Stomach in Your Vest Pocket

Tablets That Have the "Stomach-Power" of a Real Stomach—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It. When your stomach's overworked and the average person's stomach is overworked a good part of the time—take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and give the stomach a week or a month off. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do more than assist digestion—they actually digest the food themselves, because they contain only the natural elements of the digestive fluids. Coated tongue, bad breath, heartburn, belching, flatulence, bloating—all the symptoms of digestive troubles, disappear quickly when these tablets are used. They are not a cure for anything but dyspepsia and kindred complaints. But they have brought relief to more sufferers from digestive diseases than all the patent medicines and doctor's prescriptions put together. The stomach does the heaviest work of any of the bodily organs, yet it's the one we treat with the least regard. We eat too much of the wrong kind of food at any time. The patient stomach stands such treatment as long as it can and then it rebels. You get notice of the rebellion in the shape of the gases and pains caused by indigestion, fermenting food. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will put the stomach right again in short order, and enable you to eat what you want when you want it. Carry them around with you; they are an actual substitute for a weakened, "all-in" stomach. They act in a hurry, when you want relief, they act quickly, promptly, safely and naturally in digesting your food, just as nature does herself; they bring the stomach back to normal condition. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold and recommended by all druggists at 50c and $1.00 a box. If you would like a trial package we will send you one, free, on receipt of your name and address. ### COMPETITION YET LIVES, SAYS HILL

"I've Got It Right Here. You Never Catch Me Without a Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in My Vest Pocket."

(Continued from First Page.) started business put the money in and would not be jealous on account of the size of the corporation. I would not permit any watering of stock. I would see that 100 cents on every dollar was put up and that the money was on hand to take care of it. "Well, you tried a railroad continuation once, didn't you?" Representative Burtwell asked, referring to the Northern Securities case, "the government did not let you carry it out, and you are still doing a profitable railroad business?" "Yes, and not making any complaint," Mr. Hill said. Mr. Beall asked again if the witness had faith in competition. "You asked me if I have faith," he answered. "I feel like the man whose wife was dying. The minister came and asked the husband if she were resigned. He replied that she had not. I haven't resigned faith in competition. I think it is not in the power of man to eliminate competition. When we are trampled we may get along without competition. I'll tell you we must be satisfied to keep our feet on the earth and go as fast as our forebears did."

"Do you think we can trust competition to deal with our complex business problems?" "I don't know of any overgrown corporation that has established itself in success permanently. The Standard Oil company came nearest to it of any."

Four Opinions of Speculators.

Mr. Hill told the committee that he paid little attention to speculation, and he thought that men who made speculative prices in Wall street did not know much about actual conditions in mines 15,000 miles away. He predicted, taking issue with Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith, that the ore in the Hill lease, held by the steel corporation as worth $1 a ton, would be worth $1.50 to $2 royalty a ton. He predicted that before many years pig iron could be laid down in Brooklyn from China for $17 a ton. Mr. Hill aroused some interest when he said that Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the lumber magnate, had refused to pay $25,000 for the fee to the Wright and Davis lands, which he afterward bought as the major portion of the land leased to the steel corporation and containing iron ore estimated at 60,000,000 tons. "I think Mr. Weyerhaeuser made a mistake," Mr. Hill said. Mr. Hill said he thought it was important for the steel corporation to get control of all the ore it could. "And we are not wearing any crepe because they have decided to cancel the lease on our ore lands," Mr. Hill observed. "We were not anxious to make that lease."

"You knew that Judge Gary did not want to make that lease?" Mr. Stanley asked. "Didn't he?" Mr. Hill asked. "He never told me so—I didn't chase after them. Mr. Gary signed it. Some of the directors thought the price was high."

"Wasn't there one far-seeing business man who insisted on it?" "No."

"If you ever advised that J. Pierpont Morgan insisted that this lease be made?" "I never was," said Mr. Hill.

