LORIMER GOES INTO DETAIL

Senator Insists Upon Explaining Answers to All Questions. HANECEY READS THE PAPERS. Attorney Attempts to Show by Chicago Journals that Lorimer is the Only Man Who Could Have Been Elected.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Details of the Band of Hope, the Hopkins Helping Handers and the Hopkins Apple Barrel, all things more or less synonymous with republican politics in Illinois in the senatorial fight of 1902 and 1908, were told by Senator Lorimer today before the committee of senators investigating his election.

Part of the morning session was taken up reading of political stories printed by Chicago papers at the time of Senator Lorimer's election. Judge Hanecey insisted on reading them in full to the committee. He said they would support his contention that Hopkins could never have been elected with the opposition of Governor Deneen and that Senator Lorimer was the one man at that time who could be elected with democratic votes.

This was Senator Lorimer's third day as a witness and his testimony had reached only the groundwork stage. Counsel on both sides expressed the opinion that his cross-examination might not be reached before Saturday. Members of the investigating committee are taking a leading part in the inquiry. Senators Kern, Jones and Fletcher ask almost as many questions as the lawyers.

Senator Lorimer gives complete answers and insists on explaining contributing incidents. Frequently when asked a question he says: "I think I had better tell you the story that goes with that." Then he relates the events which have political significance to the point in question.

IOWANS CHOSE CEDAR RAPIDS

Republican State Committee Picks Convention City. C. M. THOMAS IS TO PRESIDE

DES MOINES, Jan. 11.—The republican state central committee in session here late this afternoon selected Cedar Rapids, Ia., as the place of holding the republican state convention. The date agreed upon was April 24. C. M. Thomas, a "progressive" of Maquoketa, Ia., was chosen temporary chairman. Vigo Lingby of Council Bluffs had the proxy of Committeeman Lorans of the Eighth district, who was delayed the storm.

Des Moines probably will get the late convention, which is to be held after the national convention, according to members of the committee. At the conclusion of the session Carl Frank of Parkersburg, chairman of the state committee, announced his candidacy for national committeeman to succeed Ernest R. Hart of Council Bluffs. John T. Adams of Dubuque and E. R. Moore of Cedar Rapids are other candidates.

DES MOINES, Jan. 11.—Snow, driven by a strong wind, swept over Iowa today. The government thermometer here tonight registered 15 degrees below zero, and is expected to sink to 20 below before morning. Reports from the northern part of the state show temperatures ranging from 15 to 20 degrees below zero. Mason City experienced the coldest day of the winter with a temperature of 15 below.

New Corporations. There was filed with the secretary of state today the articles of the Central Investment company of Augusta, Me., with $2,500 in use in Iowa; the Davenport Novelty and Manufacturing company of Davenport, $5,000; Sentinel Publishing company, Osceola, $5,000, and the Iowa Beef Cattle Producers' association.

Board of Health Meets. The regular meeting of the State Board of Health was held today. Members first report that general health conditions are good in the state, though there has been some diphtheria and typhoid in various parts of the state. A number of certificates were signed of new doctors in the state.

Farm Papers Divide. A surprise was sprung today when the Iowa Homestead, oldest of the farm papers of the state, came out strongly against Prof. Holden for governor, and in opposition to the attitude of other farm papers that are back of the Holden candidacy for governor as distinctly for the benefit of the farmer. The Homestead would be of any benefit to the state as the republican candidate and recalls the fact that a few years ago he was connected up with a land booming scheme for far western lands.

Educational Directory Issued. The state department of public instruction has just issued a new educational directory. The reports of county superintendents show that there was spent in the state last year for schools $4,538,250. The number of teachers employed was 37,218. The total school enrollment was 278,284 and the average school attendance 261,216. There are fifty consolidated rural schools and ninety-nine schools were closed so that the pupils might be transported elsewhere.

Iowa News Notes. DENISON—The books of the county auditor show that the tax valuation of property in Crawford county amounts to $2,365,000 and that on this $22,500 will be raised. The leading items of expense are as follows: State, $2,000; bridge, $4,000; teachers, $3,000; county, $4,500.

LOGAN—Jim Millman, the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Millman of Logan, was picked up unconscious following a fall on icy streets here Tuesday evening and taken to his home where he was confined to his bed yesterday because of injuries sustained on the side of his head. He will recover.

MAJORITY OF THE EXPEDITION WILL BE SENT TO PERSIA. CALCUTTA, British India, Jan. 11.—Orders were issued today to the brigade of infantry stationed at Ahmadnagar to hold itself in readiness to proceed immediately to Persia. Reports as to the dangers incurred by merchants traveling over the trade routes in southern Persia led to this step.

MANILA, Jan. 11.—Delay has arisen in connection with the departure of the transport Logan, which is to convey the first battalion of the Fifteenth infantry regiment to China. It will now probably not leave until Friday morning.

Major James M. Arrasmith, who will be in command, will be accompanied by an officer of the intelligence department and will report to William J. Calhoun, American minister at Peking.

FIX PRICES AND MAINTAIN THEM

(Continued from First Page.) Fighting against such an influence as that? Mr. Carnegie also related how he had given a credit to Collins P. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific, at a time when Huntington was "hard up."

"He was my friend," said Carnegie. "What chance had a paid agent to compete under those conditions?" Mr. Carnegie was questioned at length about the price of steel rails, the committee seeking to establish, if possible, whether it was fair or unreasonable.

Representative Gardner (Mass.), and Mr. Carnegie had a fit, Mr. Gardner becoming quite agitated, and Mr. Carnegie refusing to be frustrated. "Do you believe $25 a ton a reasonable charge for steel rails at the present time?" demanded Mr. Gardner.

"I think it is a liberal price." "Would $20 be a fair price?" "I don't want to sit here as a critic on my successors." "Was $25 a reasonable or unreasonable price for rails when you left the business?"

Asked to Be More Specific. "I would like to ask my counsel a question," Mr. Carnegie replied. "I think your question is but unreasonable." "Mr. Carnegie, in view of the examination of the last two days," said Mr. Gardner, "emphatically, I do not think I am unreasonable. It seems to me that you are reluctant to answer questions which are of interest. You were unable to tell us about the steel plate pools; you could tell us nothing about the book value of your property, and now when we ask you about what you thought a fair price for rails you turn to your counsel for advice."

"It turns to my counsel because at that time there might have been a boom in rails and the price had been up," said Mr. Carnegie. "I do not think $25 an unreasonable price," continued the ironmaster. "If there was a boom the price would have been higher. I was in the business of making money and wanted the highest price I could get. If I wanted to sell for $30 and the consumer was satisfied to buy at that price, that wouldn't be unfair, would it?"
