Special Sale Women's Sample Tailored Suits

In New Styles for Spring That Are Absolutely Authentic—Monday and All This Week

This sample sale is an annual occasion, and it is the year's most important style and bargain event that comes in advance of the season. We have permanent arrangements with two of New York's greatest designers and makers of women's tailored suits, whereby we secure all their highest grade sample spring suits the last week in February. These are all the accepted new styles—the new season's extreme novelties.

These are all individual designs—one of a kind—and many will not be shown in regular lines. There are just 90 of them. All are samples, but they are in several sizes. You'll be delighted with them. We bought them a third less than regular value and the prices Monday will be far less than you would pay a month later.

INTEREST IN ART EXHIBIT

Organizers of the Society Feel Satisfied with the Results.

OPINION EXPRESSED BY VISITOR

Exhibition is to Be Held at the Public Library All This Week, Closing Next Sunday Night.

The attendance at the exhibition of modern American paintings, held by the Omaha Society of Fine Arts in the public library is said to be more than justifying all the labor and effort that the society has expended in bringing this collection of paintings to Omaha.

Visitors to the exhibition manifest the keenest interest and represent in every degree the citizens of the city. This movement is said to have a strong and pertinent significance and there is a feeling that something is being done that is of value.

The organizers of the society had a definite goal in view when it was formed, but having worked along so quietly, step by step it was unobserved. It has now arrived at that point where it is contended it should march forward victoriously, carrying with it the sympathy and cooperation of the people.

It is argued that the art interests of a city indicate its prosperity and have their commercial value. The city is growing rapidly and that its growth is said, needs regulation, and it is desirable and when necessary that art and utility should blend in its structural growth.

Everyone who has a sincere interest in the future development of Omaha and desires to feel a thrill of real encouragement will be interested in watching the exhibition given to the gallery, and in seeing masters of conversation and in overbearing comments on the various canvases.

"It is astonishing how much feeling and knowledge the casual visitor brings to the gallery; how quick he is to grasp the painter's mind and temperament or see reflected in the picture his own feelings or experience," said one of the exhibitors.

"One man, catching a glimpse of the Long Island farm house, and hear, 'I know that very house; I'm sure I've seen it.'"

"While one old man remarked to a companion, 'Ah, yes, I like to come and sit before the pictures; it always gives me pleasure. I don't know much about the way they do it, but I like them.'"

"If he had been a younger man one might have thought that here was the beginning of a connoisseur—for someone has divided the development of an art lover into four stages—he is first the dilettante liking art without dipping very deeply into the causes of his liking; he is next the collector, surrounding himself with objects of art, and as he comes more and more to understand these he becomes the connoisseur, with an educated taste and considerable power of discernment of the highest order, then he puts his opinion on record and receives the rank of an authority.

"America is still making inroads on the art treasures of the old world, though there is open rebellion against it, and goaded to action, some foreign countries have actually passed laws to prohibit the sale of valuable paintings to foreigners.

Producing Its Own Art. "America is producing its own art and manufacturing in it a strong, independent character. In other words while our art, like that of other countries, has been strongly influenced by foreign civilization, the alien influence no longer dominates it. To use the classic slang of the day, 'We have learned to express ourselves.' We need only to examine the pictures of this present exhibition to notice how many of the paintings are of American scenes. While nearly every artist has studied abroad and received honors there, he returns to his native land for inspiration. "While this exhibition, which merits all the attention it is receiving, continues open through the coming week, closing Sunday night, March 3, we are acquiring the habit of 'dropping in' and we shall miss these pictures when they are gone. It is hoped that some of them may be left permanently with us."

MAGNATES STOP IN OMAHA

Nephew of Standard Oil and Milwaukee President Are Guests.

BOTH ARE FULL OF OPTIMISM

Men Who Control Millions of Dollars in Railroad Stocks Visit with President Mohler and Take Lunch at Omaha Club.

Two men, controlling many millions of dollars in railroad stocks, sauntered up and down the Union station platform yesterday morning, as unnoticed as hundreds of other mere men who wearied carelessly about them. One was President Earling of the Milwaukee and the other Percy Rockefeller, nephew of Standard Oil. They came in Friday night, remained until yesterday morning, when they went to Kansas City over the Missouri Pacific.

Together with President Mohler of the Union Pacific, they were guests of Fred A. Nash, general western agent of the Milwaukee road, at the Omaha club Friday night.

