BLUFFS CHURCH FEEDS POOR

Meals and Warmth Offered to Needy at First Congregational.

READY FOR BUSINESS TODAY

Canvas Placed Over Carpets and Coffee, Soup and Sandwiches Will Be Served—Continues Indefinitely.

Dr. Donald Macrae's appeal in the Bee to the church people of Council Bluffs to open their churches to the poor during the severe cold weather, brought results before Dr. Macrae had eaten breakfast yesterday morning.

The women of the First Congregational church told him they were ready to use their church building. They spent yesterday getting the building ready and expect to be able to serve hot coffee, soup and sandwiches to the poor this afternoon.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon every cold and hungry person in Council Bluffs is invited to come to the church on First avenue near the northwestern corner of Bayliss park and eat and get warm.

The church will be kept open day and night indefinitely and food and warmth will be furnished free to every person who applies.

The members of the congregation particularly desire business men and others to whom appeals for aid are made to direct those seeking it to the church.

No Home is Too Good.

At first it was planned to serve the meals in the church basement, but J. F. Davis said no part of the church was too good for the suffering, so canvas was spread over the Sunday school room and dining room floors and the meals will be served there.

There is suffering of an acute character in Council Bluffs cannot be disguised. Miss Blanche Patterson, one of the teachers in the North Eighth street school, was led to the home of one of her little pupils on Friday evening and found his mother shivering in a thinly covered bed with a 3-day-old babe in her arms.

Miss Patterson was attracted to the boy by his pinched and hungry look and his thin summer clothing. The father had been away for nearly two months and the boy, required by law to attend school daily, had devoted every spare minute of his time trying to earn money to support

Much Water is Used to Prevent Freezing

The enormous quantity of water wasted by people, in most cases where the service is not metered, to prevent poorly protected plumbing from freezing, has put a task upon the pumps about equal to that required during the intensely hot and dry weather last summer.

Nearly 5,000,000 gallons more was pumped last week than for the same period three weeks ago, and 2,000,000 more than the succeeding week. The water commissioners have given warning that if this waste of water continues the supply may be shut off wherever it is found to be too great.

It only requires a few old newspapers, a little intelligence and a disposition to be fair and honest to protect fully the exposed pipes. Newspapers wrapped around the exposed pipes and loosely tied will effectively protect them against ordinary freezing conditions. With the scarcity of coal prevailing about half a carload was wanted to furnish the power to pump the additional water.

Following is the official report of the condition of the city water during the last week:

Table with 2 columns: Source, Bacteria per C.C. Treated water, 25; Raw river water, 5,000; Bacterial efficiency of treatment, 99.8 per cent; Turbidity river water, twelve parts per million; Turbidity river water, sixty parts per million; Total pumpage, 22,927,452 gallons.

CRAZY HORSE SEEKS HELP TO LOCATE SWINDLER

Charley Crazy Horse and his family, who say they were swindled by an alleged manager who enticed them from the Union depot in Omaha while they were en route from Chicago to Oklahoma, went to Omaha yesterday to appeal to the police for assistance in finding the man who had deceived them. All were given tickets across the bridge by Chief Fromm. Accompanying them was Mr. Dredge, owner of the boarding house on North Sixth street where the family was stopped after the board had been quarantined by the man who has robbed them. O. C. Brown, in whose moving picture show the family played a successful engagement, told the police yesterday that he paid their "manager" in full for their services, and there appears to be no doubt but the fellow thus collected their pay at all of the places in Omaha and Council Bluffs where he made engagements. After he had induced them to spend every cent of their own money to

Corn Cobs Are Put to Commercial Use

The Droege Elevator company has decided to invest $20,000 in a plant for crushing corn cobs and transforming them into material of increasing commercial value.

For three years ago for the benefit of a Nebraska man two or three years ago. It takes the place of sawdust and pine shavings for use in oxydizing iron filings or purifying gas at gas plants. The corn cobs have been found to be about 10 per cent more efficient and to last about twice as long as the shavings. The large people began the crushing process of corn cobs for the benefit of Manager A. L. English of the Council Bluffs city gas plant, but they soon had other plants to supply and the crushing business became an important part of their activities. They have added other crushers from time to time and have now created a demand that requires wholesale facilities.

