Mission workers have considerable difficulty in changing the habits of some of the youthful pupils. One little girl in a sewing class under the tutelage of a prominent Omaha seclety woman was con Saturday at her home on Georgia drilled to say "please" whenever she average. The guests included to maked for anything. One day she piped Misses Misses in a thin little voice, "Please pass the thread." Every one happened to be busy and paid no attention to the small miss. Finally she asked again, "Please pass the thread." No one paid any attention.

when programs were not used, The men of the musical clubs followed the custom in the east of abolishing programs. They also danced at nearly all of the afternoon teas given in their honor on their holiday tour. The visitors also introduced the eastern way of dancing the "Boston," which is slower and graceful than the way it has been danced.

The no-program dance was so popular, that the debutante set, who planned an informal dancing party at the Country club last evening, decided that no programs were to be used, and the guests were requested not to engage any dances

HELP IMMEDIATELY PROVIDED

City Mission is Helping Many and She Says Omaha Men Are Most Generous - Need Warm Undergarments.

A family of mother, father out-of-work three little children and a sick grandfather were found destitute by Mrs. Ryan assistant to Miss Nellie Magee of the City mission, in a one-room tin shack at Sixth and Webster streets Saturday morning.

The little ones were bare-footed and huddled together in a vain attempt to get warm. The place was frigid elace the family had no coal or wood. With thin, ragged clothing and no food to nourish their weak bodies, the family was in a pitiable plight.

The mother came to the mission door about 9 o mock in the morning and asked for help. Mrs. Ryan after filling a couple of baskets with bread, potatoes, coal and clothing went with her to give temporary relief to the suffering ones in the little tin shack.
