Young Baptist Pastor Takes Minister's Vows

Rev. J. E. Chrysalis, who has been serving for some time as pastor of the Memorial Baptist church, located at Avenue B and Twenty-second street, was ordained yesterday as a clergyman of the Baptist church. The services began in the afternoon and lasted throughout the evening. There were a number of visiting clergymen from adjoining towns, representing the Southwestern Iowa Baptist association, comprising more than twenty Baptist churches. Five Baptist clergymen were present from Omaha and South Omaha.

During the afternoon a council of the association of ministers met at the church and conducted the required disciplinary examination of the candidate. The formal ordination services took place at the church during the evening. Rev. Dr. E. R. Curry, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of Omaha, delivered the ordination charge and made the prayer of address. All of the members of the Council Bluffs Ministerial association had been invited to attend and nearly all were there. The church was crowded throughout the exercises and the visitors and members of the congregations and their friends.

Rev. Mr. Chrysalis has already built up a strong and growing church in the western part of the city. His work will continue along the same lines that has made it so successful in the past.

INFANT SAVED FROM DEATH

Foundling Discovered in Time to Prevent Child's Freezing.

MAYOR IS ITS FOSTER FATHER

Iowa Law Makes Executive's Consent Necessary to Adoption, Which Has Been Offered by Several Persons.

A kindly hearted young man returning from a dance prevented what would have been the cruel murder of a helpless little girl baby when he discovered it lying on the front porch of the home of Mrs. Sarah A. Wood, a widow, who conducts a boarding house at 1113 South Sixth street. The infant was wrapped only in a thin and ragged blanket and its face and upper part of its body were exposed to the nearly zero temperature. How long the little child had lain there is not known, but it had so nearly perished that it was necessary to take it to Mercy hospital yesterday morning for treatment and care.

Mrs. Wood, who has a family of three children, the eldest a son employed as a collector by the Arthur Slack Transfer company, and two girls aged 9 and 14, had been in Omaha in the early part of the evening. She and all members of the family had retired before 10 o'clock, and the infant was placed there some time after her return. The young man returning from a dance about midnight heard what he thought were the plaintive cries of a kitten. He stopped and listened, and traced the sounds as coming from the Wood residence. Investigating with the expectation of finding a freezing kitten, he discovered the little package—with its wee-bit of frail humanity. Picking up the baby in his arms he kicked vigorously on the door until he aroused Mrs. Wood. The little was taken inside and everything that the motherly heart of Mrs. Wood could do to relieve its distress was done at once. An hour later she notified the police, and early yesterday morning Mayor Mahoney, City Physician Tuley and a nurse from the hospital came to give the little creature the best possible professional care. An examination convinced the physician that its life could only be preserved by hospital treatment and the little stranger was turned over to the care of the sisters at Mercy.

The infant is apparently five or six weeks old, and appears to have been sadly neglected as well as insufficiently nourished. No clue whatever had been secured yesterday to indicate identity of the parents or explain its abandonment, but it is evident that dire poverty was the influence that overcame the mother-love of the woman who gave it up.

The little girl will be kept at the hospital until a good home is found for her. There have been several offers of adoption, and it undoubtedly will find a good home. Under one section of the Iowa law Mayor Mahoney becomes its foster-father and must give his consent to its adoption.

Candidates Must File Statements of Expenses

Trouble is in sight for successful as well as defeated candidates unless they get a handle on themselves and comply with the amended state primary and election laws, which require a definite and complete statement of all expenses incurred in the city campaign for nominations that was concluded on Monday.

The law requires that every candidate who filed for any of the various contests must within ten days after the election furnish the county auditor a full itemized list of all his expenses. Failure to do this incurs liability of a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 or a jail sentence of not less than thirty days or more than six months.

Five sections of the code ending with section 1117 of the supplement prescribe the procedure which must be followed and state the penalties that must or may be inflicted for their violation, and the penalties are sufficiently heavy to offer a sharp incentive for compliance. Ignorance of the law cannot be pleaded as a notice should save a number of reputable Council Bluffs citizens who might otherwise get into undesired trouble.

