Desperate Desmond

With the Aid of a Black Marble and a Little Diplomacy Our Hero Gains Freedom

By Hershfield

I.—THROUGH THE BARS.

Desmond, having Claude in his power again, has planned a terrible revenge for the hero's efforts to escape. He forces the brave white man through the bars into the cell, where the most notorious highbinders of the Chinese republic are confined. These are men without mercy, and Desmond is confident that they will do away with Claude in a few minutes.

II.—AMONG THE HIGHBINDERS.

Through the high cell windows goes Claude and lands right among the desperate highbinders. The villains are even now plotting the death of an enemy and are about to draw lots to decide who shall be the assassin. In this foul plot Claude pretends to join, for the person drawing the black ball is to have a jailer's suit and he helped to escape from prison.

III.—BOYS AT PLAY.

Outside the prison two little Chinese boys are playing in the spring sunshine. They are all unconscious of the crime and misery hidden within the grim walls beside which they pursue their innocent games. Just now the two boys are engaged in a friendly contest to decide which of them can bounce a marble highest. A pretty child picture.

IV.—A LUCKY CHANCE.

To Claude's surprise a black marble suddenly shoots through the window of the cell. It is the one that bounced highest of the two, and its child owner outside has lost his property. His grief, however, is more than balanced by Claude's joy, for with this marble in his hand he will trick the highbinders into believing that his is the one chosen to go out.

V.—IN DISGUISE.

Having been given a complete suit of jailer's clothes by the highbinders, the heroic Claude is helped to make his escape from the cell, and though Desmond is on guard his keen eyes do not penetrate the disguise. So Claude walks right past his enemy and hastens to freedom and Rosamond. In the meantime Desmond is dreaming of Claude's doom.

VI.—REUNITED.

"Rosamond!" At last the hero lover Claude is reunited with his sweetheart, the brave girl who tries to carry the governor's pardon to him while he is in the Chinese prison. But Desmond is still alive and the lovers must hasten to escape or he will have both in his power. In tomorrow's picture we shall see the chase.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES.

ROUDEBAUGH—Mrs. Henrietta, beloved wife of John, March 4.
Funeral held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from residence, 602 North Seventeenth street. Interment, Forest Lawn.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us in our late bereavement of our beloved husband and father.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon his love had given,
And though the body slumbers now
His soul is safe in heaven.
Mrs. G. O. Lindstrom, Lydia Landstrom, Anna Lindstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Fjellin and family.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy, also for the beautifull floral offerings at the death of our beloved wife and mother. Louis Hohanson and Children.
