Date Set for Seed Corn Trains to Run Over State Roads

E. Buckingham and E. P. Peck of the committee of business men appointed to confer with the railroads on the proposed seed corn specials, have announced tentative plans for the trains, which are to be provided free by the roads. Four trains, manned by demonstrators and lecturers from the experiment station of the University of Nebraska, under direction of Prof. Pugsley, will start out on February 25—two on the Burlington, one on the Union Pacific and one on the Northwestern. The Burlington plans to put on a third train on March 4 to visit places not included in the schedules of the other two. Local officials of the "Omaha" road have taken up with headquarters at St. Paul the matter of sending out a train. Each train will carry two cars especially for lecturers, with a lecturer for each car. It may be decided to add a third car for domestic science demonstrations to attract the women. Testing of seed corn has been begun by Manager Parrish of the publicity bureau of the Commercial club. Mr. Parrish is testing a number of samples sent in and will take care of all the corn testing the farmers ask him to do.

Removing Houses Quite a Problem

The McCague Investment company resumed the sale of the buildings on the tract of ground that is to be occupied by the Rock Island terminals. The sale is at public auction and seventy-nine of the 100 houses were sold on the first day. The sale is short of the auction features, owing to the small number of buildings remaining. The prospective buyers are going from house to house and there making the purchases. So far all of the houses have sold at prices very satisfactory to the Great Western officials, the company they represent being the owner. Getting the houses off the Rock Island grounds is a problem that now confronts the purchasers. The smaller buildings can be hauled across the Mason street viaduct, but the structure is not wide or strong enough to carry the larger ones. This seems to be the only way to get out of the place, which has been designated at the "bow" for on all sides it is surrounded by numerous railroad tracks.

Quotes Scripture in Giving Stock

F. B. Kennard has donated 30 shares of stock in the Auditorium to the city, the donation being made conditionally. The condition is explained in a Biblical quotation attached to the donation blank: "And he looked up and saw the rich men casting their gifts into the treasury and he saw also a certain poor widow, casting thither two mites. And he said of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow has cast in more than they all." "When this scene is repeated in Omaha," said Mr. Kennard, "by the rich ones, you may count on me for 30 mites."

UNION PACIFIC OFFICIALS WILL HOLD MORE MEETINGS

Passenger Traffic Manager Fort of the Union Pacific has returned from the Salt Lake meeting of the officials of the western lines of the Harriman system. President Mohler and Vice President Munroe are still in the west inspecting the various properties. The Salt Lake meeting, according to Mr. Fort, was an important one, at which traffic matters were the principal things discussed. These meetings are likely to be made regular affairs in the future, but not necessarily will they always be held in Salt Lake City. In the past such matters as were considered at Salt Lake have been discussed by letters and telegrams. However, it has been found much more satisfactory to have the official heads of the Harriman system meet in conference and there thrash out all matters coming up for consideration.

CHARITIES NAME COMMITTEE

Argument Made for Removal of Correction from Politics.

LONG TERMS ARE ADVOCATED Delegates to Charities Convention Urge Passage of Proposed Constitutional Amendment for Board of Control.

Father Joseph Reusing of West Point, Mrs. F. H. Cole of Omaha and J. E. Miller of Lincoln were appointed a committee at the state Conference of Charities and Correction yesterday to inform voters as to the constitutional amendment for a board of control of state institutions, to be voted upon at the next state election. It will be their purpose to secure the adoption of the amendment.

The naming of the committee followed an address by Bishop Beecher on "Prison Reform." "Appointments to the management of state institutions," he said, "are at present made the currency of political exchange. Every appointment should be made for at least eight years and an appointee should be removed by the governor only on evidence of mismanagement."

Judge Lincoln Frost of Lincoln urged members of the convention to work for the passage of the proposed constitutional amendment for a board of control, assuring them it would take the management of state institutions out of politics. Begin at the Bottom.

Bishop Beecher said the piece for social workers to begin prison work is at the police station, where the "possibles" may be sifted out from the hardened criminals and saved from a life of crime.

Judge Frost asked the convention to again urge on the legislature the law killed in the last legislature, providing for salaried probation officers in each county. The state, instead of the Society for the Friendless and the Prison Reform association, should be looking after its paroled prisoners, he said. He said the laws should be amended to provide for suspension of sentence in misdemeanor cases, as well as felony cases. Dr. J. A. Leavitt, superintendent of the Nebraska division of the Society for the Friendless, suggested that it would be well for the state to furnish each paroled prisoner with a suit of clothes and find a job for him. The rule now is that a man must have a job before a parole is granted. One or two months may elapse between the finding of work and the granting of parole and the result is the man has no work when he gets out. Dr. Leavitt declared that juvenile courts in each county would lessen the number of boys in the Kearney Industrial school by 50 per cent. He denounced the prison contract system. County jails should be abolished, he said, and in their stead should be one state jail to every four, six or eight counties, based on population, making a great saving of expense. Restricted Marriage Bill. Dr. Leavitt announced that the Society for the Friendless has drawn a bill for a restricted marriage law; that the governor had approved this bill and promised to urge its passage in his next message to the legislature.

F. W. Booth, superintendent of the Nebraska School for the Deaf, told of the oral method of teaching the deaf, after which Emily K. Sauter demonstrated the method with a class of deaf boys and girls. The little folk actually talked, though slowly. After Miss Sauter had carried on a conversation with them a man in the audience asked if the children could read his lips. He was told to try them and he asked one of the boys to bring him a ball. The little fellow walked across the stage, picked up a ball and brought it to him and the man was satisfied.

General Freight Agent Lane of the Union Pacific is back from a tour of inspection that covered a greater portion of the Kansas and Colorado divisions of the road. Every where he found the country in fine condition, measured from an agricultural viewpoint.

According to Mr. Lane through eastern Colorado and Kansas the fall of snow during the last few weeks has been the heaviest in years. There are portions of Kansas covering large areas where snow has fallen to a depth of two feet. Most of it has melted away, but the melting has been so gradual that all of the water has soaked into the ground, wetting it thoroughly for several inches.

Prospects Bright for Bumper Crops

In Colorado, not only in the mountains, but in the valleys the fall of snow has been a record-breaker. When it melts it will put the ground in excellent condition, and besides this the irrigation reservoirs will be filled to overflowing, containing sufficient water to carry the dry season next summer.

Mr. Lane reports a large acreage of winter wheat in southern Nebraska and Kansas and says that he has never seen the cereal look so well at this season of the year. Where the snow has melted off and it can be inspected it is a perfect mat, covering the ground and as green as in early summer.