Jealousy Stirs Man to Triple Tragedy

IOWA CITY, Ia., Feb. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Thought to have been mentally unbalanced and angered at the sight of his cousin in his room, Fred Boarts, a bartender, shot his wife, his cousin Ben Boarts, then turned the gun on himself inflicting wounds which will probably prove fatal. The cousin died at a late hour this afternoon and the wife is not expected to live. The triple tragedy took place in the Boarts' room over a saloon at 1114 South Dubuque street at 3 o'clock today. No one witnessed the shooting, a fusillade of shots and the sight of Ben Boarts running down the street being the first inkling of the triple crime.

BOTH MEN GIVEN PRAISE

Endorsement Given Neither Roosevelt or La Follette at Lincoln.

LA FOLLETTE MANAGER ON EDGE

Intimates Very Plainly in Private that He Thinks Roosevelt is Seeking to Reap Where La Follette Has Sown.

La Follette-Roosevelt Ticket.

Delegates at Large—J. J. McCarthy, F. J. F. King, Oscar, Lincoln, Merriam, Omaha, and D. L. Love, Nathan. Alternates at Large—Don Vandusen, Blair, J. A. Davies, Boyd county, O. L. Fairbury, and Dan Garber, Red Cloud. Electors at Large—J. A. Hensau, Lincoln, W. W. Hensau, Omaha. National Committeeman—R. E. Howell, Omaha.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—The La Follette-Roosevelt meeting last night, attended by from seventy-five to 100 people, was a thoroughly well regulated affair. While the meeting was called for the evening a few of the faithful got together in the afternoon and kindly took the burden of doing anything off the hands of the men who had come in from over the state in response to the call of Secretary Corrick.

Chairman McCarthy had a list of the committee on resolutions and of the names of his year's pocket before he called for order. The resolutions were prepared in the afternoon, but some who got a look at them, which means in this instance W. L. Houser, the general manager of the La Follette boom, who came from Wisconsin to look after affairs, did not like the wording of the double barreled endorsement of La Follette and Roosevelt. The committee was therefore sent out to put the soft pedal on the Roosevelt paragraph, which it obediently did.

Governor Aldrich, perhaps unwittingly, gave the snap away when in making a motion to name the committee and delegates he said the secretary had the list. The resolutions committee, pro se, was: Charles O. Whedon, Lancaster; A. T. White, Washington; H. Halderon, Madison; E. H. Corry, Thayer; I. D. Evans, Adams; J. Fuller, Boyd; J. L. McBrien, Lancaster.

While the committee was out fixing up the Roosevelt resolution the nominations were made as above. The executive committee was empowered to fill any vacancies that might occur.

Governor Aldrich then raised the question what the ticket should be labeled on the ballot. It was said by some that the secretary of state had said he would group the two sets of republican nominees, but there was a serious question whether they could be named anything except republican under the primary law. This suggestion seemed to be the consensus of opinion and it was finally resolved to leave the matter with the executive committee to arrange.

Resolutions Adopted.

The resolutions were then read as follows: As progressive republicans of Nebraska, in state conference assembled, on this, the twelfth day of February, 1912, the one hundred and third anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, we deem it our civic duty to adopt the following declaration of principles and to commend them to the considerate judgment of Nebraska voters at elections of past political affiliations and alliances.

We believe with Abraham Lincoln that there should be a patient confidence in the ultimate justice of the people; with Lincoln that there is no better or equal way to secure the rights of the people; with Lincoln that the rightful authority on all vital questions of government rests with the people; with Lincoln that the people of the state and in the nation, for we believe with Lincoln that truth and justice will prevail by the judgment of this great tribunal of the American people, therefore, we favor the proposed initiative and referendum amendment to our state constitution, which will be submitted at the state-wide primary April 15, 1912, for party endorsement.

