

THE only harmful effect of alcohol is in its abuse. In proper, moderate amounts, it is one of the greatest aids to health known to mankind.

No other agent known to science is so valuable in promoting good digestion and consequent good health as pure alcohol.

It is only in large amounts, combined with tannic acid and fusel oil, that it is injurious.

In moderate amounts before meals and in pure form it is invaluable in countless human ailments.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is nothing but whiskey containing alcohol in the purest, possible form, free from adulterants. It is so good a whiskey that it can be used even in the severest cases of illness.

But the human being who uses alcohol in "abusive" amounts should leave it alone entirely.

GRAVING MAKES MAN SLAVE

Bishop Scannell Issues His Lenten Pastoral from California.

WE ARE NO WORSE THAN OTHERS

Bishop Says that Too Much Worldliness is a Bar to Perfection, for Man Craves Too Much for Wealth.

"Excessive worldliness is one of the greatest obstacles in the way of Christian perfection," says Bishop Scannell in his Lenten pastoral, "and by worldliness I mean inordinate, unreasonable and purposeless craving after wealth, sensible pleasures and the pomp and show of this world. And daily experience shows us that this craving, unless it be restrained and regulated by that reason which is illumined faith, can obtain a complete mastery over the mind and heart of man, and make him the drudge and slave of his avarice or other appetites. Now it cannot be maintained, with any show of reason, that we Americans are less influenced by this worldly spirit than are other people. Indeed travelers, who visit us, are struck by our restlessness, our nervous activity and our feverish pursuit of temporal things. Our immediate purpose is to make money, but what the ultimate purpose is no one can tell, least of all, ourselves. In fact, we have not time to think about it ourselves; we are so occupied with our present pursuits that we cannot think of ultimate ends. Nor is it necessary to suppose that in this respect we are worse than other peoples. The worldly spirit is today world-wide, though it is more in evidence among those whose religious faith has grown weak. What, then, is the matter with mankind? What is the matter with ourselves? The matter with too many of us is that we do not ask ourselves certain questions which should be asked and which demand reasonable answers. These questions are: How came I into this world? What is my proper work while here? What is my ultimate destiny?"

All May Abstain.
 "But there is one kind of abstinence which is within the reach of all, namely, abstinence from those occupations and amusements that are not in harmony with the spirit of the season, such as plays, dances and formal dinners. The spectacle of men and women, who are supposed to be, just then, meditating on the last things and are doing penance for their sins, decked out in all their finery and enjoying a play, perhaps of doubtful propriety, is enough to make the judicious grieve and the angels weep."

"If parents show themselves worldly, or too fond of pleasure, of ostentation, or too much inclined to be neglectful of religious obligations, the chances are that the children will not be free from these vices. Over-indulgent parents also have much to answer for. Through a want of Christian firmness they allow their children to grow up disobedient and unruly, and it seldom happens that the headstrong and unruly children become good and orderly men and women.
 "Another unfortunate mistake of over-indulgent parents is the giving of too much pocket money to their children. Children can have no use for money, except as a means to gratify their appetites. But when they have money gain the mastery over them, and then money they must have, lawfully or unlawfully. Children so brought up go into the world destitute of that most necessary of all habits, the habit of self-restraint; and without self-restraint they go into the world to meet with inevitable disaster."
 "Another class of parents will boast that their children are perfectly able to take care of themselves, and accordingly they let them choose their own companions and stroll about, by day or night, wherever their fancy takes them. It would be entirely useless to expostulate with that class of persons, for they have neither a well instructed conscience nor good common sense."

