FORMER TEACHER IS AUTHOR

Child's Reader in Verse Immediately Adopted by Book Concern.

WILL FILL A LONG FELT WANT

To Bridge the Gap in the Child's Education Before the Printed Words Are Coupled with Thoughts.

Mrs. Sam Edridge of San Antonio, Tex., formerly Miss Emma Levi of Hill Howard street, a graduate of the Omaha High school and an Omaha school teacher for ten years, has broken into the literary limelight as the author of "A Child's Reader in Verse," which the American Book company accepted for publication at first reading, and which will soon be put on sale for introduction in public schools.

"A bee can hum,
A goat can bleat,
A cat can purr,
And a dog can growl,
A horse can neigh,
A wolf can howl,
And I can talk.

The wind can blow,
The fire can burn,
A brook can flow,
And I can learn."

It is by such verses as these, thinks Mrs. Edridge, that the gap can be bridged in the child's education between the first mechanical reading work and the growing association of printed words with thoughts. The child loves the rhythm and swing of verse, she says, therefore he is more interested in simple verse than in prose, which makes it easier for him to associate the thoughts with the words.

The book deals with various phases of child life in its relation to animate and inanimate objects. What little girl would want to have dirty hands after reading "The Morning Bath," which tells how the birds and chickens and cats wash themselves as soon as the sun is up and how even the flowers are bathed in morning dew? "What boy would waste his time without a quail of confidence after reading the story of "The Clock," how it ticks off the seconds that grow into days and hours and years? Here is one entitled "Do Work Well."

"Every little drop of rain
Has some work to do;
So has every plant that grows—
So, dear child, have you.
Things like those can never choose
To do work-well or ill.
You, my child, can do work well,
If you only will."

It was the interest of her own two little girls in rhyme that led Mrs. Edridge to the writing of this volume. Her husband is assistant city attorney of San Antonio.

Michaelsen a Stop to Loan Shark Grab

Waldemar Michaelsen, city electrician, is a member of the Omaha Danish Aid society and yesterday went on a mission of charity to a Danish family. This family was in need of money during the severe cold weather and borrowed $3 from a loan shark. On this amount they agreed to pay $8 at the end of six months, as they had done so before, being led to believe that such interest was fair. Mr. Michaelsen went to the loan shark and stated positively that he would not pay a cent more than the loan, which amounted to $1 instead of $8. The loan agent agreed to this and promised not to exact such a rate from the Danish family again. Mr. Michaelsen said this one family had paid the one loan because about $4 in interest at a similar rate.

Makes Profession of Joining Army

Robert McCoombs found a way to travel about the country at the expense of the government, but will now have to answer for his travels to the United States commissioner. About two months ago McCoombs enlisted at the Omaha army recruiting station and was furnished with transportation to Denver. McCoombs stayed at Denver a few days and then left. About a month ago he enlisted at San Francisco and was furnished with transportation to Denver again. Yesterday he applied for enlistment at the Omaha station again, but he was recognized. He was told to come back this morning. When he returned he was arrested by Officer Wheeler. McCoombs had never taken the oath when at Denver and the recruiting officers have not the power to swear in the recruits.

CLUB BUYS COURTLAND BEACH

Rod and Gun Members Unanimous for the New Project.

FINANCIAL SCHEME WORKED OUT

Stockholding Members to Pay Stipulated Sum and Receive Lots and Freedom from Dues—Fifty Thousand Figure Named.

Over 20 stockholders of the Rod and Gun club at a special meeting last night at the Home hotel voted unanimously to buy Courtland beach and the adjacent grounds as a site for the club.

The property will be secured from the Creighton Realty company at a cost of $20,000. Five years time has been granted the club to pay for it.

A scheme was submitted by Frank Weaver, chairman of the finance committee, which showed how money could be raised with which to buy the property.

An entirely new club under a new constitution will be formed, unanimous consent being given this plan.

The project calls for at least 100 active members who will pay $100 into the general fund, which will be used for the purchase of the site and the expense of improving it. With 100 or more charter members the fund would amount to $10,000 or over, and $20,000 would be used for the purchase of the site. Each stockholding member will be entitled to permanent privileges at the club and will be given a cottage lot on the ground adjacent to the lake front.

The dependent members of the stockholder's family would also be exempt from dues at the club.

Besides the stockholding members there will be a special associate membership as formerly practiced by the club. The dues of the new organization may not be changed although a new constitution will be drawn up.

Avoiding Old Constitution.
The reason for the new constitution is on account of the old constitution not allowing the members to contract a debt of more than $10,000.

The new club will take possession of its quarters at Courtland beach on April 1 when the first $2,000 is paid on the purchase price of $20,000.

According to the terms on June 1 another $1,000 is to be paid, July 1, $1,000; July 1, 1913, $1,000; September 1, 1914, $1,000; January 1, 1915, $1,000; January 1, 1915, $1,000; January 1, 1917, $2,000.

In purchasing the property the club will not have the revenue from the ice in the winter until after July, 1917. Swift & company now have the ice cutting rights.

A meeting will be held in the near future to consider changing the name of the club, if it is so desired and also to arrange some plan for the distribution of the lots as there is evidence that objections will be made by some of the stockholding members if they do not get a choice lot.

Passengers Pounce Upon a Pickpocket

J. D. Rogers, Frank Lawson and John F. Mullen were principals in the enactment of wild scenes on a north-bound Park avenue street car Thursday.

They were at sixteenth and Chicago when one of them saw a man attempting to open the pocketbook of a woman on the car.

The three at once attempted to arrest the fellow and after a struggle managed to subdue him. He was marched to the police station and to Desk Sergeant Marshall said his name was J. J. Boyd.