Both denied that the trip to Omaha had any significance. Mr. Rockefeller happened to be in Chicago, and as President Earling was about to make a little run over the Milwaukee's main line from that city to Omaha, he came along as guest.

Speaks of Extensions. As to extension of the Milwaukee from Omaha to the northwest, connecting at some point with the Puget Sound line, President Earling said that nothing definite had been decided upon. Such a line, he added, would open a rich agricultural and stock country to the Milwaukee road, but predicted that until after the next presidential election there will not be a great amount of railroad building in any part of the country.

President Earling takes a hopeful view of the situation, expressing the opinion that it is much better, especially in the

Many Old Fiddlers to Enter the Contest

The Old Fiddlers' match to be held in the Young Men's Christian association Friday evening, at 8 p. m., has brought out many old fiddlers who have not for years been in the habit of playing in public. Some of them are quite different and hesitate to put themselves in the limelight, but with many of the old fiddlers alongside of them this embarrassment will wear away as soon as the program begins. The following have signified their intention of being there with their violins, most of which were made years and years ago: J. S. Sillcock, Fifty-third and Spaulding streets; Joseph C. Green, 124 Park avenue; J. T. Lyons, 209 North Twenty-fourth street; G. R. Rathbun, 221 Corby street; William Eastman, 96 Barker block; H. E. Gladwin, 223 North Forty-fifth street; Dr. A. E. Tarbox, 22 Brandeis building; Homer Bellville, Herman, Neb.; W. J. Mortenson, Springfield, Neb.; G. W. Armstrong, North Bend, Neb.; W. A. Duff, Council Bluffs, Ia.; William Balfour, Nebraska, Neb. Some of these were in the match last year and others of those who were in the match expected to identify their intention of entering again.

This match is open to the public free and no charge is made to the old fiddlers who enter. It is given solely for the pleasure of those who attend.

The key to success in business is the persistent and judicious use of newspaper advertising.

CHANCELLOR AVERY IS TO SPEAK AT Y.M.C.A. BANQUET

Chancellor Avery of the University of Nebraska will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the annual banquet of the students of the Young Men's Christian association night school held Wednesday, March 6, in the banquet room on the second floor of the Young Men's Christian association building.

Tickets for the banquet may be secured at the educational office or from representatives of the various classes. The theme of the program for the evening is education. Toasts will be responded to by students of the night school as follows: "Education and the Young Men's Christian association," by J. W. Miller; "Education and Advertising," by O. G. Franke; "Education and Salesmanship," by John Hays Kuhns; "Education and Business," by C. T. Walker; "Education and Expression," by R. L. Paterson; "The Advantages of an Education and How to Get It," by Chancellor Avery. Music for the evening will be furnished by an orchestra. One hundred and forty attended on a similar occasion last year, but with Chancellor Avery as a guest there should be at least 200 this year.

Cloudless Business Horizon

Mr. Rockefeller was unable to locate any clouds in the business sky, or at least that would not soon pass by. In many lines, he said, trade had been slack during the last few months, but the indications point to a general revival, especially in the manufacturing centers. "After traveling across Iowa," said he, "I understand why the 'back to the land' idea is taking such firm hold of our farmers of the east and why they are seeking homes in the west, where by industry and frugality they may soon become wealthy. While Iowa looks prosperous, I understand that the country for 50 miles west of Omaha has the same appearance and I believe it is soon to become the central portion of the great agricultural section of the world."

BURGLARS MAKE GOOD HAUL FROM JAP STORE

The Japanese store run by K. Lohkama at 128 Dodge street, was entered by burglars Friday night and articles amounting to over $200 in value were stolen. The burglars gained entrance to the place by breaking the window in a rear door. They stole a phonograph, eight boxes of Japanese lacquer ware and twenty-five Japanese necktie boxes.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature. BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Many Signatures to Taft Petitions

John Lee Webster of the Nebraska Taft league believes the electors of Nebraska will by a substantial majority declare their preference for WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT's nomination for a second term as president.

This opinion is based on the facts that 1,100 signatures have been secured by the Taft league in the state in a very short time. There are still fifty petitions to come and these are expected to raise the total number of signers to fully 1,500. Mr. Webster sent out the petitions for signatures. They are in the hands of well known Republicans in various parts of the state. Reports from those who are circulating them are to the effect that the Republicans of the state believe Mr. Taft ought to be nominated and elected for another term and will work diligently for that purpose.