So far only one candidate has filed the required statement. He is A. H. Huber, defeated democratic candidate for alderman from the First ward. He filed his expense account with County Auditor Hannan yesterday. It totaled just $6.75 and the statement duly sworn to, shows that all of the money was spent for cards and advertising. The ten-day period expires next Friday.

Nebraska Woman Travels in Dress That is Convenient

Because Mrs. Effie Prayner of Lincoln, Neb., chose to wear some portions of male attire that fitted her well and which she felt would add to her comfort while making the long journey to Idaho in charge of a carload of household goods to be used by herself and husband in founding their new home in the mountain state, she was arrested by Council Bluffs policemen on the mistaken charge that she was seeking to impersonate a man. The arrest was made by Detective Callaghan, who observed Mrs. Prayner on a Fifth avenue car yesterday afternoon. She had on her neat womanly looking shoes and stockings which were showing conspicuously beneath the blue denim overalls she wore. A man's sweater was not concealed by the comfortable overcoat she wore, left behind by her husband when he went to Idaho to pioneer the new home, and a man's cap did not all conceal her long hair, her tasteful coiffure sustained by unmistakable hairpins and sidecombs which her cap held firmly in place.

At the police station Mrs. Prayner showed her credentials and told her story without hesitancy. She said she had to ride in freight car cabooses and look after the stock in the car, necessitating frequent climbing into and out of high car doors. With American independence Mrs. Prayner said she dressed herself in the way that made it possible for her to do her work in the most comfortable and efficient manner. She said she was 42 years old and was the mother of two healthy children whom she would join in Idaho. Her man's attire was so skillfully worn and so well adjusted that she fitted as two Council Bluffs restaurants during the day without exciting alarm. She was detained at the station only a few moments and returned to the Union Pacific transfer, where her car of household treasures was being made up into an overland freight train.

Bluffs Man's Brother Has Wonderful Escape

Clarence H. Hough, captain of No. 4 fire company, received copies of the Lawton, Okl., papers yesterday containing accounts of a serious accident and narrow escape from instant death sustained by his brother, Cliff Hough. He was riding in an automobile in the outskirts of the town in company with a doctor, and while travelling at a good speed one of the tires burst. According to the newspaper accounts, secured from spectators, the car turned a complete somersault, landing right side up far away from the point occupied when the explosion came. No part of the machine was hurt at all but the top, which raked the ground as it flopped over.

Mr. Hough and his companion were both thrown out and knocked senseless, and injured to such an extent that they required hospital treatment. The doctor left the hospital soon after and Mr. Hough was stated to be due for discharge tomorrow. The behavior of the machine, jumping the top in the air, is described as being the most remarkable feat reported in Oklahoma automobile accidents. If the heavy car had not fully completed its turnover both men would perhaps have been killed by being crushed under it, as both dropped out when the car turned bottom side up and were left lying in the air. When the car came down on its wheels it was headed in exactly the opposite direction from which it had been travelling. The bar to prosecution, and this friendly power had in some manner been shut off or the machine would have run over the prostrate men.

of the head camp being strong in this tributary organization. The last fight is slated for tonight. There will be no conflict nor disagreement between state-wide meetings called by the Modern Woodmen assembly of Nebraska, said Mr. Bernstein. "It simply shows the widespread dissatisfaction with the rates adopted at Chicago and the enthusiasm of Nebraska Woodmen in opposing that action at the earliest possible date. The Nebraska Modern Woodmen of America assembly, with headquarters at Omaha, directly representing some 5,000 or 7,000 Woodmen and with enthusiastic and encouraging letters from some 2,000 more, perfected arrangements and sent out the call for a meeting at Columbus because that place seemed to have the preference in replies received from many camps. The Woodmen of Nebraska are too much in earnest to be caught but harmonious in all matters pertaining to what to them is a sacred trust. "These at the Hastings meeting deserve great credit for their enterprise, no less than for their quickness in responding to the call for the fray. I anticipate no difficulty in a speedy and harmonious understanding with them." If you have anything to exchange advertise it in The Bee Want Ad column.
