested. Hank insists that, win or lose, the same old smile will be in evidence.

Patterson Files Claim.

Sam Patterson, a banker of Arkansas, who was appointed secretary of the state banking board by Governor Shallenberger, has filed a claim with the state auditor, through his attorney, Matt Gerbig, for two years' salary—$5,000. He sets up that after his appointment he was authorized to go to Oklahoma to examine into the workings of the guaranty law in that state in order to be prepared to administer a similar law in Nebraska and that his expenses to the extent of $12,300 were allowed by the state and paid. The objection against the enforcement of the guaranty law, however, prevented him from exercising any other function of his office, which he asserts he was at all times ready to perform and for that reason thinks he is entitled to the salary of the office from July 2, 1910, to July 1, 1911. He wants the auditor to set a date for a hearing to take his claim to the court, as the bank examiners have already done in similar cases.

Superintendents to Meet.

State Superintendent DeWitt has issued a circular to the various county superintendents in the state calling attention to the meeting of superintendents to be held in Lincoln, January 15-16. Its text also sent a circular to the various county boards calling attention to the law under which the meeting is held and urging the county boards to make an appropriation to pay the expenses of the superintendents who attend the meeting. Various matters of interest to the teachers and superintendents of the state are on the program and Mr. DeWitt urges all to be present. The superintendent also sends along with the letter a New Years' greeting.

Daughters Give Prize.

The Lincoln chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution have purchased a beautiful silver loving cup which will be offered as a sweepstakes prize to the girl who makes the best record in domestic science at the winter school course of the school of agriculture. Such prizes have previously been granted for the best, but this is the first one for the girls. The cup is to be the property of the winner for the year and next winter is to be returned for competition. It is contemplated that the cup shall be a perpetual prize, with the names of the successive winners engraved upon it.

Reward for Griffin.

The state fire marshal and the county authorities of Polk county offer a reward of $500 for the apprehension of Oliver S. Griffin. The last heard of him he was at Warner, Alberta, Canada. He left Casola, December 11, 1911. Griffin is wanted primarily as a witness in an arson case.

Seymour Sends Circular.

H. Seymour, secretary of the State Board of Equalization, is sending out the following circular to the various county assessors and county boards of the state: There will be a meeting of the county assessors and delegates of the county boards at Lincoln on January 1 and 2, which meeting will be called to order in the senate chamber, in the capitol building, at 2 p. m., Wednesday, January 2. There will be a re-assessment of real estate in Nebraska this year and it is important that you attend this meeting. Some changes have been made in the laws relating to the assessment of real estate since the last assessment was made in 1908, and if a just and equitable valuation of property in the state, for purposes of taxation, is to be made it is almost a certainty that the county assessors must get together with the board of equalization in person at the time of a thorough discussion of valuations and tax laws in general. This meeting is of such importance that regulations recommending that all county boards in the state make proper provisions to the end that if he attends the meeting, he should be paid for his expenses. Regulations adopted at the meeting of the state association of commissioners, supervisors and county clerks at Grand Island last month.

Supreme Court Arguments.

Arguments were heard in the supreme court today on the case of the Farmers and Merchants' Irrigation company of Dawson county versus Hill. Hill was sued for water rent in Dawson county and set up the defense that the ditch company failed to provide him with water when needed and therefore he was not liable. The ditch company relied upon the clause in the contract which provided they were to furnish water when there was any to be obtained in the Flattish river. The lower court held this clause might protect the company from damage suit, but it did not permit it to collect for service not rendered. The ditch company appealed.

Another case argued in supreme court

was the appeal of Kemper, convicted in Garden county of burglary. The case hinges on the identification of some old coins found on Kemper when he was arrested. He asserted they had been his property for a long time and the state asserting they were part of the property stolen. Kemper asks a new trial on the claim of newly discovered evidence to prove his possession of the coins in question previous to the robbery.

Legislative Session.

Letters being received every day indicate the proposed reunion of former members of the legislature, planned for some time in January, will bring together a large representation of the old legislators.

Appeal from Trenton.

The governor's office received the following pathetic appeal for aid from Trenton. While he has no authority to act officially in the matter it is referred to the proper authorities to investigate and ascertain if anything can be done to relieve the situation: TRENTON, Neb., Jan. 2, 1912.—Dear Sir:

I have been told that you are the one I should write to, so I will try and tell you our trouble as brief as I can. We are living on a rented farm. We have 3 cows and 2 horses mortgaged and we cannot borrow money nor buy on time. We have four children, one boy 14, one girl 10, one boy 8, one girl 5. We are out of food for our stock and we are out of food and fuel for ourselves and with the thermometer at 10 and 20 degrees below zero and ten inches of snow on the ground it looks pretty blue for us. We would not be able to buy seed for another year. My husband was hurt three years ago doing heavy lifting and he can't do very heavy work. Now, won't you have something done for us. We have not raised a crop for four years and last year we planted it over three times, but the grass hoppers or dry weather took it each time. We have all tried to get work, but there is none to get. We have never had to beg before, but I don't know what else to do. If you can't do anything for us, can't you give this to some one that will. C. O. TENNANT. Trenton, Hitchcock County, Neb.

