

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Leaders in Wheat Trade Now Appear Less Confident.

CORN RECEIPTS STILL LIGHT

Largest Factors in Corn Trade Are Evidently Divided and Some Active Market Days Are Expected.

OMAHA, Jan. 19, 1912. Many leaders in the wheat trade are taking less confident today as a result of the late decline registered yesterday. There is plenty of adverse weather and crop news from Argentina, but this is not being given much attention by the trade, as the cash wheat and flour trade is not very encouraging. Hardly any export receipts more than a scaling market for some time.

The largest factors in the corn trade are evidently divided and some very active market days are expected. Cash corn is very strong and shipping sales liberal, while the receipts continue light, which keeps the trade in a bullish position.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—TALK of an alleged shortage of 50,000 bushels of wheat in May wheat here gave a strong tone to the market today in the last hour. As a result of this, the market advanced 1/4 cent to 1 1/2 cents. Latest trading left corn 1/4 cent off to advance, and a shade to be higher and hog products at a 1/2 cent decline.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Prices of Securities Move Upward Briskly During Day.

BUYING MORE AGGRESSIVE

Better Inquiry Evident, and in Last Hour Demand Expanded Enough to Send Up Quotations Rapidly.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Prices of stocks moved upward briskly today. The standard railroad shares, which have been dominant for the last week, stepped back into the lead, and less attention was paid to the specialties which recently have almost monopolized speculative interest. The day's volume of business was not large, but the movement was a broad and comprehensive one.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Business Situation Shows Strengthened Confidence.

COLD WEATHER HITS RETAILERS

Best Conditions Rule in Iron and Steel Trade, in Which Further Large Orders Increase Volume of Business.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say: Extreme cold weather, while it has stimulated certain branches of trade, has had the general effect of checking distribution, otherwise the business situation shows a strengthened confidence, combined with a clearly defined conservatism.

The best exhibit continues in iron and steel. The further larger orders by the railroads, the increased and individual contractors serve to increase the volume of business and cut down the number of idlers. The steel trade, which production continues at a fair rate, is firmer, especially the basic grades, which are in demand for more active and in place in being secured in fair volume. Business in railroad equipment is also increasing. The steel trade, which production continues at a fair rate, is firmer, especially the basic grades, which are in demand for more active and in place in being secured in fair volume.

Among the various sales made this morning were very good lambs at $3.25 a few yearlings at $3.50 and a small string of ewes at $1.75. Heavy hog fat lambs are now selling around $3, indicating a quotable limit of $3.50 for something better than first-class in every respect to command $1.50 or better. Wetters have been scarce at all times lately.