ROBBER GETS GEMS; CAUGHT

Forces Mrs. Salvi to Yield Valuable Diamonds by Gun Play.

LINES UP HUSBAND AND SON

Shoots at All, Missing Them, in Making Escape and is Found Hiding in Flats at Seventeenth and Cass.

Diamonds valued at $200 had just been forced from Mrs. Sylvia Salvi by a robber at 421 North Sixteenth street, at a o'clock last night when the woman's husband walked in upon the scene.

Backed against the wall, he and his wife and son, W. A. Montgomery, were shot at by the robber in making his retreat from the upper hall of the place.

Two of the bullets narrowly missed Salvi's head.

The loud reports brought patrolman Hudson. With Salvi he followed the robber from a saloon downstairs into which the robber had also fled in his anxiety to escape, and located the man hiding in the Estabrook flats under construction at Seventeenth and Cass streets.

Patrolman Hudson took the revolver from the man and handcuffed him, led him to the police station. The charms skin bag containing Mrs. Salvi's jewels were taken from his pocket.

Says Took Jewels for Revenge.
The man gave his name as J. E. Fredericks and said that he was a railroad man, living at Norfolk, Neb. He declared he took the jewelry to avenge himself for the loss of a watch which Mrs. Salvi had taken from him.

A pawn ticket in his possession showed that the watch he spoke of is at the American loan office.

Fredericks went to the Salvi rooming house Wednesday night and secured a room. When he returned last night, Mrs. Salvi and her son, who operates the rooming house, thought he had come in to retire. Montgomery was at the stove in the rooming house office punching the fire, when the man walked in.

Mrs. Salvi, who was there on a visit, was seated in a chair nearby. "Give me your pocketbook," demanded Fredericks. Mrs. Salvi threw out her hands and said she had no pocketbook.

"It's in your waist there. Give it to me." To emphasize the demand Fredericks jerked forth a revolver and leveled it at the woman. Mrs. Salvi immediately complied.

Shoots at Salvi.
When the son raised from his stooping posture in front of the stove, Fredericks pointed the gun at him with the demand that he stand back against the wall.

Then Salvi came up the stairs and walked directly in front of Fredericks before he saw the gun. He also was made to back against the wall and the robber showed his determination by shooting directly at his head.

Turning about, Fredericks ran down stairs. He opened the rear door of the saloon below and emptied the remaining cartridges from his revolver as he was leaving.

Mrs. Salvi wore diamond earrings and a valuable diamond brooch which Fredericks did not take. The charms skin bag that he made her give him contained five diamond rings and two pairs of cuff buttons. One pair cuff buttons was made of $2.50 gold pieces.

Mrs. Salvi formerly was Miss Georgia Kaiser. She lives at 138 North Fourteenth street.

The police do not believe that Fredericks is a crook. He was drunk when he entered the house. He was recently released from the hospital, where he had been all summer as the result of an accident in a railway wreck last spring.

In police court Fredericks said he did not know he had the jewels or that he had entered the house until told of it this morning. He claims the last thing he remembered was eating dinner yesterday noon and knew nothing until he awoke this morning in jail. His plea was not guilty to a charge of grand larceny and robbery and was bound over to the district court.

TURKS LOSE FIERCE BATTLE

Large Party Attacks Column of Italians Near Tripoli.

FRENCH STEAMSHIP IS SEIZED

Italian Officer Says that Supposed Red Cross Nurses on Board Are Turkish Officers in Disguise.

TRIPOLI, Jan. 18.—A terrific attack was made yesterday by a large body of Turks and Arabs on an Italian column, which was on the march, about ten miles from the town of Tripoli.

The Italian troops, which consisted of detachments of all arms, left Tripoli early in the morning on the way to Ghirgah, a small oasis situated about ten miles along the coast to the west of the town and surrounded by a number of mud forts, which hitherto had given shelter to Arab irregulars.

Suddenly, as the soldiers were marching along the road, which runs parallel to the coast, they were attacked by a large force of Turks and Arabs. The Italians immediately took up position and threw up field entrenchments. The enemy continued its attacks through the day, but finally retired.

Details of the losses have not been reported.

Turks Retreat to Desert.
After the Italian army, which included three battalions of line infantry, a battalion of grenadiers, two batteries of artillery, two squadrons of cavalry and other details, had taken up position after the first onslaught by the Turks in the vicinity of Ghirgah, a galling fire was poured in on them.

The Turks and Arabs, who were in considerable strength, were under cover in the brush of the oasis.

Artillery fire from the Italian batteries caused the enemy to withdraw for a time, but they returned later with heavy reinforcements and succeeded in turning the Italian right.

The Italian commander succeeded in rallying his forces and after several hours' fighting the Turks finally retreated to the desert.

French Vessel Seized.
TUNIS, Jan. 18.—Italian destroyers today seized the French steamer Manouba, bound to Tunis from Marseilles.

The Manouba is a small boat belonging to the French line. It was carrying sixty-nine passengers, including twenty-nine Turkish nurses, belonging to the company of the Red Cross, which has the same object as the Red Cross society.

The steamship officers declare that the vessel was not carrying contraband of any kind. In spite of this the vessel was arrested and taken to Cagliari in Sardinia.

The Italian officers who effected the seizure of the Manouba professed to believe that Turkish officers were on board disguised as nurses.

Italian destroyers also stopped and searched the German steamer Schleswig of the North German Lloyd line, which

SAGE TEA DARKENS THE HAIR AND RESTORES COLOR TO GRAY HAIR

Cures Dandruff, Stops the Hair from Falling Out and Makes It Grow.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than you could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is call for the ready-made product, Wyrath's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage, in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyrath's Sage and Sulphur today, and notice the difference after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.