We endorse Robert M. La Follette as one of the greatest living statesmen and point with pride to his record of constructive statesmanship in Wisconsin and in the nation. Prior to the year 1906, Wisconsin was absolutely in the control of the system, mainly the railroads. Under the old caucus and convention methods, they had been able for years to control the nominations and elections in that state. It was openly declared and never controverted, that for twenty-five years no measure passed the legislature of Wisconsin without the approval of both sides they did not approve. The unrivaled record of Robert M. La Follette in Wisconsin's constructive and progressive legislation is best told by Theodore Roosevelt in these words: "The success of Wisconsin in dealing with the corporations within her borders, so as to bring them to justice and exact justice in return from them toward the public, has been signal and the nation should adopt progressive policy in substance akin to the progressive policy not merely formulated in theory, but actually put into actual practice with such striking success in Wisconsin."

The business having been disposed of speakers were in order and Governor Aldrich was called on. It was said he was called on only on condition he would not try to stampede the gathering for Roosevelt. He was cordially received and his address was literally applauded. He told how the republican legislature of 1907 had placed Nebraska in the front rank of progressive states by the legislation in had adopted.

Speeches followed by Ex-Mayor Don L. Love, Ex-Senator Sackett of Gage and Paul Clark of Lincoln. Walter L. Houser of Wisconsin, the general manager of the La Follette campaign, was the last speaker. He told about what La Follette had done and asserted the senator was in the fight to stay until the last roll was called in the convention, and incidentally reminded Nebraskans how Wisconsin had stood by Nebraska and given George L. Steuben ten votes for vice president four years ago. Mr. Houser in his speech did not say what he said in private conversation during the evening.

Realizing the tieup which had been made between the Roosevelt and La Follette forces he passed over Roosevelt in his speech. In private conversation he was not so particular for he spoke in decided condemnation not only of Roosevelt but of what he termed the influences that were back of the Roosevelt boom. It was plainly to be seen from his remarks that he thought the former president was trying to reap where the Wisconsin senator had sown.

Intervention story denied. (Continued from First Page.) that the United States will be forced ultimately to interfere in that country. The Boersen Zeitung, in commenting on the subject, says: "Better a peaceful Mexico under the United States than one devastated by rebels." The Post declares that it would be shameful for Germany to leave the United States to exact punishment for the murder of a German and demand the immediate dispatch of the steamship cruiser Bremen to Mexico to take action. According to recent reports Hans Anglemann, a German subject, was assassinated recently in the state of Vera Cruz by Mexican bandits.

The key to success in business is the judicious and persistent use of newspaper returns.

BIGGER LOAVES PREDICTED

Master Bakers of Iowa Expect to Increase Their Size.

SURPLUS OF WHEAT CAUSE

George Corner Placed on Trial at Des Moines for Manslaughter in Jolting Two Men to Death in Auto.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Feb. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—The convention of master bakers today was lightly attended because of the inability of some members to get here. President Mulgrew of Dubuque read the annual address and a business meeting was held.

The convention held a banquet this evening. The sessions were devoted almost entirely to matters of interest only to bakers. It is planned that J. Schouten of eKokuk will be the next president. The bakers predict cheaper flour for the coming season because of a surplus of wheat and say they will increase the size of the loaves.

Corner Put on Trial. George Corner was put on trial in district court today for manslaughter because of the death of two men last October. It is admitted the killing was accidental. Corner was driving an automobile rather roughly when it was found that two men riding in the rear seat had been so badly jolted that they were dead.

Primary Election. Republicans of this city and county will hold a primary election February 23 for election of delegates to the republican county convention March 2, when delegates to state and district conventions will be named. Polls will be kept open in the afternoon and evening for the primaries.

Better Hotel Laws. A complete revision of a five state laws regulating sanitary conditions, construction, fire protection and other features, will be asked by the Iowa association of travelers during the next general assembly. The association now is inaugurating a campaign to create an agitation for better hotels and to secure the passage of a law that will provide for better hotel regulations.

Prof. R. K. Bliss Will Succeed Prof. Holden. AMES, Ia., Feb. 12.—(Special.)—Prof. R. K.
