FREEZING FAMILY IS SAVED
Miss Jontz Finds Entire Family in Want on the Bottoms.
LIVE WITH DIRT FOR A FLOOR
Woman Wraps Her Own Clothing Around Her Children to Keep Them Warm—Many Families Need Help.

In the grip of the coldest weather since the severe winter of 1906, a poor family, living in a little shack in the Missouri bottoms, with nothing but the earth for a floor and rags for a bed, was found yesterday by the Associated Charities. The children were shivering with cold, the fire had died out and with the temperature 15 degrees below zero it would have been but a short time until medical assistance would have been needed. Miss Ida V. Jontz, secretary of the charities, went immediately to the nearest coal yard and ordered fuel sent to the family. The thankful mother, who had been endeavoring in vain to keep her flock warm by wrapping her own garments about them, broke into tears when the charity officers visited her and made known their mission. The husband was tramping the streets in search of work.

Aid has been rendered several families within the last few days. Fuel is most in demand, but the charitable organizations have discovered shortages of food and clothing in some localities. Every effort is being made to lessen the misery of the bitter, cold season and charity workers are eternally vigilant. A few offers to assist them have been made to the Associated Charities, but these offers do not meet the needs. Miss Jontz has a list of those who are likely to need help to weather the winter and is on the lookout for new cases and has found a few where food, fuel and clothing were so needed that delay might have meant death.

Dynamite Was for Celebration.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—According to confessions obtained by a private detective, the twenty-four sticks of dynamite found December 22 under the railroad bridge at Thebes, Ill., were placed there by young men who intended to use it in celebrating Christmas.

WORK ON BUILDINGS STOPS
Extreme Cold Forces Contractors to Lay Off Their Men.
NOT TO REPORT TILL MONDAY
Workmen on Woodmen of the World Building Who Have Been Protected by Canvas Have Been Laid Off Till Warmer Weather Comes.

Work on every building in the course of construction in Omaha is at a dead halt because of the extreme cold, and as a result several hundred workmen are idle. The contractors who have charge of the new high school building dismissed all of the workmen early last week and today the Selden-Breck company served notice on all of the employees on the Woodmen of the World building that because of the cold they need not report until next Monday for work, and if it is still cold then, they could lay off another week.

For the last three days the men on the Woodmen of the World building have confined their attention strictly to the lower floors, where canvas curtains partly sheltered them from the cold. Here the bricklayers have been working up until this morning, when it was so cold that some of them said the mortar froze to their trowels.