Student's Oration Arouses Pastors

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Feb. 15.—(Special.)—A rather acute religious controversy has arisen in this city as a result of the oration of Mr. Sorenson, the student representing the Grand Island college, the Baptist denominational school of the state, in the state oratorical contest held here Friday night. In the course of his oration Mr. Sorenson proclaimed that: "We offer up our prayers before the shrine of time-honored falsehoods."
 "But we are beginning to see that the essence of the religious life is the science of the duty of man to man, and not a fantastical belief in a supernatural and mythological scheme of heavenly things. True religion needs no supernatural equipment. The mission of true religion is not to give a system of theology nor a doctrine about gods, but to proclaim the union of all men in the bonds of an ideal brotherhood."
 Several of the pastors of other churches gave public disapproval and deprecated the fact that a student representing a Christian college should be permitted to voice such sentiment while representing the college, as a preliminary to their sermons and at the meeting of the ministerial union it was the topic of a lively discussion this morning. Operator at Crawford Rouses Ire of the Elks ALLIANCE, Neb., Feb. 15.—(Special.)—A car load of elk went through Alliance this morning on the Burlington. They were being taken from the Jackson Hole country to the Black Hills country. An amusing feature of this was that the operator at Crawford understood that there was a special car of Elks going west on the train and he telephoned the secretary of the Elks club at that place and got to be outdone in politeness, the Elks club turned out en masse with their brass band to do honor to their brothers in transit. The operator who conveyed the information left Crawford on the first train.

 The key to success in business is the judicious and persistent use of newspaper advertising.

Another Hitch Bobs Up in Marble Deal for New Court House

Refusal of the Board of County Commissioners to deviate from the marble specifications for the new county building is the cause of the delay of shipments by the Colorado Yule Marble company, according to a telegram from the company, received by the board and John Latenser, county building architect.
 The telegram explains that the company has only a limited supply of the dark marked marble specified, but if the board will accept marble with lighter markings the company will ship three carloads a week, as it promised.
 The board sent word it wants the specified marble. At the time three carloads a week were promised no conditions were made.
 The board has received no reply from Caldwell & Drake, county building general contractors, or their bondsman in reply to its ultimatum that it will take the work away from the general contractors if they do not get to work in earnest within thirty days.

Many Settlers Seek Lands in the West

Yesterday was the second date this year when western homeseekers' rates have been in effect and the movement of men who are hearing the cry, "Back to the land," is louder than ever.
 All of the trains from the east came heavily loaded with men seeking cheap land. Most of them went out during the day, a large number being ticketed to western and northwestern Nebraska points. There were many going to the cheap land along the south line of South Dakota and a goodly number to the Big Horn Basin country of Wyoming and that portion of the state lying to the south. There was something of a crowd moving toward Arkansas and Texas, but nowhere near as many as two weeks ago.
 Early homeseekers say that this year the trend of immigration is going to be into western Nebraska, Wyoming, South Dakota and eastern Colorado.

Many Paving Jobs to Be Let This Year

Three large paving jobs and twelve to fourteen smaller ones will be let this year. Petitions for the paving of Leavenworth street from Sixteenth to Twenty-ninth have been filed, both by brick companies. Seward street will be paved from Twenty-fifth to Thirty-sixth street, although the kind of material has not been selected. Twenty-fourth street from Fort to Miller park entrance will be the last of the three large districts paved. City Engineer Craig says the area to be paved this year will be less than in 1911.

M'SHANE ROUNDUP NETS NEAT SUM IN FINES PAID

The two raids made by the sheriff Monday night netted the city $165 in police court yesterday morning. Amy Douglas, who was at 186 Jackson, was fined $5 and costs, and the twelve inmates' fines amounted to $119. Laura Burns, who was charged with running a disorderly house at 129 Jackson street, was fined $5 and costs, and Belle Doty, an inmate, was fined $1 and costs. Judge Foster said he would put the former case before County Attorney English and see if the place could not be raided and the inmates charged with violating the Albers law.

Rheumatic Pains

are quickly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment. It's very penetrating, goes straight to the sore spot.

HERE'S PROOF
 Miss ELLEN MATHREY, 6229 Talman Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "About two years ago my mother broke down with rheumatism. The doctors didn't do any good. My mother was persuaded to try Sloan's Liniment, and in three weeks was entirely well—and I believe she is cured forever."
 Mrs. A. WEDMAN, of 488 E. Thompson St., Maryville, Mo., writes: "The nerve in my leg was destroyed five years ago, and left me with a jerking at night so that I could not sleep. A friend told me to try your liniment and now I could not do without it. I find after its use I can go to sleep."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is an excellent remedy for sprains, bruises, sore throat, asthma, neuralgia, lumbago, lame muscles and stiff joints.
 At all dealers. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00.