TEXAS MAN WANTS HEIRS OF FRIEND TO HAVE RIGHTS

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 2.—(Special.)—That the animosities of the civil war are dead was exemplified by a little incident which cropped out of the dry routine of the adjutant general's office today. John E. Roller, ex-confederate and a wealthy ranch owner near Wichita Falls, writes to Adjutant General Phelps and requests the latter to locate the heirs of Isaiah Long, a veteran of the First Nebraska cavalry, who was a neighbor of his and who had died leaving a small farm and a little personal property, to which a man in the neighborhood had laid claim and to which Roller does not think he has a right, and wants the heirs to the northern veteran to have.

Thereby hangs a tale of friendship

between the veterans of the north and the south. It appears that Long, after some trouble with his family near Brownville, Neb., went to Texas and settled on the little farm near Roller's big ranch. Long lived the life of a hermit and his only friend and associate was Iggler, Long was poor, and when his health failed he was a personal friend of a veteran pensioner, used his influence to obtain a pension for Long, and now that he is dead wants the northern man's heirs to have his modest estate. The records of the adjutant general's office show that Long enlisted in the First Nebraska infantry and later re-enlisted in the First Nebraska cavalry under the name of Ephraim Long. Up to date Mr. Phelps has obtained no clue to the heirs of Long.

ICE CUTTING OPERATIONS BEGIN NEAR ASHLAND

ASHLAND, Neb., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Swift and Company began their annual ice harvest this morning at their large ice house northwest of Ashland. About seventy men arrived last night from Omaha and more came tonight. Employment will be given to over 300 men. The ice is about ten inches thick and of fair quality. Over two weeks' work will be required to fill the ice house if work can go on without interruption from the weather. Armour & Co. will begin their ice gathering Thursday morning at their Memphis plant seven miles northwest of Ashland. They will employ over 200 men. The ice varies from seven to twelve inches in thickness.

Deslier Saleman Wins Prize.

DESHLER, Neb., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Charles Kasparek of this place received word Tuesday that he had won the first prize of $1,000 in gold for selling more pianos in 1911 than any other salesman of the thirty-two employed by his house. His territory comprises Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado, with headquarters here. He sold 1,018 pianos at wholesale and 297 at retail.

SENATE HALL LIKE STORE

Board of Purchase and Supplies Still Considering Bids.

GEN. STORCH ON ENCAMPMENT

Fullerton Official of National Guard Declares Sanitary Measures Were Not of the Best—General Phelps Submits Figures.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 2.—(Special.)—The Board of Purchase and Supplies is still busy figuring out who are the low bidders. The senate chamber today was filled with samples of groceries, canned goods and miscellaneous articles of all kinds. The bidding in many cases is close and the board is having some difficulty determining just who is the lowest. Where there is a tie the choice is determined by lot. In one case there were three bidders for socks and the samples offered were apparently of the same. Lard Commissioner Cowles suggested the socks be weighed to determine which contained the most material. As they were the same size the weight would have a bearing on their value to the wearer. The scales used for weighing letters were requisitioned for the purpose. Live stock raised on the state farm was on exhibition before students in the winter short course this morning and were used for the purpose of instruction in judging cattle.

Storch, Passes Criticism.

Brigadier General Storch of Fullerton has just submitted to the adjutant general his report of the annual encampment of the Nebraska National guard, held at Bellevue. The general in his comments takes a rap at the medical department, saying the latrines were constructed by civilians and without proper supervision and that they were not properly cared for during the encampment. This is one of the points made by a regular army inspector in his report. The disposition of garbage also comes in for some criticism. From figures in the adjutant general's office it appears there were 126 enlisted men and 124 officers in attendance at the encampment, this including all arms of the service. The cost of food of the enlisted men was 24 cents per day, which was 4 cent below the amount allowed by the national government for that purpose.

Sundean Still Busy.

It is announced that John L. Sundean of Minneapolis will come to Lincoln to deliver an address in opposition to the proposed increase in rates by the Modern Woodmen.

Says Corporations Busy.

William Westerfield, engineer of the city water plant, thinks he sees in the attacks on the city water system a plan by three of the big corporations of the city who are also large users of water, to discredit the system and use it as a means of obtaining lower water rates. The suggestion that he be served with water from the abandoned Rice well at a lower rate is one of the facts cited by him in support of his contention.

Deslier Saleman Wins Prize.

Charles Kasparek of this place received word Tuesday that he had won the first prize of $1,000 in gold for selling more pianos in 1911 than any other salesman