WARREN HUGH LIKES PLAN

Expresses Desire that Church People Will Help the Poor.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Jan. 13.—To the Editor of The Bee: I desire to say I feel like patting Dr. Donald Macrae on the back for his position to help the city destitute. I always thought that the doctor's heart was in the right place and now I know it is. I hope the ministers of the city will take kindly what Dr. Macrae said in the matter at the Christmas time. Much was done to give the poor not only a good dinner, but enough to last a few days. No just person would condemn a vigor to this city spent three weeks to gather the food and clothing and to distribute them, but since that time the longest cold and now more weather has prevailed and now no one person, though he be suffering, could reach and relieve the terrible suffering, but it should be a concerted action by all that are able to assist in this matter. We should not stop to ask who they are, whether white or black, nor what brought on their suffering, they are human and have feelings, though their fathers may be drunkards. No just person would condemn a vigor to perish with cold and hunger, though he had bit the most innocent. Now I hope the church

The body of Miss Nellie O'Day, who died in Council Bluffs, Neb., after an illness of only a few hours, will arrive here this morning for burial. Miss O'Day was a daughter of Mrs. F. S. O'Day, 706 Harney street. Her home was at Cheney, Neb. She was taken ill while stopping at the boarding house on North Sixth street. Her condition was made known to the police department and the coroner's office. Her body will be taken to the undertaking parlors of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth, which will be held tomorrow morning from St. Peter's Catholic church. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock of the services. The remains will be buried in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The intense cold which involved a mass of collected molders in a local case in which James Mulvaney sued John Bryant for $200 for the loss of an ear in a fight. Mulvaney alleged Bryant bit off his ear. Bryant didn't deny it, but pleaded self-defense, and set up the additional claim that he had dodged Mulvaney for two days to escape having to fight him for the reason that he not only didn't want to fight, but he had appendicitis and was not in condition. The jury evidently believed him, for it returned a verdict for Bryant and left Mulvaney carless and with the costs to pay.

Bites Man's Ear Off in Self Defense

MAREHALTOWN, Ia., Jan. 14.—(Special.)—If, while in a fight you should bite off your opponent's ear, and claim self-defense and in support of that claim make the showing that you had appendicitis and were really not in condition for the squared circle you would stand a chance of not having to pay your opponent damages when he sued you because of the assault and the ear that was bitten off.

Council Bluffs

IMPORTANT POINT INVOLVED IN CASE IN SUPREME COURT

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 14.—(Special.)—Application has been made to the supreme court of Nebraska for a new trial and a rehearing of the case of the state against Ball, which was decided in favor of the state in November, 1910. By that decision the right of the state to the most valuable part of a school section in Cherry county was fully established, the contention of Attorney General Martin being sustained.

This case is one of great importance to the entire state, as its surveyors have reported that many school sections or parts of them are now claimed by rascals, their claims being based on surveys made on a wrong theory under which the state was granted sections 15 and 20 in every township for school purposes. The decision in the Ball case will permit the state to clear away any clouds on the title to its lands made by these subsequent surveys.

In their brief on motion for rehearing counsel for Ball have quoted extensively from a recent decision of Judge Sanborn of the United States circuit court of appeals, which involved the ownership of the east river bed of the Missouri near East Omaha, in which C. R. Hannan claimed title through purchase from the state.

The federal court held that the state of Iowa was now estopped to claim ownership in the old river bed by reason of its permitting the railroad company to spend a large amount of money in improving the land and in collecting taxes for those twenty-six years. The state of Iowa made no claim of ownership during those twenty-six years.

Because Ball paid $15 taxes to the state of Nebraska on the school land in Cherry county his attorneys are now claiming the Iowa case is a parallel one. They are insisting that the state of Nebraska is estopped to claim any ownership in this school land.

But Attorney General Martin has pointed out that the state of Nebraska never admitted the ownership of Ball. The state of Nebraska has always leased this land along with other school lands, thus claiming ownership. Mr. Martin insists that the officials of Cherry county had no authority to assess this school land of the state, even though it was claimed by Ball. The state has always claimed this land and has exercised ownership over it by leasing it.
