

TRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Friendly Feeling Toward Buying Side of Wheat.

CORN BEARS ARE DISAPPOINTED

Severe Weather Has Prevented Country Movement and Southern Demand Absorbs the Offerings.

OMAHA, Jan. 11, 1912. It developed at the close yesterday that there was a more friendly feeling toward the buying side of wheat.

There has been a daily disappointment for buyers of wheat in the past few days. The weather has prevented a country movement and the southern demand has absorbed the offerings.

Continued severe cold weather, making country deliveries difficult, and the still active cash demand again gave corn value an advance.

Primary wheat receipts were 216,000 bushels and shipments were 184,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 419,000 bushels and shipments of 394,000 bushels.

Clearances were 41,000 bushels of corn, 9,000 bushels of oats and wheat and flour equal to 24,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed 1/4 higher on wheat and 1/2 higher on corn.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Heavy selling, presumably to realize profits, more than wiped out a moderate advance here today in wheat.

Early in the day influences on the whole were in favor of the bulls, especially the cold weather advance.

Provisions advanced sharply, in the end pork being 1/2 higher, lard 1/4 higher and ribs 1/4 higher.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Leading Speculative Issues Under Pressure During Day.

UNION PACIFIC AGAIN ATTACKED

December Statement of Earnings Awaited with Additional Interest Because of Move Against Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The leading speculative stocks were under pressure today and prices fell.

The movement in this stock was of the baffling nature which has attracted the keen attention of the market during the past few days.

The news from Washington in regard to the progress of the Stanley investigation counted a factor in unsettling the market.

The vigor with which the inquiry is being pursued was disappointing to the market.

Foreign bidding for money continued. Offer for London funds were 1/2 per cent.

SOUTH DAKOTA CORN Growers Association Will Meet Monday

MITCHELL, S. D., Jan. 11.—(Special)—Monday morning, January 15, opens the annual convention of the South Dakota Corn and Grain Growers' Association.

The officers have secured the best possible talent to deliver the addresses and to conduct the corn school, which is to be held each morning.

Cash prizes to the amount of more than $500 have been put up to be contested for in five different divisions.

John Rydman comes here from the Iowa Agricultural college to have charge of the department of animal husbandry.

Compared with last week's crop, good fat lambs are selling about 25% higher.

There were only a few scattered strings of wetters and yearlings available.

Wetters being quoted up to $1.00 per head, yearlings were largely under $1.00.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Good to choice lambs, $1.00 to $1.25.

POODLE DOG CAUGHT in Net by Firemen

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—While flames were chattering the Okdale hotel in Austin today, a woman and a man appeared at a window on an upper floor and called to firemen for help.

A moment later a blanket of flames was seen to billow from the window and firemen grasped the sides of the blanket and braced themselves to catch the body that was to fall into the improvised life net.

Suddenly, out of the smoke that filled the room, the woman's head appeared, and she cried: "Hold tight, men."

Then she threw out her little white poodle dog. It landed safely.

"Now, put up a ladder and we'll come down," she called from above.

So a ladder was raised and the couple descended safely.

Besides the Okdale hotel, three other buildings were destroyed. The loss was $60,000.

LOVE AFFAIR MAY HAVE CAUSED FAHLBERG'S FLIGHT

CENTERVILLE, S. D., Jan. 11.—Did David Fahlgberg, the Clay county farmer who mysteriously disappeared from his farm home on the night of January 2, flee from the state because of his love affair?

This is a question which many people who do not believe in the murder theory are now asking.

It is now known that the sheriff of Clay county has discovered that Fahlgberg's new overcoat, a pair of clothes and new shoes were missing.

Fahlgberg was married to Miss Emily Anderson, the daughter of a well known farmer living near Beresford, on last Wednesday.

Many other persons still cling to the theory that Fahlgberg was murdered by horse thieves, whom he surprised in his barn, or that he was wounded by the thieves, wandered off and perished in the snow.

The farmers own a large amount of valuable property and David would receive his share when the estate is divided next year.

During the last year $20,000 was spent in improvements on the home farm.

A man named Lewis, whose name has been connected with the case, telephoned the sheriff from Burbank and requested him to make a thorough investigation.

He says that he had not heard of Fahlgberg's disappearance until he read the story in the newspapers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The resentment of Colorado citizens' organizations and beet sugar growers at the testimony of three Colorado witnesses before the house sugar investigation committee was shown today when five representative citizens of the state appeared to refute the former testimony.

The stories of labor conditions which have been described as bordering on "peonage" and the recruiting of beet laborers in the slums of New York offered by James Bodkin, E. U. Coubs and Albert Daean a few weeks ago were denied and what was claimed to be the real conditions were described by the witnesses.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL Robbed by Negro

Miss Franc Eaton, principal of Howard Kennedy school, was held up and robbed of $10 by a negro Wednesday night at the steps leading to the high school building from Capital avenue.

Miss Eaton was badly frightened, having been cornered so suddenly, but she composed herself as best she could and insisted that the robber give her back her handbag, which was a present to her from the teachers.

After extracting the money from the handbag it was unaccountably returned to Miss Eaton, who was then ordered to proceed on her way.

WALTHAM IS OBSTACLE TO AMBITIOUS YOUNG MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—Health is a serious obstacle to ambitious young men who want to advance by their own efforts, according to T. E. Kruttschnitt, assistant superintendent of the Tuacum division of the Southern Pacific and son of Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance of the Harriman system.

The young man, who donned overalls and acted as a wiper when the shopmen struck, today put his views in this form: "The rich man's son is not taken seriously by his fellow workers. They think he is following some whim."

To escape this handicap, young Kruttschnitt says he never has anything to do officially with his father.

FARMER LOSES WAY AND NEARLY FREEZES TO DEATH

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Jan. 11.—(Special)—Losing his way while returning to his home on a farm after a trip to town, and being compelled to spend the night in a haystack with the temperature many degrees below zero and the snow blowing in great clouds, was the experience of Emil Kutschke, a prominent McPherson county farmer.

Because of the bad condition of the roads, his team traveled slowly, and when night set in he yet was several miles from home.

After driving a few miles in the darkness he became confused and believed he had lost his way. He saw the real estate agent's office and made their way to the haystack, where Kutschke decided to camp for the night.

He nearly froze to death, and in the morning was barely able to move so badly was he chilled. Much to his surprise he discovered that he was only a few miles from home.

In the meantime his safety had aroused the neighborhood and a search-party search was about to be made for him.
