Bulk of offerings went into killing droven at figures right around 5c lower, cost of two or three early strings showing this decline. Yard estimate called for over 10,000 hogs, little butcher and bacon weights proving the general rule. The demand from all quarters had plenty of tone and volume, especially during the late market, and clearance was made in very good season. Shippers and speculators furnished very fair support throughout, buying about 10 per cent of the total supply. Heat heavy hors on sule brought $4.15, as compared with the same top yesterday, while bacon weights ranged from $1.50 downward. Butchers cleared largely at $2.600,00, quality and weight determining the brice. During the week receipts have been fairly illberal and very weil distributed, but the total still shows a hig decrease from last week's record rith. The demand on most days has been broad but rather quiet, prices ruling easier as the result of poor competition.
