Moving season is approaching

If you are thinking of moving, would it not be well to select an office building which is equal in every respect to the newest building and better in having developed an office building "service"—tried and never found wanting.

Janitor service, elevator service, repair service, engineering service and superintendence all take years to develop to give quick and courteous service to an army of inhabitants of an office building.

You will be well taken care of year after year if you select for your permanent office location

THE BEE BUILDING
